DON'T GUESS

A Real Estate Information Service is as necessary in a Real Estate Broker's office as the ticker in the office of a Stock Broker.

A personally maintained Service is inefficient and inordinately Expensive compared with a Big Central Co-operative Service. The Biggest Service is the best, because the advantages of Co-operation are centered there on the biggest Scale.

The RECORD & GUIDE to-day supplies thousands of Brokers and others with information—has been doing so for a generation. Its own records cover the history of ALL transactions of every kind in New York for forty years, and in addition to these it has a COMPLETE PLANT that includes the previous period.

Obviously, the RECORD & GUIDE possesses FULL information covering ALL particulars concerning real estate. Other systems are necessarily either partial or mere second-hand abstracts of the records which the RECORD & GUIDE has been gathering and publishing in the course of its forty years' history.

If you need Real Estate Information don't guess. Don't use personal Systems. Don't use partial Systems. Don't use temporary Systems that must be fragmentary and Second-hand. Don't use Systems built for the use of a Few, and that offer you scarcely any of the advantages of co-operation.

USE

THE RECORD & GUIDE BUREAU OF REAL ESTATE INFORMATION. The oldest, the largest, the most permanent, the best equipped—a Service that can serve you TO-DAY and TO-MORROW on a progressive plan.

THERE is not a great deal of importance to be said about the financial markets of the week. They are dull all the world over, swaying idly to and fro, the reasons for an advance outnumbering all arguments for a decline, and sporadic advances continuing. Pacific coast stock sold this week at the highest price in its history and many shares are higher than before the San Francisco fire. But the market as a whole drags and it is doubtful if an entirely new enterprise could be financed in any money market of the world. This is owing to the combined effect of labor troubles, corporation baiting and the unmistakable popular unrest with its Socialistic proclivities. Let the most attractive imaginable proposition for a new railroad be brought to the bankers of the world to-day and they would laugh at it. The fact is that the existing railways are selling for much under their value, whether measured by earnings or cost of reproduction, and until their market price more nearly squares with their intrinsic value as improved real estate with big earning power, naturally schemes to buy rights of way and terminals, and to build new railways thereon must languish. It must be said, however, that this state of affairs prevents paralleling such as prevailed twenty-five years ago and leaves the existing railways legatees of the full growth of the country in their respective territories. Later this immunity from competition will find reflection in higher prices than ever before, for good railroad stocks. That reason among others influences these remarks, in the belief that low-priced railroad shares of solvent, growing companies constitute the cheapest form of investment in real estate; and already such shares are creeping up in this dull market. The share issues of the following companies, all of them selling at a low price, have advanced in the past month from five to eight points each, and what is more impressive is that they hold the advance. They are: Atchison, Chesapeake and Ohio, Big Four, Colorado Southern, the Eries, Kansas City Southern, Missouri Pacific, Peoria & Eastern, Wabash and Wisconsin Central. Money continues easy, as was here predicted several weeks ago. A flurry, however, about the first of July would not be surprising, but it does not seem that anything else in the way of stiff rates is in sight. Nevertheless, for new enterprises, or any proposition to lock up money, that commodity is and probably will be hard to obtain until at least after the elections in the autumn, and it is seen what the public temper is on the subjects that have been under discussion since the last presidential election.

WITH the rate of interest continuously higher in the United States than in European countries, it would be no great cause of surprise if European lenders found greater advantage in making loans, on good security, to American corporations than to those at home. The most solvent and substantial European investment besides paying a lesser rate of interest for the money invested have usually a much smaller vista of prospective profit than those of the United States. And there is another reason for the foreign partiality shown for American securities. Practically since the holding of the Peace Conference at The Hague there has been in progress some international war. The Spanish-American war began the circle, the Boer-

English war in South Africa followed and the Russian-Japanese war completed it. In each of these contests there was one European nation engaged and to furnish the requirements of these contests, Spain borrowed from France, and England and Russia borrowed from France and Germany. England placed large loans at home during the progress of the Boer war and furnished, with Germany, much of the money for the successive Japanese loans during the progress of the war in the far East. With the practical cessation of hostilities everywhere, large sums of money in Europe, heretofore available for the requirements of national loans or invested in operations directly or indirectly connected with the prosecution of foreign wars, arms and ammunition, food supplies, clothing and steel for ships, are released, and this large surplus of money, always accumulating in Europe, can be used to the best advantage, at present, in the United States. Therefore, the placing of loans for American securities abroad is responsive to conditions which are easily explained and as easily understood.

THE HOTEL DISTRICT of New York city has always been fixed by the landing places within the city, and originally the hotels of New York—hotels in their day, taverns in this day—were in the neighborhood of the Battery. As the city grew and incoming passengers landed at ferries on the east and west sides, the hotels were located along the line of Broadway, and they have continued to be on Broadway since. The terminal changes now under way in this city, the construction of the Pennsylvania tunnel, the improvement of the Grand Central approaches and the connection at Forty-second street and Park avenue with the Long Island Railroad, make it definitely certain that the future hotel district of New York will be between Thirty-first street and Seventh avenue, the Pennsylvania terminal, and Forty-second street and Park avenue, the New York Central terminal, and will further include the territory to be reached by car lines converging at either of these points. Already two mammoth hotels, the Manhattan and the Belmont, practically front the Grand Central. The neighborhood of the Pennsylvania is already served by the Navarre, the York, the Breslin, the Gilsey, the Grand, the Herald Square, the Seville, and the Imperial. With the completion of the Pennsylvania terminal, hotels especially convenient for it will, no doubt, be added, and the permanence of New York's "hotel district" is thus likely to be fixed for many years to come. The character of permanence will enable the projectors of such enterprises to build them on a scale of stability not prudent while there was uncertainty as to the retention of profitable patronage in the neighborhood.

IN a bulletin issued recently from Washington by the Department of Commerce and Labor, municipal ownership in Great Britain is exhaustively considered by Frederic C. Howe, Ph. D. Critics call municipal ownership in that country municipal socialism—but whatever its ultimate significance may be, Dr. Howe does not think it socialistic in intent. In its beginnings municipal ownership was not even an outgrowth of the labor movement; it came rather from the mercantile or commercial classes. The report is based on a study of the leading cities in England, Scotland and Ireland during last year. The official investigation was conducted by personal inquiry and conference with officials and citizens of the cities in question. Thus far the movement has had with it the large element known in Great Britain as the middle class. From it the majority of the town councils are made up. It is claimed that in the British Isles that municipal ownership stands for improved service, for business thrift, for the relief of the taxpayer from the burdens of taxation and for increased revenue for the community. An analysis of public electric "tramway" accounts of various cities in Great Britain and Ireland shows that Glasgow in 1903-04 with a population of a million carried one hundred and eighty-nine millions of passengers over seventy-one miles of track and showed a surplus of $1,256,000. Manchester with a population of 750,000 carried 121,000,000 passengers during the year over eighty miles of track, the surplus over and above all expenses amounting to $583,000 of which amount $244,000 was a contribution to the relief of taxation. Liverpool's surplus was $469,000 of which about $253,000, went to lessen taxation. Where there was a deficit it was generally trifling except in the cases of Oldham and Brighton where the losses respectively were $24,000 and $38,000. The gas supply of Birmingham, England, was acquired in 1875 by purchase from private companies. It is one of the best public gas undertakings in the United Kingdom. The charge is low and ranges from 45 cents to 61 cents per thousand cubic feet according to the consumption. For public lighting a charge of 24 cents per thousand cubic feet is made. The average net price which the city receives from all classes is 52 cents per thousand. In considering this question of municipal ownership as it works abroad it must not be forgotten that conditions in this country are different and its immediate adoption here is not probable.

Dock Regulations Complained Of.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

The conditions which confront the sand and material dealers in the City of New York to-day are such that a brief statement of facts to a publication devoted to the interests of the building trades may perhaps bring about a change for the better; and failing in that, we shall at least enlighten the builders with whom the members of this association do business as to the reasons why we have been, or may be, unable to give them the prompt service they have received in the past.

To be brief, let me state the conditions that have existed in this city regarding the privileges extended by the Department of Docks to contractors for the purpose of unloading building material for consumption throughout this city. For some years past it has been the practice of the Dock Department to lease to contractors berths on various bulkheads throughout the city, where it would not interfere in any way with shipping, for the purpose of unloading sand, gravel, broken stone, etc. All of this, with much similar material, is brought into the city by means of our waterways. These berths have been invariably situated on the bulkheads between piers, and have been leased at the rate of $300 per year for an area of 50x100 ft. So long as the lessee confined himself to the space allotted to him it was his privilege to keep there such material as his business with the consumers required, and he was always in a position to have sufficient on hand to fulfil the contracts assumed by him.

On the first of June all leases so held were abrogated, and the new rules for such work were announced, which are as follows: For each scow load of sand which is to be put ashore an application must be made to the dock master, accompanied by a fee of $10, and in addition thereto the sum of $1 per day is to be paid for every day that the boat load of material or any part thereof shall remain on the bulkhead. No permission shall be granted to land another load of material until the previous load shall have been entirely removed, and no boat load of broken stone may be unloaded while a load of sand or part thereof is on the bulkhead, or visa versa.

It will be seen at a glance that, in addition to an advance in rental of from $10 to $300 per month, these rules practically cripple this branch of the building industry, as it is a physical impossibility for any contractor to keep on hand a sufficient quantity of material to supply any ordinary building operation, to say nothing of the gigantic operations that are dependent upon them.

We do not doubt that the Commissioner of Docks has taken this step with the best intentions possible, but we believe that he has seriously injured an industry of this city, and that this is bound to create havoc among contractors, or builders, who are not fortunate enough to own or control private property along the water front.

It is true, perhaps, that in some instances the privileges of the leasehold under former rules may have been abused, and that the great majority are suffering for the wrongdoing of a comparatively small number. This, I believe, could be easily overcome by a distinct understanding that these bulkheads should be used for the purpose of the temporary storing of material delivered by boat.

One thing is clear, the spaces that were previously used for the docking and temporary storage of building material are still being used for the same purpose, but the difference in the conditions under which this permission is given is so great that it is bound to be a hardship to many in the discharge of their business.

Perhaps it has been thought that the rental received for this privilege was not sufficiently large, and that by the present means it will be increased. If such is the case, I think it would have been better to have reasonably increased the rentals under previous conditions, and I do not think that anyone holding such a lease would object to a moderate increase. The present rental is exorbitant, and the present rules governing conditions are well high intolerable.

Personal.

John Bailey McElfatrick, architect, died suddenly at his offices, 1402 Broadway, on Tuesday last, from heart failure, following pneumonia, in the 77th year of his age. Mr. McElfatrick was in active business with his son up to the time of his death. He was the leading American architect in theater construction of to-day, and was invariably consulted by other architects in this particular line. Sixteen of Manhattan's theaters, nine of Brooklyn's, five of Philadelphia's, five of Louisville's, and theaters in scores of other cities were designed by him. William H. McElfatrick, his son, will continue the business.

To Relieve the Bridge Crush.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

As there is at present so much agitation about relieving the crowded conditions at both the Brooklyn and Williamsburgh bridges, and, as I have had much experience in and given much thought to this matter, I would like, through your paper, to give your readers a clear understanding about it.

More than four years ago I presented plans for relief to the Bridge Department, offering them merely as a suggestion of how to remedy the barbarous conditions at the Brooklyn Bridge, which are caused by the two faulty systems—the tail switch system for the elevated and the loop system for the trolley.

The two former Bridge Commissioners entirely ignored the plan, as it interfered with plans of their own. The present Commissioner, Hon. Jas. W. Stevenson, has, of his own accord, investigated those plans and has publicly announced that he has instructed his engineers to prepare plans for relief, on a line with what has been proposed by me for more than four years. If the former Commissioners had been of the same frame of mind as the present Bridge Commissioner, the crush would have been ended long ago.

For years the public has been led to believe that the problem of planning terminals and stations in connection with the bridges is a difficult one, hard to solve, and that it would take a long time and cost many millions of dollars. This is a mistake. On the contrary, it is all a very simple problem, and as it is such a very important matter to the city I will, by explanation and diagram, show how simple it is, and I think I will be able to do it in such a way that it will be understood by your readers.

It is not a bridge problem at all, but is a railroad problem, and not a difficult one at that, because all that is wanted is to plan terminals and way stations so as to get the best results. I have made some typical plans, not for anywhere particular, but merely to show how to overcome difficulties which will arise in relieving the present conditions.

One of the difficulties is that the Brooklyn and the Manhattan elevated services are operated by two different companies, who might not agree to run their trains over each other's tracks. This can be overcome with a plan like "A"; tracks 1 and 3 will be for the Manhattan service, and tracks 2 and 4 for the Brooklyn service. The Brooklyn passengers, on coming to New York, will merely have to step off a car, cross a platform and board a train of the Manhattan service, and vice versa; and at any time when the two companies can come to an agreement, whereby the one can use the tracks of the other, there will be no practical difficulty in the way of through service. The station here shown will be only a way and transfer station, and, underneath this station, or anywhere on the line, there can be a terminal as shown on "B," where the Brooklyn elevated trains come to the surface to unload and load. In addition to this, connection can be made with the subway as shown by tracks "C."

The trolley cars use the same platforms as the elevated, and, as they will unload and load from the side opposite to that used in Brooklyn, the passengers can step from the cars to a platform the same as they do from the elevated, and thus avoid the high step. The cars will stop at a platform on the north side to unload, then go empty on the elevated loop to the south side to be loaded, and the passengers will not have to cross any tracks.

With a plan like this, through elevated passengers coming from Brooklyn to Manhattan, or vice versa, after they are once on the elevated service, need not climb any stairs, or walk any distance, in changing from one service to the other, and they will be entirely out of the way of the terminal passengers, who will land on the ground floor in Manhattan. There will be no climbing of stairs, and no changing of cars in the Brooklyn terminal in order to climb stairs and wait and scramble into a train a second time, as ALL Brooklyn trains will come direct to the Borough of Manhattan. It will then be possible, by entering a train in either borough, for passengers to go from one bridge to another by merely changing cars and crossing a platform; so, in case of delay on one bridge, the traffic can immediately be shunted to another bridge. In addition to this, if the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Co. would like to come over one bridge and go back over another, it can easily be accomplished without building an additional road.

It is supposed that during the rush hours both the Brooklyn and the Manhattan elevated services are worked to about their full capacity; this is a fact as far as the station facilities are concerned, but not the track facilities. Plan "D" shows how the traffic can be doubled; that is, the Brooklyn trains can be run on the Manhattan elevated track without interfering with the Manhattan service. This diagram shows the stations as they are on the Bowery; if sidings were put at these stations with a platform built between them, and these were used for the Brooklyn elevated service, then the Manhattan trains could come as they do now, stop at their platform and be followed by a Brooklyn train which would stop at its platform; when the Manhattan train leaves it will be followed by the Brooklyn train; neither train will have interfered with the other, and the service will have been doubled; and, as the Brooklyn service will use only three of the Manhattan stations, it becomes a simple matter for the Brooklyn trains to come over the bridge and return on another.

Rapid Transit Extensions; Effect on Real Estate Values

By WILLIAM E. HARMON

WHAT will be the actual effect on suburban real estate in and about New York City following from the completing and operating of the new or improved transit lines now projected? In making distant places more accessible, and land tracts therein more valuable, to what extent will this multiplication of building sites affect values now established in the older sections of the city? Seeing all the ways there will soon be of getting rapidly into the Jerseys, to all parts of Long Island and Westchester County, up the Sound and up the Hudson, the question is being seriously asked in both Brooklyn and the Bronx, and always is inspired by some thought that there may be a setback for real estate in the thickly settled parts of those boroughs.

A request for a summary of the probable effect that the development of transportation will have on real estate in and about the city, in his opinion, was made to Mr. W. E. Harmon, of Wood, Harmon & Co., 256 Broadway, one of the most experienced men in such matters, and he replied as follows:

There is great need for sound counsel in the midst of this present wild speculative movement in real estate, which is sweeping people off their feet, tossing reason to the winds and foreshadowing disaster, not only to the unworthy, but to the worthy; not only to the investor in real estate of questionable character, but to the buyer of that which is really good.

In order to treat the question properly, it will be necessary to go back to certain fundamentals regarding real property. When land ceases to be agricultural by reason of its proximity to cities, it immediately becomes a liability, not an asset, and remains so until its productivity is established by the construction of something having an earning capacity thereon.

It therefore must be apparent that land has only an anticipatory value in this period. This may either be greater or less. It is naturally in exact inverse ratio to the area of competitive land. As long as there is little of it, and an increasing and pressing demand, its values will be correspondingly high. When the supply exceeds the demand by reason of a widened area of availability owing to the construction of transportation systems, the value diminishes until it becomes nothing except the anticipatory value above stated.

To any person who has studied this question in a comprehensive way throughout cities of the country the rule will be admitted without argument, for history repeats itself, and there has been an opportunity of observing the workings of the law several times during the life of most of our interior and Western cities. The difficulty in New York City is that there is no history. Manhattan Island has been the only place in the world where a man could be three-quarters fool and still make money in land. The most important rules of realty investments have been disregarded, and yet the overwhelming growth of the Island of Manhattan, her limitations by water, have rescued countless reputations from the effect of illogical and unwise investments.

This unvaried experience in realty investments in New York City has begotten a confidence which is now expending itself in the wildest sort of speculation in the environs of New York City, not Manhattan, but in locations where land comes under exactly the same conditions as the land surrounding every other city of the country; namely, an area increasing as the square of the distance from every mile of transportation extension. The disappointment will be proportionately as much greater than that in any other city in the country, as has been the over-confidence.

I am a believer in real estate, and it is this belief and regard for that which is one of the most conservative and rational sources of wealth that makes me regret a movement, which, while started on facts, is ending in fancies of the wildest sort. There is probably nothing to be done except to advise those who come within the scope of our influence to study most carefully each problem of real estate investment, and to rely upon the most conservative counsel before venturing.

You ask a specific question, however, as to whether nearby values in Flatbush, old Brooklyn, Manhattan, Westchester and Hudson River values will be benefited by the present movement or the reverse.

Obviously anything which increases the area of land available for use increases the competition among its owners to supply the demand, which of itself is necessarily definitely limited, and in this degree lowers values.

Personally, I feel that the high prices in the Bronx which forces the construction of four or five story tenements must suffer by competition with Brooklyn and Queens County land equally distant, on which a two story building can be constructed with profit. This does not mean that Bronx values will go down to those of Brooklyn, or Brooklyn go up to those of the Bronx. Somewhere between is probably the figure at which both will find their levels.

Even these levels of value, however, will be depreciated by the competition further out. I give no thought whatever to the land lying beyond a fare in excess of ten cents; for while doubtless competitive in a slight degree, it can only be so among the higher salaried class, and this land will necessarily contain a population comparatively thin.

This is the history of all suburbs, of all cities. Rapid suburban transit means stations at a considerable distance apart, collections of homes in the vicinity of each station, and after a certain area has been covered, an extension in distance from the city rather than distance from the station. It is this class of land against which one cannot avoid sounding a note of warning, especially to the type of people whose earnings are comparatively small.

No one should buy a residential lot for investment, except under the most unusual conditions safeguarding his interests, and no one should purchase a lot to live upon at a greater distance or a higher rate of transportation than his income will warrant. Therefore, no matter how widely the speculative movement may go, the actual development of these outlying sections will never seriously come in competition with the development of lands within a zone of low priced transportation cost.

The area of land about New York City most to be benefited by the present development of transportation facilities is that within the five cent zone. At one time we made an investigation as to the economic value of a lot to the average family under five and ten cent transportation fares, and the saving at the lower rate of fare represented interest on about $1,500 per lot. That is to say, under equal conditions, a lot within a five cent fare is worth $1,500 more than a lot on a ten cent fare.

As we have been among the largest developers of so-called suburban property about New York, it might be urged that we have not observed the same laws regarding our Brooklyn lands as we apply to others. If I might be allowed, I should like to explain that Brooklyn presents one condition not existing in any other place I have ever known—namely, that outside of the built-up portion it is surrounded by water. This is an obvious complete limitation of area, with transportation lines already established only needing outlets into the large population of Manhattan Island. When once this land is covered it cannot be extended, and yet conditions will always attract an increasing population.

In fairness to the other suburbs which are actually in New York City a condition should be recognized not ordinarily considered. It is this: That places like Queens County, Kings County and Richmond, formerly separate and self-supporting places, now draw from the coffers of Manhattan an expenditure of moneys equal from two to four times their actual contribution in taxes. It is as if the inhabitants of a city or community paid taxes at the rate of $1.50 per $100, and received an income from three to six dollars per $100. This condition must always give the land in Greater New York greater advantages than land lying outside.

If I were to make a general summary regarding the situation about New York it would be as follows: That there is, comparatively speaking, no dangerous investments except those offered at a considerable distance from the city, but that no real estate should be purchased except that which will yield to-day, if improved by a structure suited to its needs, a satisfactory net income on the actual cost.

We have found in twenty years' experience in the boom cities in the West and the conservative ones in the East, that the danger point is reached when real estate is sold at a price where something has to be left to the future to give it an earning power. This is the law which has invariably governed our purchases, and cannot be disregarded with safety.

W. E. HARMON.

New Rule for Auctioneers.

The Real Estate Auctioneers' Association of Manhattan has adopted a change in its by-laws requiring members to charge not less than one-half of one per cent. on all voluntary sales, against one-quarter, the rate formerly generally prevailing, and also forbidding auctioneers to divide their commissions with any one but recognized real estate brokers,

New Jersey Real Estate.

EXPECTS TO GET ALL-RAIL COMMUNICATION BEFORE QUEENS BOROUGH — FIFTEEN MINUTES FROM NEWARK TO CORTLANDT STREET FOR 1908.

Long Island or New Jersey; Westchester County or Staten Island? East or west; north or south? In which direction will the homeseeker finally determine to go? This is the question that far-seeing and shrewd real estate speculators are asking themselves and each other. The boom in the Bronx has ceased to be a boom, and prices which a year ago looked to careful and conservative investors like boom prices, appear to have settled themselves on a firm basis. The question now agitating the fraternity, is how far the present boom in prices on Long Island is based upon a reasonable demand, or how far and to what extent the future has been discounted.

So long as Manhattan Island was approachable from the east, west and south only by means of the various ferries and the two inadequate bridges spanning the East River, the trend of the homeseeker was all to the northward. Within the last six months the prospect of direct transportation from the heart of the city to the remoter parts of Long Island appear to have been made the most of by the land speculators, and it behooves us to cease and ponder whether, in the scramble for property on Long Island the equally accessible and in many ways more desirable acres in New Jersey have not been neglected.

Conservative estimates place at four years off the day when it will be possible to board a train on Manhattan Island and ride under the East River. Long before those who are buying lots in Long Island, on the promise of "20 minutes to Herald Square," are able to reach their property by way of a tunnel, it will be possible to board a car at many points in the busiest sections of the city and be whisked away without a change of cars to Newark and beyond.

Before the end of 1908 trains will be running through the McAdoo tunnel under the Hudson River. A combination has already been formed between the trolleys and the steam railroads in New Jersey, by which practically all of the main lines will run electric cars from Newark to the center of the city. Fifteen minutes is the time promised between Newark and Cortlandt st. In ten minutes more Herald Square can be reached. With all of the surface railroads in this section of New Jersey under one management general transfers from the proposed Newark terminal to the various surface lines running out of Newark will seem to be in order. From convenient stations in the thickly settled portions of Manhattan it will be possible to reach almost any part of the country around Newark in less time than it now takes to go to Harlem.

And all this is to be possible from one to three years before the accessibility of Long Island by way of a tunnel is anything but a promise of the future. With equal, if not better, transportation facilities, New Jersey offers to the homeseeker attractions and advantages far surpassing any that have yet been shown to exist on Long Island. In Newark, which will be nearer the business portion of Manhattan than Jamaica, the homeseeker will have all the advantages of a large city, which do not exist in Jamaica, in Flushing, or, in fact, anywhere on Long Island. Living within the radius of a circle of 20 miles, with Herald Square as a center, the resident in the New Jersey portion of this circle would have many advantages over his less fortunate brother on Long Island. Manhattan being equally accessible, he would have in addition the amusements and diversions as well as the conveniences offered by such cities as Elizabeth, Newark, Rahway, Paterson, Hoboken and Jersey City, all of which will be within convenient distance. Instead of depending upon one line of railroad with congested terminal stations (particularly so in the summer time, when the tremendous outflow and influx of coming and returning excursionists make Long Island train schedules almost a farce), the New Jerseyite will have at his disposal the main lines of over a half dozen separate and independent railroads, some of them the greatest in the country. The buyer of Jersey property will be on the main line of travel between Manhattan and practically all of the rest of the country.

Long Island, while it undoubtedly possesses a bright future, will never attain the importance of what might be called the New Jersey suburbs of New York City. Its inaccessibility for shipping purposes make it a less desirable location for factories and business. Within the last three years a very large number of New York City concerns, driven from Manhattan by the rapidly increasing rents, have established their factories in New Jersey, and with the opening of a tunnel, their number is certain to increase.

As a place of residence for the wealthy and well-to-do, Long Island cannot compete with New Jersey. With Tuxedo as accessible as Babylon, with the beautiful Ramapo hills as easy of approach as the lowlands and marshes of Great South Bay, with the Palisades overlooking the glorious Hudson almost at our doors, who, looking calmly at the situation, can doubt that "Westward the course of empire" will still wend its way?

From a speculative standpoint Long Island, and particularly Queens County, have been about "worked out." Jersey City and Newark, already thriving towns, seem at last to be awakening, and it seems that the oft-promised and still oftener delayed boom in New Jersey is about to materialize. In the 20-mile circle heretofore referred to, lies some of the finest and most valuable land in the world. "Forty minutes to Hempstead" will attract little attention when "15 minutes to Newark" is a fact. The Erie, the Central of New Jersey, the Pennsylvania, the Lackawanna, the West Shore and the Ontario will all compete with the Long Island Railroad for suburban traffic, and with New Jersey to draw upon for homes, New York should shortly vie with Philadelphia in being a "City of Suburbs."

The Brick Supply.

More unsettled, if not more excited, than ever before known to be, the market for common brick has been in a historically interesting state this week. And brick is the fundamental material of building. Its importance has been perceived more particularly during the past year. The value of the brick used in building construction in New York exceeds that of any other material. Until a period comparatively recent it has been supplied in quantities more than abundant, and at prices carrying only a scanty percentage of profit. Brick was almost the least considered material in the list of materials, but none has recently given the interests of real estate and building so much concern.

Undeniably there is strong antagonism to paying the prices which by force of circumstances have been compulsory this spring and summer; and by general consent, if not by design, there has been a very noticeable delay in applying full power to tenement building operations. Last year, as will be recalled, brick building was so slow in getting into its natural stride that the manufacturers entertained suspicions of a combination having been formed to withhold orders until quotations fell; and suggestions of possibly something of the kind are again heard this year, though probably nothing more than individual sentiment and natural business caution are inspiring the builders to wait for lower values.

Last week's total sales scarcely equaled a normal day's trade, and the output of the previous week was also small. With the brickyard strikes ended and shipments comparatively heavy, the consequence to the market has been a fall in prices. From a minimum of $11 for good brick, values have fallen to $10.50 at this writing, with a probability of a continuance in the same direction. On the first day of June last year the average quotation for good brick was $9 per M., and a month later $7.

All the yards on the Hudson are now working, the strikes having fully ended in the complete defeat of the laborers; but a large quota of help is missing, and to this extent work is hampered. As the plants which were idle through the strikes are now all burning brick, there will be coming to this city in about three weeks a full measure of new material. Scarcely any old brick remains, and the shortage in the new supply, representing what was lost through idleness, is estimated roughly as one hundred million.

Though in three weeks there will be a very full run of material, there ought to be in natural course a heavy increase in the requirement also, as the manufacturers contend—the effect of which would be a steadying of prices. Up to Saturday of last week plans had been filed so far this year for buildings of a total estimated cost of over seventy-one million dollars, which was twelve million dollars ahead of the record for the corresponding period last year. With a demand 20 per cent. greater to contend for a diminished supply, the forwarders for their part cannot figure out any other advice to builders than that this is a good time for those in need of brick to buy. However, there is this to be said, that the total for new buildings includes an exceptional number of office buildings, and twenty million dollars' worth of office buildings represents to the brick dealer not near as much brick as twenty million dollars' worth of tenements.

While asserting that the buying interests seem to have joined together to bear prices to an extent definitely stated at $3 a thousand, the manufacturers give the assurance that they have never arrayed themselves against the buying public in any particular, and have made no agreement among themselves to advance prices.

—The building records which the several boroughs are piling up again this year are gratifying to the lumber, brick, plumbing, stone and cement trades, and to all departments of building. The number of mechanics under employment throughout the city is larger than ever before in history, at better wages than ever, and houses cost more than ever to build. Everything in the building interests has multiplied. Families are assuming rents that would have astounded them ten years ago if mentioned. Men are paying for property prices which they then would have deemed fabulous and impossible. Somehow or other the ways and means are provided to do these things, while half the world swears that values must come down, and the other half that they have only just started upward.

Mr. Zobel's building operations in this neighborhood have grown extensively.

Building Operations Begun on the Seligman Building.

WILLIAM ST.—The Foundation Co., 35 Nassau st, has received the contract and has commenced work on the foundations for the Seligman Building, situated directly opposite the south side of the Cotton Exchange, bounded by William st on the north, Stone st on the east and South William st on the west. It is to be a modern banking and office building of 12 stories in height. The foundations will be of solid concrete, installed by pneumatic caissons. There will be 20 caissons, each carried down to bed rock, or an average depth of about 50 ft. below the curb. The George A. Fuller Co., Fuller Building, Broadway and 23d st, is general contractor. F. The plot, which measures 75x150 ft., providing 11,250 sq. ft., is occupied by the old building of the Madison Square Presbyterian Church, which will be demolished upon the completion of the new edifice on the north side of the street. It is learned that the height of the tower will over-top the Singer Building tower, to be erected at Broadway and Liberty st, by a number of stories, making this the tallest structure in this country. No contracts have yet been awarded. The V. J. Hedden & Son's Co., No. 1 Madison av, were general contractors for the present building. The Cathedral of Cologne is 515 ft. in height, and Washington Monument is 555 ft. The tallest office building in New York to-day is the Park Row Building, 382 ft. To the top of the statue on Philadelphia's City Hall is 547 ft. The Singer Building will be 593 ft. in height, and contain forty stories, and the "Metropolitan Tower" is to go still higher.

The sewer will be built of concrete, reinforced where necessary by iron rods, and will have an average width of 14 ft., and an average height of 11 ft.

BUILDING NOTES

The contractors are losing no time on the new Trinity Building.

Governor Morton's message to men is, "Be honest." John D. Rockefeller's, "Persevere."

On another page in this issue will be found an advertisement of the Webster Realty Co., which will interest contractors who desire the privilege of a free dumping board.

The corner stone of the new Temple Israel, of Harlem, Lenox av, northwest corner 120th, was laid on Tuesday, of this week. The Fleischmann Realty & Construction Co., 170 Broadway, are the general contractors.

That new one in West st, between Albany and Cedar, bears the legend, "The highest building in New York: twenty-three office floors." John Peirce and the Milliken Bros. have their signs on it. The steel is now going through the sixth story.

An old builder of our acquaintance was accustomed to say, along in 1893-6: "Now is the time to buy property and to build." The old gentleman lived to see his advice make good, and he passed away last year. Real estate and building materials will scarcely ever be as cheap again.

Manufacturers of building specialties who desire representation in the rebuilding of San Francisco should communicate with A. Willkomm, 1210 Golden Gate av, San Francisco, Cal. This gentleman represents several large Eastern firms, among them the well-known firm of Toch Bros., paint manufacturers.

The memorial window to Mrs. Gilbert, the actress, which is to be placed in the Bloomingdale Church, of which Ludlow & Valentine are the architects, will be designed and executed by Mr. John La Farge. Mr. La Farge will also design several other memorial windows for this church, as well as all the rest of the leaded glass for screens, windows and doors.

A new patent sanitary flooring is being put on the market by the Sedgwick-Flower Co., 1133 Broadway. This flooring possesses two very important advantages over most patent floorings now on the market—its cheapness and its resiliency. It can be laid cheaper than any ordinary sanitary flooring and its resiliency or pliability prevents it from cracking. It is not cold to the touch, and it acts as a deadener to sounds below. It is a compound which can be made as hard as stone or as elastic and pliable as hard wood, and it can be finished to match woodwork or other trim. It is fireproof and vermin proof.

They Have Spent Much More.

We learn from Mr. Coleman, of the New York, Westchester & Boston Railway Co., that we have underestimated, in these columns, the money that his corporation has so far expended on the work of actual construction in the Bronx. We placed the estimate at one hundred thousand dollars. Mr. Coleman, however, assures us that at least three hundred thousand dollars' worth of actual work has already been performed. Indeed, grading, masonry, bridge work, rails, ties, etc., either placed in construction, or contracted for delivery before the end of July, amount to over eight hundred thousand dollars. The first section of the road from Mount Vernon south to 179th st will be ready for operation, we are told, within eighteen months, barring unforeseen delays. The company does not believe that it will have any difficulty in regard to its franchise, because it is properly entitled to an extension to offset the delays that have been occasioned by the obstructions of certain property owners.

Wrenching the Arbitration Plan.

ABOUT one thousand names are on the carpenters' strike roll in Manhattan Borough, in consequence of the lock-out ordered by the Emergency Committee of the Building Trades Association, acting with the Master Carpenters' Association, the Interior Decorators and Cabinet Makers' Association and the Metal Covered Doors and Windows Association. On the strike roll in Brooklyn there are about five hundred names, and in the Bronx and in Queens comparatively small figures are given as representing the workmen actually idle. Altogether there are, according to the union records, seventeen thousand union carpenters at the present time in the metropolitan district over which the Joint District Council is the journeymen's representative body. Consequently the net loss to building interests at large from the strike and lockout combined is as yet not serious, though in many instances the effects may prove hereafter very expensive and unpleasant.

No statement that could possibly be made as to the cause of the dispute would be satisfactory to both sides, seeing that so able a jurist as Judge Gaynor has failed in the attempt. It is admitted by the journeymen that Judge Gaynor's decision as umpire in the case of the Brooklyn strike was founded on evidence, was legally correct, and was delivered by a fair and impartial mind. But the Brooklyn journeymen, claiming a fuller knowledge of the facts than was obtainable by Judge Gaynor, would not accept his verdict as just, and continued on strike even in defiance of the orders of the District Council. The men say that their employers have always been more successful than they in getting evidence on record, so that umpires who judge solely from the record are very certain to decide in their favor.

Mr. E. H. Neal, the secretary of the arbitration committee of the District Council, remarked yesterday: "The plan of arbitration provides that disputes shall be settled by a trade board, which in itself is fair, except where one side or the other votes under instructions of its organization, when there can be no other result than a deadlock. This has been usually the case in my experience on trade boards. If every man were free to vote according to his convictions, there would be no difficulty in arriving at some decision, and then this method would be absolutely fair. When a deadlock is reached, the plan provides that the question shall go to an umpire, and the umpire is generally some legal gentleman who knows nothing of existing conditions in the trade, or precedents established in like cases.

"He usually renders a decision that causes both parties to stare at each other in astonishment. The injustice is done, and done according to the plan, and the plan is infallible, and there you are! The honesty and good intent of the umpire has never been questioned to my knowledge, but in order that an umpire may render a just decision, he must be familiar with the methods and practice of both employers and employees; he must know the business of the parties he has been called upon to decide between."

TEXT OF THE GAYNOR DECISION.

Judge Gaynor's decision contained a statement of the case so far as it appeared to him, and was as follows:

"On December 15, 1905, the 'Master Carpenters' Association of New York City' and the 'Joint District Council of Greater New York,' which is the governing body of the local carpenters' unions of the five boroughs of New York City, entered into a written agreement advancing wages.

1—It in terms fixed the minimum wage of carpenters in Manhattan Borough for work in the shop at $4 a day and on buildings at $4.80 a day. The rates then existing were $20.75 a week for the former and $4.50 a day for the latter.

2—It then provided in general terms that there should be a 'proportionate increase per hour' in the other four boroughs.

3—It then provided as follows: 'The above scale to go into effect July 1, 1906; the present scale to remain in force until that date.'

Each borough had a scale of wages fixed by the unions and established prior to the making of the said agreement, as follows:

For work in shop, $20.75 a week in Manhattan and $18 a week in each of the other four boroughs.

For work on buildings, $4.50 a day in Manhattan, $4 a day in Brooklyn and the Bronx, $3.60 a day in Richmond and $3.50 a day in Queens.

The agreement thus fixed a new scale of wages for each borough, and not for Manhattan Borough only, and provided that it should go into effect on July 1, and that the existing scale should remain until that date.

It follows that the attempt after the making of the agreement to advance the wage in Brooklyn Borough from $4 a day to $4.50 a day for work on buildings, was in direct violation of the agreement and unlawful.

It is due to the said governing body of the unions to say that it took prompt measures to prevent a strike on such a false basis; and it also appears that those who sought to force the advance on the existing wage after the agreement was made were not fully informed of the full effect of the agreement. Their object was to force the wage to $4.50 a day in Brooklyn

Borough before July 1, and then by the said agreement get the 30 cents a day addition on that, which would have made the wage $4.80 in Brooklyn Borough after July 1, the same as in Manhattan Borough, whereas the agreement contemplated different scales for each borough, as had always been the case, to conform to the different scale of rents and cost of living in the boroughs.

I decide that the scale of wages prescribed and established in each borough prior to the time the said agreement was made, must remain unchanged until July 1, 1906, and that then the same increase per hour in terms by the agreement for Manhattan goes into effect in all of the boroughs.

Dated May 21, 1906. (Signed) W. J. GAYNOR."

VERBAL CONSTRUCTIONS.

In challenging the justice of this decision the journeymen summon a series of facts to the effect that while no wage scale for Brooklyn was stated in the trade agreement, there was a verbal understanding that the prevailing rate of wage would be paid, and that it was on this understanding as expressed to them that the members of the union voted to ratify. The union leaders declare that they tried to have the employers consent to specifying the scale for each of the boroughs in the agreement, but instead they were told that they would receive from the association bosses whatever rate the independents would pay them, or could be made to pay.

Secretary Featherstone, in a statement which he prepared yesterday, says: "That the document upon which Judge Gaynor based his decision that the wages for shops in the outlying boroughs was $18 per week, was a copy of the laws governing the District Council three years ago, or in 1903." He adds:

"The shop wage in the outlying boroughs was $20.75 per week two years prior to the signing of the present agreement. Further, the agreement was made by and between the Joint District Council of the Brotherhood and the Amalgamated Society of Carpenters, who combined under date of January 1, 1904, this action forming an entirely new body, and rendering all previous laws null and void.

"Each individual borough had voted to establish a uniform rate of $4.50 per day in Brooklyn and the Bronx, and $4 in Richmond and Queens, to go into effect on May 1, 1906, except in Queens, where the date was April 1. The votes were in and counted December 1, 1905. This was the object of our trying to get the employers to insert this wage scale in the trade agreement. Prior to the making of the agreement, the $4.50 scale was paid on many jobs in the outlying boroughs, and had been for a year or more, and this vote of the boroughs was for the purpose of establishing a uniform rule. We are very well aware that the trade agreement did exist. We are also aware that two clauses on which verbal constructions were placed were abided by to the letter by the labor representatives. We are also aware that the Master Carpenters refused to live up to their verbal agreement in the said trade agreement."

Later.—The lockout of the Brotherhood of Carpenters was extended on Thursday to the carpenters employed in the shops of members of the Building Trades Employers' Association and to the carpenters employed by the Master League of Cement Workers.

Building Contract Law.

EXTRA WORK—ARCHITECT NOT AUTHORIZED TO WAIVE REQUIREMENTS FOR ITEMIZED ESTIMATE AND ORDER IN WRITING.

The Court of Appeals of this State has just decided that a contractor who has constructed a building under an architect's plans and specifications, and whose contract provided that no allowance should be made for extra work unless an itemized estimate thereof was submitted by the contractor and the architect's order in writing had been given therefor, is precluded from recovering for extras claimed to have been performed on the architect's verbal orders. Nor does a provision in the contract that the architect, for the purposes of the contract, was acting as the agent of the owner, authorize him to waive the requirements for an itemized estimate and an order in writing.

The case was entitled John Langley, respondent, vs. Peter W. Rouss, executor of Charles Broadway Rouss, deceased, appellant. The plaintiff entered into a contract with the defendant's testator in his lifetime by which the plaintiff agreed to perform certain mason and carpenter work in the erection, alteration and extension of certain buildings on Broadway, in the City of New York. The contract has been performed and the contract price fully paid. This action was brought to recover for certain alleged extra work consisting of:

1. Shoring, sheath piling, sustaining and underpinning adjoining wall to 555 Broadway..... $3,414.40
2. Sustaining and shoring of beams and flooring of old building while columns and girders were being put in place ..... 6,600.00
3. Temporary smoke pipe for boilers while chimney was being built ..... 275.00
4. Shoring roof of old building where bulkhead has been erected; building temporary roof; removing tin roof; taking out fireproof arches; taking down brick wall; furnishing and putting in place new arches for two stories of bulkhead on the southeast corner of the old building..... 1,215.90

$11,505.30

The defendant's testator by his answer denied the allegations of the complaint so far as it related to extra work, and alleged that the labor and materials for which the plaintiff sought to recover in this action were and each of the same was included in and covered by said contract, and that the plaintiff had been fully paid therefor.

The court held that the architect was expressly made the agent of the owner for the purposes of the contract, but such agency, so far as it related to making alterations or directing that extra work should be done, was limited, as in the contract stated, to such orders as he should give in writing. The restrictions on the authority of the architect were for the protection of the owner. Where contracts including plans and specifications involve a great amount of detail, and the merits of claims for alterations and extra work are difficult to determine and adjust after the work is completed, a provision requiring the contractor to submit itemized estimates of the expense of proposed alterations or extra work, and that the order of the architect therefor should be in writing, is reasonable and tends to a more definite understanding and avoids controversies. The contractor is not required to make changes or perform extra work unless he first receives written authority therefor, and the contract is therefore, neither unreasonable nor severe and it should be enforced. An agent cannot enlarge his own powers by waiving the limitations thereon.

"Where the amount of work to be performed and materials to be furnished under and by a contract depend upon conditions that cannot be ascertained by inspection, and bidders are not required and given an opportunity to make such investigations as are necessary to satisfy themselves as to the amount of work to be done and materials to be furnished and the contract, plans and specifications include representations as to existing conditions which are inserted for the purpose of enabling contractors to determine what bid to make for the proposed work and materials, a recovery may be had as for a breach of contract for the damages caused if it shall turn out that the representations were erroneous."

Pennsylvania Tunnels Under the East River will be Finished July 1, 1908.

At a recent conference between President Peters of the Long Island Railroad and a committee of citizens at Long Island City, the former said that he expected the tunnel under the East River, at Thirty-fourth street, would be finished and ready for business on July 1st, 1908; that he was bending all his energies and resources to the completion of suitable track connections with the tunnel; that the line known as the Montauk Division from Jamaica via Maple Grove and Woodside, was to be straightened, grade crossings from Jamaica to the tunnels abolished and four tracks to Woodside, thence by six tracks to Sunnyside yard; and that said lines were to be electrified, which with the electrification of the shore to shore lines and the main line to Richmond Hill would tax the construction force of the company for the next two years to complete in time for the opening of the tunnel.

He also told the committee that the road had just established a zone system from Flatbush avenue division over the Atlantic avenue division to Rockaway, and also to Jamaica and Queens; that he hoped to establish a similar zone system from Long Island City to Queens when the electrification of the branches and the building of the additional tracks would permit the installation of rapid transit local electric service. He further assured the committee that the road was taxed practically to the limit of the present facilities in trackage and terminals, and that he would better the train service as soon as additional facilities would permit him to do so.

A Concrete Church.

The illustration is taken from a model of a church and rectory now being erected on a plot 250x100 ft. at Pacific and Sackman sts, Brooklyn, for the congregation of Our Lady of Loretto, of which the Rev. Vincent Sorrentine, 22-Powell st, is pastor. The whole structure is to be built of concrete. The exterior ashlar, cornices, tower and all enrichments will be moulded and cast on the premises. The interior will be moulded and finished after the building is enclosed. The walls will be entirely of concrete, backing up the ashlar as it is set in place. Adriano Armezzani, 33-35 Van Houten st, Paterson, N. J., and Thomas Graham, 2269 Washington av, Bronx, are associate architects. Federici, Armezzani & Co., of Paterson, N. J., are the contractors.

Model Houses at Bay Ridge.

Eight new brick houses, in pairs, in Sixty-seventh street, have attracted pleasant attention this year from visitors to Bay Ridge. While not houses of the first class, they are more substantially built than the average two-family house, as they are designed for, and the internal plan and equipment is exceptionally good. There are thirteen all light rooms handsomely decorated and two tiled baths, and all the modern improvements. The cellars, light and dry, are a marvel of convenience, being divided into five compartments, including furnace room. For heating purposes four Baltimore heaters and one gas grate are provided. They are also piped for gas heat throughout, and so arranged that should the occupant desire either gas, hot air, hot water or steam heat the change can be made quickly and at nominal expense. The dumbwaiter, running from cellar to roof, is one of the "stop where you put it" kind, and will not run away from you, no matter how much weight you may put upon it. The large kitchen has a range, three tubs, deep closet, china cabinets, drawers and cupboards, hall toilet, etc., is a revelation. The builder of these houses has plans perfected for not only the erection of many others of this class, but also for one-family dwellings for such as prefer privacy of their own homes, and which will be as far superior to the houses of the past decade as the modern steamship is to the old sailing packet. Completed plans are also ready for dwellings of every class from the mansion of the millionaire to the tenement of the day laborer. These latter, conveniently located in the factory district, are to be productions of steel, brick and stone and with such sanitary arrangements and conveniences as will oblige the dweller in tenements to "live decently and in order," whether he will or no.

Crowding on the East Side.

STANTON ST.—David Cohen reports that Golde & Cohen bought from the trustees of the Princeton University sixteen lots facing 200 ft. on Stanton st by 200 ft. on Mangin, as well as on Tompkin st, together with the water front privileges, which are very valuable. This property was held for the last sixty years by the heirs of Thomas Eckford, whose descendant, Mrs. Mary Brown, of Princeton, bequeathed it together with other property to the University. The broker was W. J. Russell. The notable success of the tenement houses built to the north of it, and the sale to builders of four or five large plots in the immediate neighborhood, foreshadow a movement to use cheaper land for the steadily growing immigration, and emphasizes the crowding on the East Side.

REAL ESTATE NOTES

L. V. Rossi & Co., real estate brokers and agents, have moved their offices from 192 Bowery to 377 Broome st, near Mott.

The residential section in Tremont, east of the Park, has seen a great rise in values. The subway is a great convenience to the district.

Joseph A. Kehoe, formerly Kehoe & White, real estate brokers, has become associated with H. L. Suydam & Co., 757 Broadway, in the sales department.

H. W. Johnson, for the past 15 years of the firm of Joseph Corbit & Co., real estate brokers and agents, has become associated with H. L. Suydam & Co., 757 Broadway.

Jacob A. King, real estate agent, with offices at 596 Broadway and 51 West 125th st, New York, has opened a branch office at West End, Long Branch, N. J., for the convenience of his clients who summer along the Jersey coast.

Edward C. H. Vogler, real estate broker and insurance agent, is now occupying his new offices at the northeast corner of Amsterdam av and 81st st. Mr. Vogler has been active in realty circles on the upper West Side for several years.

George Nicholas, for many years a successful real estate broker and agent in the Long Acre district, has removed from 537 5th av and taken offices in the new Day and Night Bank Building, 527 5th av, corner of 44th st. Mr. Nicholas has discontinued the brokerage and agency business and will confine himself to the buying and selling of property on his own account.

The firm of J. K. Stiefel & Co. has leased from M. & L. Hess for a long term of years the store, basement, first and second lofts in the new 11-sty building to be erected by Messrs. Brody, Adler & Koch, at Nos. 8-10 West 19th st, on plot 50x92. This building is practically a corner on account of the permanent side light obtained from the east, owing to an 18-ft alley used by the various owners of the 5th av buildings between 18th and 19th sts.

George Julian Houtain, 161 Pierrepont st, has noticed that the enacting of the new mortgage law has caused a tightening of the money market and a falling off of mortgage business for the time being. "In my opinion," added Mr. Houtain, "summer trade will be as busy as it was heretofore. The section that I am dealing in, Ozone, Morris and Dunton Parks, in Queens County, is very active. I am busier now than I was three months ago, and have found it necessary to open a branch office in that section to accommodate the increased trade."

Charles F. Noyes Co. report the following downtown leases: Entire building 26 West Broadway, for Mattson Rubber Co. to Galindo Manufacturing Co.; entire building 69 Murray st, for French Church de St. Esprit to American Druggists' Syndicate; entire building 203 Greenwich st, for Norman S. Riesenfeld to Bernard Kreiser; entire building 10 Ferry st, for Strong & Cadwalader, attorneys, to C. W. O. Carter, Inc. All the above leases are for a long term of years. Also for Abram M. Clonney to the C. & M. Envelope Co., for 21 years, the 5-sty and basement building, 50x75, at 535-537 Pearl and 30-32 Elm sts, southwest corner. The total aggregate rental, including carrying charges, amounts to about $225,000. Extensive alterations will immediately be made to the building, and the premises occupied at once by the lessees.

Site for a Music Hall.

The McVickar-Gaillard Realty Co. has sold for Alonzo Hornby, of Redlands, Cal., the property No. 117 West 42d st and the abutting property, Nos 108-110-112-114 and 116 West 43d st; also for Walter H. Close the property No. 118 West 43d st, and for Robert H. McGusty the property No. 106 West 43d st. This gives the purchaser a plot fronting 144 feet in 43d st, with a 25-foot frontage in 42d st, midway between Broadway and 6th av.

The purchase was made by a syndicate of capitalists, headed by Edward B. Kinsila, of London, who will erect on the site an elaborate music hall of novel design, to be conducted on the lines of the great music halls of Europe. The site is a superior one in point of location. The main entrance to the theatre will be from 42d st, with a grand lobby extending through to the carriage entrance on 43d st. In addition to the theatre proper, the building will contain a spacious restaurant and commodious anterooms on each floor. A feature of this house which will appeal to all theatre-goers will be the arrangement of seats. Instead of the usual narrow seats, each patron will have a comfortable armchair, arranged in rows sufficiently far apart to admit of each seat holder taking his place without disturbing those already seated. The building will also have an extensive roof garden. The class of attractions will be entirely different from any yet produced in America, European novelties claiming an important part. The brokers in the transaction state that it is expected that the theatre will be open for the public during the spring or summer of 1907. It is the intention of the purchasers to begin preparations for the building as soon as the leases on the property expire, or about October 1 of this year. The cost of the land and building will aggregate about $1,250,000.

—Attorney-General Mayer holds that all mortgages now in existence, or which shall have been executed before that date, must be certified back to the local assessors and made subject to taxation according to the provisions of law which existed before the law of 1905, now repealed, was enacted. This means that those mortgages will be subject to taxation as personal property at the local rate of taxation as established in the tax district in which they were executed. But, as Mr. Lawson Purdy has pointed out in this paper, the necessity of their continued taxation as personal property can be obviated by their retirement and the execution of new mortgages to take their place.

—Speaking of the Mortgage Tax Law, Mr. David Porter, real estate broker and appraiser at 189 Montague st, said: "The effects from the enactment of the new mortgage recording tax law are scarcely discernible yet, but will undoubtedly be considerable in the future, resulting in the reduction of interest on mortgages. While it is a step in the right direction, I still think is an unjust law, and that there should be no tax on mortgages of any kind or sort, as it is undoubtedly double taxation, and I hope to see the day when this law will also be repealed. Real estate business has been very active, but, of course, we expect a lull during the summer months as usual, but I certainly do look for a good fall trade. While Brooklyn property has advanced considerably in price, I know of no city anywhere of the size where property can be bought so cheap."

CONVEYANCES

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street or avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th.—A $20,000—$30,000 indicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only, and the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before second figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction.

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows; The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as headlines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.
Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.
The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.
Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.
Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

June 1, 2, 4, 5 and 6.

EXCEPTING as to special stocks about which there may be special information, little is to be said this week of the financial markets generally. They are still engaged all the world over in what may be figuratively expressed as "marking time." Abroad, the Russian situation seems to dominate, while the leading politicians of both parties in this country are apparently vying with each other in worrying and badgering industrial and railroad corporations in the belief that that is the popular position to take. Naturally such proceedings are not conducive to the promotion of new corporate enterprises, and the effect of the policy is certain to be manifest later. Taken together with prospective tariff agitation this autumn, a chill may be put on our great prosperity. In the weird game of politics that, however, does not count, as was illustrated in the silver agitation. Let the people but cry for the moon, and both political parties will promptly promise that luminary in their platforms. To go forth into the world and to see with "how little wisdom the world is governed" could be said now with more fitness to the situation than when first uttered. The safety of the stock market at the moment lies in its dullness, and indeed there is no dangerous speculation in the country at large, either in securities or commodities. There is, however, speculation in real estate, and operators should exercise caution so as not to overstay the current boom. An express running at sixty miles an hour meeting an irresistible obstruction on the track does not stop more suddenly than some booms of this character, as old and experienced operators well know. These remarks do not apply to properties in favored progressive and growing localities, but unfortunately it is on the evidence of these substantial appreciations that the tendency to the wider and, in some instances, unreasoning speculation now going on in certain districts is apt to be fostered.

TWO weeks ago it was here stated that there was every indication of a movement in St. Paul railroad stock. This movement has since widened and grown, until now it is not only the feature but the mystery of the stock market, with a rise of nearly thirty points since the first week in May. Our remarks about the cheapness of certain railroad stocks measured by earning power and cost of reproduction apply with special force to St. Paul, the bonded debt of which is $17,000 a mile and stock $15,000 a mile. The railroad could not be reproduced for $40,000 a mile, and its equipment, real estate and terminals for $20,000 a mile more. Thus were its shares selling at $300 it would be at the rate of $45,000 per mile, which with the bonded debt would make but $62,000 a mile. It is therefore not to be wondered at that the shares have recently risen from 155, and their advance illustrates the bargains Wall Street constantly presents to the student of values. Another specific instance of a railroad which, though a minor one, promises much in the near future is the Toledo, St. Louis and Western, known as "the Clover Leaf." In the leading Wall Street publication on Wednesday of this week a statement appears demonstrating that higher maintenance expenditures begin to show results in current earnings. The analysis referred to reaches the same conclusions regarding this road as given in these paragraphs recently, as there has been an average monthly increase of both gross and net earnings. There is nothing to add to what was said last week about money. It continues and promises to remain easy for Stock Exchange borrowings, but difficult for all other borrowers.

MORE real estate activity has been shown recently in the section near Long Acre Square than for some years past. During 1901 and 1902 the section was extraordinarily active. Thirty or more apartment hotels were built in that vicinity and seven or eight theatres. But in the years following many of the apartment hotels proved to be failures, and it is currently reported that several of the theatres have not been profitable enterprises. At the present time the apartment hotel boom is still in a state of collapse, and it is improbable that it will ever recover the proportions it reached during 1901 and 1902. On the other hand the theatre business is picking up; it has recently been announced that two new places of amusement will soon be built—one on Forty-fourth street opposite the Lamb's Club, and one on Forty-second street running through to Forty-third street. It may be doubted whether New York needs these additions to its places of amusement, but whether they are necessary or not, the locations selected for their construction are significant. Formerly the tendency was to build theatres immediately on Broadway or on some other wide and accessible avenue. Wallack's, Daly's, the Fifth avenue, the Casino, the Knickerbocker, the Empire, the Broadway, the Victoria, the Criterion and the New York are all of them on Broadway itself. Of late, however, the increasing cost of real estate on Broadway has driven the builders of theatres to the side streets in the immediate vicinity of that thoroughfare. The Building Code makes certain provisions as to alleys necessary, which increases the expense of a location on a popular thoroughfare, and it is found on the whole that the theatres on the side streets do just about as well as those on the big thoroughfare. The consequence is that the New Amsterdam, the Liberty, Fields, the Lyric, the Belasco, the Hudson and the Lyceum are all built on side streets. So it is with the proposed new theatres. The side streets near Long Acre square are much more frequented at night than were the side streets in the theatre district farther south, and there is a concentration of theatrical business in that one vicinity the like of which has never been seen in New York before. The theatres bring with them of course restaurants, saloons and cigar stores and the rentals which are now being received for advantageous locations in that vicinity are extraordinarily large.

POPULATION in the Bronx has increased so greatly that building and real estate interests will feel the effect beneficially in many ways. The State census of 1905 gave the Bronx 271,000, and the Board of Health now estimates that on July 1st, 1906, the number of inhabitants will be 290,000. This indicates that the Bronx is growing faster than any other borough. Under the new apportionment of legislative districts the Bronx will have a fuller quota of representation for the next ten years. The new apportionment goes into effect this year, and its results will be shown in the November election. Heretofore the citizens of the Bronx have not had adequate representation. The borough will now begin to assume an importance undreamed of a few years ago, and necessary legislation, which under its former limited representation was with difficulty obtained, will now be ensured promptly, commensurate with the great growth in influence, wealth and population of this division of Greater New York. As a city extends, new apportionments become absolutely necessary, but it frequently happens that a fast growing district in a city remains inadequately represented until, after much agitation, a reform is effected. In this instance, however, the new apportionment comes in the nick of time just as the Bronx population will be within ten thousand of three hundred thousand inhabitants—a great city in itself.

WHEN brownstone fronts were typical of wealth and elegance in the Murray Hill district of New York, the construction of such houses was carried forward under lines of such absolute uniformity as to leave New York subject to the reproach of being an ugly city. Row after row of brownstone houses were built in the territory between Fourteenth and Fifty-ninth streets, Lexington and Seventh avenues, and no effort was made to introduce any diversity of construction into such of these houses as were on side streets, while those on the main thoroughfares, on Fifth and Madison avenues, though more extensive, were also built on a uniform plan. Though brownstone houses in New York have shown an endurance, withstanding quite successfully climatic changes, the larger durability, greater beauty, cheaper cost, and broader variety of other building materials, have practically led to the suspension of the building of brownstone houses in New York. The territory within which most of them were constructed has begun to be vigorously attacked on all sides by the demands of business and of hotels and apartment houses, so that the old brownstone buildings are rapidly disappearing. In the lower part of what was originally known as "the brownstone district," between Fourteenth and Thirty-fourth streets, lofts, office buildings and apartment houses have been rapidly replacing residential structures, and the territory under transformation has now extended to Forty-second street and beyond. As no new brownstone houses are being constructed in New York, it would appear to be only a question of time, perhaps not a very long time, when brownstone houses in New York will join frame houses as a reminiscence—in Manhattan at least. The substitution of more varied ideas in building construction has added greatly to the beauty of the city, and is adding to it constantly.

The Outlook for Rapid Transit.

SOMETIME within the next few months the Rapid Transit Commission will advertise for bids on the Lexington avenue, the Seventh avenue, the Eighth avenue, and perhaps the Third avenue routes, and on the day when the bids are opened New Yorkers will be in a position to understand what the prospects are for early construction. Apparently certain members of the Commission believe that under the new provisions of the law there will be no bidders; and it remains to be seen whether they have correctly estimated the situation. The Record and Guide has already risked the prophecy that their estimate will prove to be false. We believe that the Interborough Company will assuredly bid upon the Seventh avenue route from Forty-second street south and upon the Lexington avenue route from Forty-second street north. These extensions are absolutely necessary to the consolidated company for the purpose of supplementing and rounding out its subway system, and it can assuredly afford to construct them on what would in effect be a lease for forty-five years. In case the company refuses to bid at least on these routes, it will only be because it hopes by the refusal to have the law modified at the next session of the Legislature, but such a refusal would be an exhibition of very bad judgment on the part of the officers of the company. It is true that Mayor McClellan, in the message accompanying his approval of the Elsberg bill, stated that in case there were no bids, it might be necessary to modify the provisions of the law. The Interborough Company should not, however, base their calculations on any such contingency. The people of New York would not countenance any alteration in the provisions of the rapid transit act; and if there were bidders for the new routes, public opinion would insist that some at least of them must be constructed at the city's expense.

It seems incredible, however, that the rapid transit monopoly will provoke public resentment by refusing to bid. The more serious danger is that it will accompany its bid by certain conditions which will make it difficult to accept. One has only to consider what the interests of the company are in order to understand why it is likely both to bid and to accompany its bid with certain doubtful conditions. It has a manifest interest, as we have said, in adding the Lexington and Seventh avenue route to its existing system. But it has no similar interest in constructing and operating subways on Third avenue and on Eighth avenue. These other and independent routes would compete effectually with parts of its existing system, and its officers might well believe that the traffic awaiting development does not admit of the construction of so many additional subways and the investment of so much additional money all at once. It is to the interest of the company that is to construct the Lexington and Seventh avenue routes and to prevent the construction of the Third and Eighth avenue routes. Their bid is likely to be framed so as to effect both of these purposes. The company will probably offer to construct and to lease the first two subways, and it will probably also offer as an inducement to grant certain desirable transfer privileges between the surface roads and the rapid transit routes. But it will make this offer only on condition that the construction of the two independent subways be either abandoned or else postponed, and it will probably seek to obtain additional tracks on the East Side elevated roads as part of the bargain. The question is, what policy ought the city to adopt, in case it is confronted by a situation similar to the one just outlined?

It seems to the Record and Guide that on the whole such an offer would be worth fair consideration. Of course the city could not entirely abandon the construction of the Third and Eighth avenue routes; but it could afford to postpone their construction for say five years in return for the immediate construction of the other two routes and some really desirable transfer privileges. No doubt the situation would be very much altered in case an independent company put in a bid for the construction and operation either of the Eighth or of the Third avenue route, but we do not anticipate any such contingency. These four routes were laid out on the supposition that there would be active competition for them on the part of both the Interborough and Metropolitan companies, and now that the merger has taken place, it is improbable that any independent company would bid upon routes which would so nearly parallel existing lines of rapid transit. It is reasonable to assume that the only parties to the negotiations will be the city and the Interborough Company, and that the bargain that the latter will submit to the city officials will be very similar to the one outlined above, and such terms should, as we have said, be accepted—even to the extent of allowing the Interborough Company additional tracks on the East Side elevated structures. A real elevated express service on the East Side would be a great boon to the inhabitants of that section, and provided this could be granted without prejudice to the eventual construction of a subway on Third avenue, there is no good reason why it should not be permitted. It is very much better for the city, to co-operate with, than to fight the Interborough Company. The only thing to be considered is whether the city is obtaining good value for privileges surrendered, and in this instance we believe that the city would be making a good bargain. The Lexington and Seventh avenue subways with their extensions in the Bronx would supply the additional means of communication most immediately necessary at the present time; and a comprehensive system of transfers among the different parts of the Interborough system would be manifestly the greatest boon which the people of New York could obtain by way of improvement in their facilities for convenient and economical travel.

But if the Interborough Company should either refuse to bid under the existing law or should couple its bid with conditions more stringent than those indicated above, the only thing for the city to do would be to fight and fight hard. Under such circumstances the Seventh and Lexington avenue subways which are useless except as extensions to the existing subway, should be abandoned for the time being, and steps should be immediately taken looking in the direction of the municipal construction of both the Third and Eighth avenue subways. These routes could be operated independently to great advantage; and they should be supplemented by cross-town subways under Canal, Fourteenth, Twenty-third, Thirty-fourth, Fifty-ninth and One Hundred and Twenty-fifth streets. Such a system forming a belt line around Manhattan Island, and connected by lines under the more important side streets would be the most effective competition which could be devised against the Interborough system; and in case serious steps were undertaken to build it, we believe that the officials of that company would soon be brought to terms. Indeed, the mere danger that the city might decide on such a policy in order to protect its interests would be sufficient to make the officials of that company offer a very much better bargain than they otherwise would; and in this connection it is very fortunate that we have a man in the Mayor's chair who is prepared to take if necessary an aggressive and energetic line of action. Mayor McClellan has been showing of late a clear comprehension of the conditions underlying the existing situation and an admirable determination to pursue, if necessary, a forward policy. But if a forward policy does become necessary, it cannot be carried on without a reorganization of the Rapid Transit Commission. The leading members of that commission and their counsel fail entirely to sympathize with such a policy, and if the Board of Estimate, supported by public opinion decides that the city's interests cannot be protected without a fight, it will be up to some of the more conservative members of the commission to resign in order to make way for the appointment of more progressive men. As for the existing counsel of the commission, they should in any event be superseded. Mr. Boardman's sympathies and interests are wholly on the side of the corporations, and he and his partners are entirely out of place in their present position.

—American cities could get along more gracefully with fewer repetitions of words. The English language is spoken over here, it is true, but too much by the book. We use not too many words, but too many are used too often. The meaning could be expressed with fewer. Custom, or national habit, compels people to adhere to certain stensil-plate forms, and scarcely anything is left to be implied or imagined. For one thing, the geographical nomenclature is exceedingly raw, and a revising committee in the Post Office Department has been making it worse. Past generations are chargeable with innumerable sins, but as the world is being created every day, and town additions are being laid out constantly, it behooves the present generation to keep the little foxes from spoiling vines that are coming up now. It is quite time that a little originality be employed in naming new streets. Why is it necessary to use the word "Street" in the designation at all, or "Avenue," or "Road," or "Place," or even "Terrace?" Much pleasanter to the eye and ear is "Broadway" than "Broad Street," and "Park Row" than "Park Avenue." Just as we have ceased to say "Number 42 Broadway," and leave it simply 42 Broadway, so should it be, not 60 Wall Street, but merely 60 Wall. It is only a step farther for the city builders of the Bronx, Queens and Brooklyn to leave out the words "street" and "avenue" altogether. Study the street directory of London, and draw inspiration therefrom, but not imitation. There are euphonious terminations in the language as eligible for American cities as for the English, needing only to be arranged with suitable prefixes—if one cannot think of names entirely original.

Long Island's North Side.

EAGERNESS on the part of the people for home sites in the suburbs is being exhibited every day. Even among the men financially able to handle Manhattan propositions there has been a marked pitching toward the new zones of investment. All of the interest is in anticipation of means of suitable access; and scarcely anybody buys for what a parcel is actually worth in the present, but is paying what it will be worth sometime hence. When real estate is sold at a price where something must be left to the future to give it an earning power, a danger point has been reached, in the view of qualified judges. The missing factor in the case is the electric express to and from Broadway, and what will happen between now and then, and how far off the "then" may be, is problematical in any particular quarter. The City is slow in providing transportation, so slow that there has been a lessening of activity along the routes her transit boards have planned, but a decided kindling of ardor in the paths of the projects of public service corporations.

From the point of view of the real estate financier, suburban manipulations are apparently approaching the end of the first stage, but there is another point of view—of the man determined to make an end of living in crowded centres, not caring what the financial result of his investment may be, and glad of the chance offered to get a separate home for his family within the bounds of his ability to pay. He bravely refuses to wait to see how various modifying circumstances will develop in the course of years, resolutely insists on living in the present, seizes that which appeals to him now, and leaves the subways and railways to develop as and when they may. He cares not that he pays on a valuation that will only be attained in the future, seeing that it is the best terms, he can get—at least more favorable than he can obtain where circumstances are more settled.

This being the character of the largest part of the buying, considerations which would move large operators do not apply to it, and probably the wisest developers are those who are not most successful in applying the rigid rules of investments but in interpreting the desires and emotions of actual home seekers. A great deal of the land that is being parceled out is highly attractive to a large body of people, without regard to future transit; for allied to their dissatisfaction with flat life is a measure of prosperity which seeks a natural expression in the ownership of a detached family dwelling. This not being a possible attainment in the inner zones of the city, we see the avidity with which lots in distant outskirts are being marketed.

Long Island contains almost all the phases of real estate buying this summer, and is a most interesting field to study. Both current needs and future hopes are represented in the selection of sites—by large operators, the building corporations, the class of small speculators and finally the home buyers from whom everybody else is trying to take a profit. An instance of where investments are predicated more on present circumstances than on future hopes is furnished by the town of Flushing, which is one of the handsomest in the vicinity of Manhattan, one of the four oldest on Long Island, and the possessor of all the elements and conveniences that make up a separate community. Flushing has lately seen a remarkable interest taken in real estate, and while part of it is ascribable to promises of better transportation, most is to be credited to her well established attractions and to the spirit of the times.

MR. MASTER MAKES COMPARISONS.

Mr. D. Master, long the leading real estate agent in Flushing, considers that the town is only reaping the benefits of its natural position. "Our experience here is only what the sections from 14th st to the Harlem River on Manhattan Island experienced 50 years ago, and what the section above the Harlem experienced a little later," says Mr. Master.

"In a comparison between the old villages of Flushing and Jamaica as to land values, I will say that values in Jamaica are higher than they are in Flushing. This is so because values in Flushing are very low. The values in the business section of Flushing and in the old residential sections along Sanford and Jamaica ays have increased but slightly. There are sections of Flushing, however, where there are increases. Take for instance the Hitchcock Park and Flushing Highland sections. There the prices of lots have increased from about $500 to $700. Then the values about Broadway station have also increased. The increase in the latter section, of course, is due to the great improvements that are being made there.

"The largest dealings we have had in this section were the sales on the Fairchild property in Main st. The first sales made there were at the rate of $125 a front foot. The last sale made was at the rate of $225 a front foot. The increase was reached within less than a year and a half. There has been one sale on Broadway recently and that was the frontage of the Burk property, on which is located the Shinnecock Democratic club house. The property went at the rate of $250 a front foot, with a depth of 115 feet.

"An instance of rise in values on Broadway is shown in the sale of the plot occupied by the Seventeenth Separate Company armory and the sale of the plot to be occupied by the Masonic Hall. The armory plot with a frontage of 215 feet on Broadway was sold for $8,500. The Masonic Hall plot next to it, with 50 feet frontage, was sold at $100 a front foot. Those two sales were within 18 months of each other. If the State were buying the armory site to-day it would have to pay something like $21,000 for it.

"In the matter of acreage plots in and about Flushing not much is being done at the present time, for the reason that it is hard to get land at figures inviting to speculators of this class. They pay a price at which they can realize a profit in reselling in bulk. Such prices are hard to get now.

"I feel confident in saying that investments in real estate in Flushing at present prices are good investments. There is sure to come an increase in values and that is because soon we are to have increased transit facilities. Do you realize that there are eight routes of connection between Manhattan and Long Island now, either completed or in process of completion? When we get all of these lines, every one of which is more or less of a connection with this section of Long Island, we will have more lines of connection than the section to the north of the Harlem River.

"In favored sections of Flushing as, for instance, the property on Washington st, between Parsons and Percy sts, you can buy a lot at $50 a front foot. A plot sufficiently large on which to erect a house will cost about $1,050. In the Bronx the same plot would cost you $5,000. When we get these approaches all advantages will be in favor of Flushing. We will have quicker transit and a prettier and more healthful place to live in.

"There is nothing on the south side of Long Island to compare with the north side. People of means are coming to the north side. For awhile they did go to the south side, but the tide has turned. The beauty of the north side is bringing them here. There is no comparison between the two sections. The south side has its sandy beaches reaching far inland. On the north side we have the bluffs and the beautiful trees, everything ready for immediate occupancy.

"From a careful and conservative view, therefore, of the real estate field I believe I am warranted in saying that conditions were never so healthful as at present and the outlook never brighter. It is time when care and conservatism in making investments will be profitable. We know there is a healthy demand for property in this vicinity, and it is a demand greater than can be supplied. The demand continues to increase rather than diminish. It is a time for everyone to be hopeful."

A Restoration of Values.

Old Brooklyn's real estate market seems to be possessed by the same spirit of modified activity as Manhattan's. Seasonable dullness, after a long period of animation and rapid action, prevails in about the same degree in all the well settled communities. The mortgage tax legislation has as yet produced no noticeable effect on the market, though undoubtedly it has caused some prospective negotiations to hold off until the Annual Tax law expires. Properties are held very tightly in the best parts of Brooklyn, as well as in the Bronx. A good many dwellings that were in the market in the spring have been withdrawn, and one reason for the slowing up of trade is the small supply.

"In reference to the new Mortgage Tax law, I fail to see that any material change has been brought about," remarked Mr. Frank H. Tyler, of 1183 Fulton st, this week.

"The law perhaps is, in some respects, a great improvement over the iniquity which was inflicted on the people under the head of the Mortgage Tax Law. I believe it will take some time before we find any great improvement as the result of the Recording Tax Law. The passing of the Mortgage Tax Law was indeed extremely unfortunate, but only illustrates what a patient, long-suffering and ever-ready-to-forgive lot of people we are in this world, for some of the members of the Legislature who supported that bill were promptly rewarded by re-election. Still time is the all necessary element to demonstrate who is right, and I believe that the Legislature can continue to pass other objectionable laws and thereby saddle a wrong upon every one dealing in, owning or operating as brokers in real estate, but nothing that the members of Legislature can do, and no law that can ever be passed, will hinder the improvement in real estate values or in any way materially interfere with investors seeking real estate investments.

"There has been a slight lull in the market during the last few weeks, and it has given most of the brokers a forced rest and will only freshen them up and greatly stimulate their ambition for the summer trade. There has been considerable increase in values during the past two years, but that increase has, strictly speaking, not been a real increase in values, but rather values have been restored to previous figures, when we had a lull in the market waiting patiently for improvements in transit facilities.

"Now that this class of improvements is coming, in spite of many of the elements which some time block the way of progress, I believe that the great increase in values is yet to come, and that there are many opportunities for the safe investment of capital both in vacant and improved properties. No class of security is safer or produces a more permanent income than real estate."

Number One Wall Street

The building to be erected at No. 1 Wall st for the Number One Wall Street Corporation will be an 18-sty, absolutely fire-proof office building, and will be of skeleton steel construction. On account of the height of building, great care was taken in the study of the wind bracing of the structure. The plan has been most ingeniously designed to utilize every inch of space on this valuable piece of property, probably the most valuable piece of real estate in the world.

In the construction of the building all internal columns are omitted, which leaves each floor entirely free of obstructions of any kind. Three high-speed elevators will be installed, giving the finest elevator service in proportion to the amount of space served of any office building in the city of New York. Each floor is equipped with toilets, telegraph, telephone and electric light. Power, ticker service, messenger and police calls are provided on every floor. Each floor is ventilated by special ventilating systems.

The interior finish of the building will be steel and bronze throughout, including all doors and windows. The exterior has been designed in a dignified, but a severely plain style of architecture, by the architects, Barnett, Haynes & Barnett, who were recently awarded the new St. Louis Cathedral and were awarded the first prize for the Cook County Court House of Chicago.

The main entrance on Wall st will be constructed of solid bronze, massive and beautifully decorated. The steps leading to this entrance will be of granite, and the buttresses on either side of same will support a massive, solid bronze, standing candelabra. The crowning feature of the building will be a beautiful bronze cornice, richly decorated, with a graceful cresting, crowning the whole exterior. It is the intention of the contractor, the Westlake Construction Co., to have the building ready for occupancy on the first day of January, 1907.

The Mercantile Trust Co., of St. Louis, which represents the owners of the property, has leased to the United Cigar Stores Co. the store and basement in the building. Ten years is the term of the lease, at an annual rental of $40,000. Measuring 28x28, the square foot rental of the store is $51.02 a year. This is understood to be the highest store rental on record.

Development of Washington Heights.

A SPUR FROM THE SUBWAY FOR THE MOUNT WASHINGTON SECTION—THE APARTMENT HOUSE OF THE FUTURE.

Going north on Manhattan Island are two great trunk thoroughfares—Broadway and Riverside Drive. The first has a predominant business character, and the second, running through a residential district, serves the need of a parkway and pleasure drive. Both of these avenues will ultimately be extended far beyond the city limits. The recent action of the city in connection with the Hudson Bridge, Dyckman Valley Bridge and their magnificent approaches help to define the line of the extension of Riverside Drive; and the grading of Broadway between Kingsbridge and Yonkers will complete that great thoroughfare. An article on the dwelling house situation of Washington Heights in the issue of May 19 has aroused some interest and discussion, and it is found that the general consensus of opinion of many large owners and operators conforms to the views therein expressed. Some hold that the entire section from river to river will be built over up to the Spuyten Duyvil within ten years.

From a topographical point of view, north of 181st st the island is split in twain. The present subway serves the eastern, but as yet no line of transit serves the western half. A spur from the present subway to about 170th st up to the site of the proposed new park, just south of the Hudson Bridge, a distance of about two miles, would cost, according to the estimate of engineers, about $5,000,000. This amount seems insignificant when contrasted with the vast benefits which would certainly accrue to the city from opening up a large and beautiful section now quite inaccessible.

Within two years we have heard the announcements from the Barney syndicate that their Donnelly and Ottendorfer tracts would be restricted for private dwellings; and from the Morganthau syndicate that the O'Connor and Perkins tracts would also be reserved for private house construction; but none of these plans has been realized. On the contrary, the great rise in values from $5,000 or $6,000 a lot to $12,000 and $15,000, has determined the section for the better class apartment houses. In this way some think that what we have termed the "apartment house of the future" will be mostly erected in the section north of 181st st, apartment houses of a type not yet built in New York, but probably built on broader lines—wider hallways, greater courts, a more lavish use of land and a choice of commanding sites.

Washington Heights is a section of Manhattan deserving of far more attention from the transit authorities than it has received. For the time being the opening of the subway has quieted the appeals for consideration, but it is none the less perceived that one fast line cannot long meet the requirements for transportation, as it is only a question of time when all the territory will be built over and be quite as much a settled part of old New York as Harlem and Bloomingdale. Whether there be lean or fat years, good times in the country or bad, the population of this island has always continued to grow. In other boroughs one may wisely consider the chances and study the laws of investment, but in Manhattan there is but one law and one assurance for real estate. It is plain that the upper west side of the Heights will be developed quite as thoroughly as the upper east side of the Bronx; and that there should be an entrance to the main part of the city corresponding to the line of travel along the west shore of the Hudson north of this borough.

Electrical and Mechanical Equipment of the New Engineers' Club.

EMBODIED in the electrical and mechanical equipment of the Engineers' Club building in West 40th st, looking upon Bryant Park, are a number of ideas not used heretofore to any considerable extent in buildings of similar type. As for the general layout of the apartments, recalling an extended description heretofore in this paper, it can be briefly said that on the first floor are the vestibule, reception rooms, administration office, coat room, grand stairway, foyer and main hall, and, in the extreme rear, the cafe and grill room. On the second floor front will be the library in the rear and a large clubroom in front. A billiard-room fills the third story front, and committee rooms have the rest of the space on this floor. The next six stories are for bedrooms, and then, on the tenth floor, the breakfast and dining-rooms, as well as a large reception-room. The eleventh floor will be for the banquet hall, and the twelfth, or top floor, for the help. In the basement will be barber shop, steward's office, storerooms, and in the sub-basement the machinery for the lighting, heating and refrigerating plant and elevator equipments, and also a portion of the

The two 50-kilowatt units will be given the club by the Allis-Chalmers Co. and will each consist of a Corliss type simple horizontal engine direct-connected to a Bullock type generator. The 75-kilowatt unit will be donated by the General Electric Co., and will consist of a Curtis steam turbine designed to operate non-condensing, and to run at a speed of 2,400 revolutions per minute. The generator will be directly connected to the extension of the shaft of the turbine, the complete unit being assembled on one cast-iron base and set horizontally.

The conduit system for the conveyance of the feeders and circuits to their respective outlets has been most carefully planned with a view to simplicity and convenience, due care being taken to avoid as far as possible the crossing of pipes or ducts. All conduits will be concealed in the walls, floors or ceilings. A panel box will be installed on each floor from which the conduits for the branch lighting circuits will be run to the various outlets. The lighting of the sub-basement will be accomplished by a combination of incandescent lamps with Cooper Hewitt mercury vapor lamps, each of the latter giving 300 candle-power when two are connected in series across a potential of 120 volts. The call bell system throughout the building will be supplied with current by a motor-generator capable of supply-ventilating machinery. In the Electrical World of May 19 will be found an extended account of the electrical and mechanical equipment of the building, and to which we are indebted for the following data:

Arrangement of the Equipment in the Sub-basement of the Engineers' Club Building

Arrangements have been made for the installation of a system of steam heating so designed as to give the proper circulation of steam under a one-pound pressure at the reducing valve. All the rooms will be warmed by direct radiation, and there will be 228 radiators. Either live steam at reduced pressure or exhaust steam, or a combination of both, may be supplied to all. The ventilating system will supply fresh air throughout the building in general and all the important rooms direct, the system being that of forced air propelled by centrifugal fans passing over tempering coils. Vitiating air will be removed by centrifugal exhaust fans.

There will be three electrical generating sets in all, as shown in the sub-basement plan. Each of the engines will be protected by a Cochrane vertical type steam separator in the branch pipe, and the drip connection from these generating sets will be through automatic discharge traps to the high-pressure receiver of the muffler tank. In such a club building no small amount of attention must be given to the question of refrigeration and proper storage of supplies, and as in a hotel, adequate facilities for carrying on this end of the business must be provided. For this installation the Carbondale Machine Co. is furnishing an absorption exhaust steam refrigerating machinery capable of cooling 1,168 cubic feet of refrigerator box space to an average temperature of 38 degrees Fahrenheit, when using exhaust steam not over 1 to 3 pounds pressure, and with not over 12 gallons of water per minute at 70 degrees Fahrenheit, or correspondingly less water at a cooler temperature in winter weather.

The engineer's designs and specifications for the power plant called for three steam engines of suitable design for direct connection to engine type generators. Through the generosity of the Allis-Chalmers Co. and the General Electric Co. all three of the generating sets will be furnished the club without charge. In this connection it should be stated that the generosity of manufacturers was not confined to engine and dynamo builders alone, but extended also to the manufacturers of the boilers, elevators and other items of equipment for this building, the boilers being given outright by the Babcock & Wilcox Co. and the elevators furnished at cost by the Otis Co.

ing 7½ amperes at 8 volts, and by an auxiliary primary battery to be used when it becomes desirable to shut down the motor-generator for any reason. The system will consist of seven distinct divisions or sub-systems, namely, three annunciator call systems with annunciators in the office.

Two of the three elevators will run from the basement to the roof, and the third from the sub-basement to the roof. The elevator machines will be located in the sub-basement at the foot of the elevator shafts. Each will be of the worm-driven drum type with direct-connected motor of about 20 horse-power, which will drive the cars at a speed of 300 feet per minute. The maximum load which each elevator will carry is 2,000 pounds. The sidewalk hoist is of the well-known platform type driven by a worm-propelled drum machine with direct-connected motor of about 5 horse-power. Each of the ventilating fan motors will be driven by a motor capable of having its speed varied through rather wide limits by means of controllers provided with both armature and field rheostats.

Motors will also be installed in the service portions of the building for driving a silver polishing, buffing lathe, a dish-washing machine, a dumbwaiter running from the tenth floor to the roof, a clothes-washing machine, an extractor and mangle, the last three going into the laundry on the roof. It is expected that this installation when completed will not only perform its various functions in a most satisfactory manner, but will also, on account of its somewhat novel features, prove a very interesting adjunct to the new and magnificent home which Mr. Carnegie has so generously presented to the Engineers' Club of New York City.

The architects for the building are Messrs. Whitfield & King, whose designs were selected as a result of public competition, and who under the advice of the club's building committee have had much to do with the selection and arrangement of the various equipments, as well as the actual design of the building itself. Mr. Putnam A. Bates is the consulting engineer, and has charge of all of the electrical machinery and equipments throughout.

The trunk sewer in Broadway, Bronx, extending from the city line southward to the Harlem at 192d st, is practically finished, and permits for house connections are being issued. At the outlet the sewer has a diameter of sixteen feet. Bartholomew Dunn is the contractor.

THE REALM OF BUILDING

Building Operations.

Ten-Story Mercantile Building for 17th St.

17TH ST.—George H. Anderson, 156 5th av, is preparing plans for the erection of a 10-sty high-class-mercantile structure, 42x92 ft., to be erected at 138 to 140 West 17th st, on a plot 50x92 ft. John W. Stevens, of the Garfield Building Co., 156 5th av, is the owner. The estimated cost is about $200,000. Building operations will be started as soon as plans have been approved.

Bloomingdale Brothers' Store Plans.

59TH ST., 3D AV.—Bloomingdale Brothers, 59th st and 3d av, has informed the Record and Guide that no architect has yet been commissioned or plans decided upon for the enlargement of its department store building at 59th st, 3d and Lexington avs. They have just purchased the property, 156-158 East 60th st, 40x100 ft, and with the exception of a small plot, they now control the entire block bounded by 3d and Lexington avs, 59th and 60th sts. It is the intention of the firm to cover the remaining portion of the block with a 10-sty building addition, which measures 420x200 ft. Of course no building contracts have been awarded.

Million Dollar Apartment for Riverside Drive.

RIVERSIDE DRIVE.—Messrs. Rouse & Sloan, 11 East 43d st, have been commissioned to prepare plans and specifications for an 8-sty high-class elevator apartment house, 149.2x110x125 ft, to be situated on Riverside Drive between 110th and 111th sts, on a plot 149.2x120 ft. It is estimated that the structure will cost about $1,000,000. There will be apartments for nine families on each floor, arranged in suites for housekeeping purposes. The exterior will be of light brick, limestone, terra cotta and fine ornamental iron work. The interior will contain electric elevators, steam heat, marble, tile, mosaic and hardwood finish. The Hendrick Hudson Co., 1 Madison av, is the owner. No sub-contract has yet been issued.

Plans for Mr. Bimberg's Theatre in Times Square.

44TH ST.—Architect George Keister, 11 West 29th st, who is preparing plans for a theatre to be built at 109 to 121 West 44th st, for Meyer R. Bimberg, 157 East 86th st, informs the Record and Guide that building operations will not be commenced before August 1, and that the structure will be completed in September, 1907. No contracts have yet been awarded, and it will be some time yet before bids will be taken. The building, which will be of Colonial design, will be the first of its kind yet erected in this city since the revision of the laws governing the construction of theatres. On either side will be a 12-ft. alley with a number of exits. It will have a seating capacity of from 1,400 to 1,500, 1-sty and galleries equalling 5-stys in height, and measure 101x88 ft. The plot measures 125 ft frontage by 100 ft deep. The estimated cost is about $300,000. Mr. Bimberg will also erect another theatre, to be known as the "Auditorium," at 116th st and 3d av. These plans are now under way. He is also now building the new Longacre Square Theatre, at Broadway, northwest corner 45th st.

Apartments, Flats and Tenements.

103D ST.—Cohen & Kraft, 171 Broadway, will build on southeast corner of 103d st and Park av, a 6-sty flat, 39.4x90.11, cost $40,000. M. Zipkes, 147 4th av, is architect.

48TH ST.—Harris Cohen, 2 East 108th st, will erect on northwest corner 48th st and 2d av, a 6-sty flat, 40x63.6, cost $35,000. Bernstein & Bernstein, 24 East 23d st, are planning.

Labor Matters.

Nominations of officers to serve during the coming term were made by the Elevator Constructors and Millwrights' Union at a meeting held last Friday night in Brevoort Hall, 154 East 54th st, Manhattan.

The differences between the Wood, Wire and Metallic Lathers' Union are in the hands of the Executive Board of the Central Federated Union for settlement.

Five new business agents have been elected by the District Council of the Housesmiths and Bridgemen's local unions. These are the delegates: Local No. 40, J. W. Johnston; No. 52, George Currow; No. 35, Brooklyn, Daniel Brophy; No. 71, Newark, N. J., George Henrietta; No. 45, Jersey City, Thomas McDonald. The five unions represented in the District Council are located in Manhattan, Brooklyn, Newark, N. J., and Jersey City.

An all-around increase in wages of 50 cents a day has been obtained by the Wood Carvers' Union in the union shops of the city. The increase is to continue until the early part of the summer of 1908. Members of the union are graded according to ability. In the first grade $5 a day is paid; in the second grade $4.50, in the third grade $4.25 and in the fourth grade $3.75. Eight hours constitute a day's work, except on Saturday, when the half-holiday is the rule. Increased compensation is paid for work on holidays.

The Enterprise Association of Steam Fitters, which has jurisdiction over the journeymen members of the craft in the five metropolitan boroughs and nearby sections of New Jersey, has notified the employers that a wage scale of $5 a day will be demanded, to go into effect on August 1. Copies of an agreement to that effect have been sent to the employers for signature. The present scale is $4.50 a day. Steam fitters' helpers have given notice that they will demand a wage scale of $3 a day from August 1. Their present scale is $2.65 a day.

By a referendum vote of about four to one the members of the carpenters unions in Brooklyn this week rejected the arbitration decision of Justice Gaynor, notwithstanding that their Joint District Council had accepted it—and therefore the strike continues. Since June 5 all agreements between the masters and journeymen in the five branches employing carpenters have terminated, and at a meeting of the employers on Thursday of this week they decided, with the consent of the Board of Governors of the Building Trades Association, to man all idle jobs with such carpenters as may apply, and without regard to whether they be union men or not.

BUILDING NOTES

The Board of Education will employ consulting engineers to pass upon heating and ventilating installations to be made in public schools under the Bureau of Buildings.

The Board of Aldermen on Tuesday made appropriations for several park improvements, as follows: $590,000 for Manhattan and Richmond; $634,000 for Brooklyn and Queens, and $369,000 for the Bronx. And $750,000 was authorized for repaving streets.

The firm of Milliken Brothers have offices in London, Antwerp, Johannesburg, Cape Town, Havana, Mexico City, San Francisco, Portland and Honolulu. The concern has the following capitalization: Stock—Preferred, $3,000,000; common, $2,500,000. First mortgage convertible 6 per cent. 15-year sinking fund gold bonds, $3,000,000. The average profits for nine years have been $280,000. Last year the business cleared $450,000. The foregoing statements are made in connection with the offer of new bonds of the company.

Killing two birds with one stone had an engineering exemplification on Thursday when Terry & Tench removed the draw from the bridge over the ship canal and set it in the new Fordham bridge over the Harlem. So easily and skilfully was the job done that the magnitude of the thing was almost forgotten. On Friday a new draw, suitable for a link in the elevated section of the subway line, was moved into place. By these operations the city gets two new bridges, to make the West Bronx more accessible and desirable.

An Argument Against an Elevated Loop.

The plan of the Bridge Commission for connecting the Brooklyn and Williamsburgh bridges by means of an elevated loop through the East Side streets of Manhattan was considered by the Board of Estimate yesterday. Calvin Tomkins, of the Municipal Art Society, who appeared in opposition, said that the project must be considered as a part of the general transportation problem of Brooklyn, Manhattan and the Bronx. It cannot be intelligently considered separately. The reasons for opposition to additional elevated lines are obvious enough, but such general opposition should be associated with some constructive plan for bettering communication between lower Manhattan and the Bronx on the north, and lower Manhattan and Brooklyn on the east. Injurious as will be the local effect of additional street obstruction by elevated railways, a continuation of the present transit conditions will be still more injurious to the city.

An elevated loop such as proposed, Mr. Tomkins added, would be of great advantage to the B. R. T., since it would provide a continuous circuit through Brooklyn and Manhattan. "It would to some extent facilitate the distribution of passengers in Brooklyn and the passage of trains over the Brooklyn Bridge, and in this way would prove itself a public advantage. On the other hand, it would not conduct many passengers nearer to their destination in Manhattan, and no public advantage is to be secured by joining the bridges in contra-distinction to a policy of carrying the lines of the bridge traffic by a wide loop across the Island of Manhattan to the Hudson River, thus crossing all north and south avenues in that borough. The fact that new lines of transit across Manhattan will tend to eliminate the present two fare system and incite a demand for free transfers will naturally arouse the opposition of existing corporations. An elevated line from the Brooklyn Bridge north to the Williamsburgh Bridge would provide the best possible excuse for the continuation of such additional elevated tracks northerly along the East Side of Manhattan into the Bronx, and this consideration, doubtless, has much if not most to do with the persistency of the attempt to secure the elevated loop.

"Permanent relief can only be obtained by the construction of tunnels under the East River, which shall be extended as subways into Brooklyn and Manhattan and through which quick moving trains may be conducted. The city cannot begin too soon the construction of the three East River tunnels between lower Manhattan and Brooklyn proposed by the Rapid Transit Commission. It is not necessary that the precise routes of subway connections with these tunnels should be indicated, since the tunnels will require a longer time for construction than the subways, and since the annual charge upon the city for their construction will be comparatively small, there is no reason why the city should not promptly begin to build them. Every month's delay in this regard adds to the growing complications of the future. Once construction of the tunnels under the East River to Brooklyn and under the Harlem River to the Bronx shall be begun, the city will have clearly indicated its future policy of providing adequate facilities, and public opinion will then compel such a policy to be promptly and effectively followed up. From present indications New Jersey is likely to be provided with better means of access and egress to and from lower Manhattan than will be provided by the city for its own boroughs of the Bronx, Brooklyn and Queens. This fact should stimulate the enterprise of the city rather than arouse its jealousy.

"The difficulties, inconveniences and dangers of passenger transit between Brooklyn, the Bronx and lower Manhattan are the direct consequence of the failure of the city to think out and provide for its transportation problem in advance. In spite, however, of the exigencies of the time a temporary, inadequate and injurious plan should not be adopted by the city however strong may be the private influences in its favor."

Believes in Flatbush Property.

Mr. Hiram A. Lyons believes that as an income producer what he calls the Nostrand av section (between Malbone st and Flatbush av) will go ahead of the Flatbush av section in later years.

"A few years ago property on Nostrand av, from Lafayette av to Eastern parkway, was dead. To-day it is built up solidly and everything is at premium, and almost every private house has been altered over into store property. The same condition is going to be repeated along Nostrand av out to Flatbush av.

"The car service on Nostrand av I consider to be the best in Brooklyn. It is practically a straight line from Flatbush av to Delancey st. With the enormous influx of people to this borough

REINFORCED CONCRETE BUILDING—THE GRETCH FACTORY.
109 South 5th Street, Brooklyn. Turner Construction Co., Contractors.

In reinforced concrete work the concrete is reinforced or strengthened wherever there are tension or shearing stresses by imbedding steel bars in the concrete, and the two materials are so combined that each performs the duties for which it is the better and more economically adapted. This combination which governs other forms of construction, such as timber or of steel and concrete is subject to the same principles or laws structural steel. The strength of every beam, girder or column in a building is carefully calculated, and every detail of construction is as thoroughly considered as in structural steel work. The Gretch factory, at 109 South 5th st, Brooklyn, has a floor area of 9,000 sq. feet, and is six stories high. The illustration shows this building about sixty days after it was commenced. The photograph was taken Nov. 8, 1905, and the tenants moved in Jan. 1, 1906.

from all over the country, especially from Manhattan and the Bronx, the section will be built up solidly in a very few years. As an income producer, Nostrand av will go above Flatbush av.

"East and west of Flatbush av is a detached section with from three to five houses to the block; the Nostrand av district will be built up with two-family houses and apartments with from 20 to 50 families to the block.

"My opinion is that in the next 12 months lots on Nostrand av will sell for over $4,000. On the side streets and avenues from Nostrand av to Fortieth st, they will sell for over $2,000 a lot, and $1,000 a lot on the side streets, if Brooklyn gets what is due to her in the way of tunnels and subways, and I think there are certain interests which will see that she does."

New Advantages of Mortgage Investments.

The Title Guarantee & Trust Co. says that under the Mortgage Recording Tax law, mortgages have advantages as investments which they have never before enjoyed. This new legislation retains the benefits of the previous Mortgage Tax law and obviates its disadvantages. The tax imposed is one-half of one per cent., to be paid at the time mortgages are recorded, and not again at any time during their existence. They are exempt from taxation as personal property, and the danger of confiscation, or of usury defense, which existed under the old Mortgage Tax law, is no longer to be feared.

Heretofore mortgages have been liable either to high taxation as personal property, or, recently, to the drastic provisions of the Mortgage Tax law of 1905. As these objections are now eliminated, mortgages should prove even more popular with investors than in the past. They combine the advantages of greatest safety with a return not obtainable from other securities of as high standing.

—The Fairfield Realty Co., 500 5th av, offers for sale several exceptionally choice parcels in different sections of the city. These properties are fully described in another part of this issue, but it may be said in brief that for purposes both of investment and improvement many of them are well worth the careful consideration of brokers and their clients. Full particulars furnished by the Fairchild Realty Co.

—Register Frank Gass estimates the deficiency in the appropriation for the office of the Register of the County of New York, for the present year, at $40,000, and has asked the Board of Estimate to appropriate that sum. The amount required cannot be accurately determined in advance, for the reason that the expenses of the office are to a large extent governed by the number of real estate transactions. The clerks who record conveyances and other instruments are paid by the piece, and the more they have to do the greater is the demand upon the appropriation and the greater the income, too; but, of course, the income is not available for current expenditure.

REAL ESTATE NOTES

John L. Martin, president of the Varick Construction Co., died June 13 at his home, 115 East 31st st, of pneumonia.

Brody, Adler & Koch were the lessors of the property at 8 and 10 West 19th st and M. & L. Hess the brokers, reported in our last issue.

D. T. Cornell, of Stapleton, S. I., will sell at auction to-day 87 building lots at Mariners Harbor, S. I. The property formerly belonged to W. H. Vanderbilt.

The Title Guarantee & Trust Co. and the Bond and Mortgage Guarantee Co. have moved all departments from 146 Broadway to their new building, 176 Broadway, above Maiden lane.

An officer of a title company remarked this week that it was yet too early to anticipate the effect of the Mortgage Recording Tax Law, but he felt sure that capital would be attracted to real estate securities.

Mr. Kennelly was entirely successful with his auction of the Schieffelin (Williamsbridge) lots, disposing of the whole number, 325. For inside lots, in the blocks between Bronxwood and Paulding avs, the bids ranged from $900 to $1,000, and in the lots east of Paulding av $600 to $800.

The Interstate Paving Co. has been making very slow progress with the paving with asphalt block of White Plains av, from Morris st northward to the city line. Another important Bronx improvement is the paving with macadam of Westchester av, which is being pushed forward in two contracts.

Undercliff av, which winds along the east side of the Bronx, at the foot of University Heights, will in time be a choice residence section, but the lot market is not ready yet to pay prices which the owners wish. Parcels offered in the Exchange Sale-room on Monday by Mr. Wells were either bid in or withdrawn.

The annual outing and dinner of the House and Real Estate Owners' Association will take place on Thursday, June 21, at Donnelly's Pavilion, College Point, L. I. The following committees have been appointed: Reception, Geo. G. Banzer (President); Arrangements, Geo. H. Beck, chairman; Floor, Wm. H. Mehlich; Bowling, Edw. Engel; Children's Games, A. G. Muhler; Press, Chas. H. Schnelle. Entertainments of various forms will be provided for, such as dancing, prize bowling and a match game by the newly organized Realty Bowling Club, composed of Yorkville real estate brokers and operators.

CONVEYANCES

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street or avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th.—A $20,000—$30,000 indicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only, and the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before second figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction.

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows; The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as headlines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

June 7, 8, 9, 11, 12, 13 and 14.

JUDGMENTS.

In these lists of Judgments the names alphabetically arranged and which are first on each line, are those of the judgment debtor. The letter (D) means judgment for deficiency. (*) means not summoned. (†) signifies that the first name is fictitious, real name being unknown. Judgments entered during the week and satisfied before day of publication, do not appear in this column, but in list of Satisfied Judgments. The judgments filed against corporations, etc., will be found at the end of the list.

THIS week the stock market had a bad spell, and it must be said that prices went down easily, and that Wall street had an unusual attack of nerves. Reports from the large commission houses disclose a comparatively small bull account, while if only a tithe of those talking lower prices are acting on their predictions, there must be a fair short interest in the market. The rank and file bull operators, including the class designated as the public, are greatly discouraged and complain that Wall street is a new game, as played at present, and that the system permits nobody to make any money. Stocks go up on facts that should cause them to decline, and vice versa. Baltimore & Ohio, which has been advancing for two weeks, increased its rate of dividend from 5 to 6 per cent., while Pennsylvania Railroad, which controls Baltimore & Ohio, has been all the time declining. Many Baltimore & Ohio holders sold out when the stock reached 112, and shifted to Pennsylvania at 135 only to see the former go to 118, while the latter fell to 129½. These contrary actions are characteristic of the whole market. Advance information or intelligent forecasts of events are to be shunned in these days. They seem to be too expensive, even for the very rich. The only operators who are making any money are those who consistently sell the market on every jump and buy it on every slump, irrespective of the current news at the time. All recent crop news from the West has been favorable, and the advance in grain this week has been caused by a less favorable crop outlook in Germany and France.

SHOULD there be a partial crop failure on the Continent of Europe it might, taken together with the advent of France in financing American railroad loans, have an important bearing on our money market this autumn and give us the long-looked-for boom in railroad securities. There has been a slight improvement in the Russian situation during the week, in spite of disquieting events in that country. Time makes for its betterment, because people get tired of turmoil. It comes too high. The general market outlook cannot be regarded as unfavorable with the constant accession to the dividend ranks of certain stocks. American Locomotive announced this week its initial dividend on the common stock, and Corn Products Refining Company also declared a first dividend. A statistical authority recently collated the earnings of sixteen American railways and ascertained that ten are earning more than fifty million dollars a year and six more than between forty and fifty million dollars. These sixteen roads earned in 1900 $670,561,000 and in 1905 $1,046,394,000. It is but fair to predict that in 1906 they will earn ten per cent additional. Notwithstanding all this, it is probable that a comparison would show that the average market price of the shares of the sixteen companies in question is less to-day than in the winter of 1900-01. It is not, therefore, surprising that operators in railway stocks are discouraged and that things have reached a pass where good news or a dividend increase is actually dreaded by those who are long of the market.

THE CORPORATION COUNSEL, acting under Mayor McClellan's direction, has done well to bring once more before the public the whole question of the stoop line on Fifth avenue. The Record and Guide has frequently stated the reasons which make it desirable that the city should rescind the permits under which the owners of private property on Fifth avenue have been allowed to extend their stoops beyond the building line; but it may be well to state these reasons once again. When these permits were issued, the encroachments on public property did not interfere with any public interest. Fifth avenue at that time was a thoroughfare devoted exclusively to residences, and its existing carriage-way was abundantly wide enough to accommodate all the traffic which would naturally seek its use. Of late, however, these conditions have entirely changed. The avenue from Fourteenth street to Forty-eighth street has become a business thoroughfare, and the character of its business is such as to appeal particularly to people who use carriages to do their shopping. It so happened that Fifth avenue is also the only longitudinal thoroughfare north of Astor place that is entirely free from trolley cars, so that it is the favorite route for people who are driving up and downtown. The consequence is that on winter afternoons it is thronged with carriages. It does not provide enough room for all the vehicles whose drivers are tempted to use it, and wherever this dense stream of traffic meets a volume stream of cross-town traffic, as at Forty-second and Thirty-fourth streets, the congestion is acute. The only sufficient remedy for this congestion is the widening of the carriage-way; and the only way to effect this widening is to revoke the permits for stoops and insist that the owners of private property cease to occupy public property to the disadvantage of the public. When once the stoops are abolished, the sidewalks will be much wider than is necessary for pedestrian traffic, and the carriage-way can be increased by at least ten feet on either side. Moreover, these permits can be revoked with comparatively little hardship. The great majority of the stoops have already disappeared, owing to the conversion of private residences into business buildings; and the owners of the few encroachments that remain can easily afford to withdraw from the occupation of part of the sidewalks. These owners have benefited enormously during the past five years because of the growing business importance of Fifth avenue. Their property has more than doubled in value, and they should be willing, if necessary, to spend a small fraction of this increase for the purpose of making the avenue more useful for the kind of business which has such a great source of profit to them. Moreover, they would be reimbursed for any money which they might be obliged to expend by the increased value of their property. The prosperity of Fifth avenue depends upon the adequacy of the facilities which it offers to rich people who travel to and from its shops in carriages; and any widening of the carriage-way which relieved the existing vehicular congestion would improve business on the avenue and enable property-owners in the course of time to charge higher rents.

ORDINARILY building mechanics should be putting forth their largest measure of product at this stage of the season. The busiest part of the year when there are no hindrances or discouragements begins about this time. Other months may be more favorable to certain branches, but for the fundamental trades the hour for the highest application should be striking now. And this present season should prove to be the busiest in the history of New York. In projects it is quite as prolific and rich thus far as was the season of 1905 in the corresponding months, but in actual work done, and in money put out, it is not yet equaling the previous season. Thus, the estimated cost of new buildings and alterations projected in Manhattan and the Bronx, from the first of this year up to and including June 15, exceeded $95,000,000, compared with $79,000,000 for the corresponding period of 1905. In number of new buildings planned, this season's record in Manhattan falls only about one hundred short, but in the Bronx it is nine greater, according to the statistics at hand. Projected buildings in Brooklyn borough number thus far 3,497, and are valued at $24,194,000, against 3,623, of the value of $25,784,000, for the similar period in 1905. These figures may be interpreted as meaning in the case of Manhattan that the buildings planned for, while fewer in number, are of a higher quality than was the case last year; that in the Bronx they mean more dwellings and fewer tenement houses, and in Brooklyn only a slight diminution in number and general quality. With all these plans for construction there should be an immense outflow of money, at least equalling the current of last year; but it is noticed from the statistics regularly published in the Record and Guide that two thousand fewer mortgages have been filed this year in Manhattan, and sixteen hundred less in the Bronx; and that in Manhattan and the Bronx together the amount of money loaned on mortgages is $112,000,000 (or 35 per cent.) less than in the corresponding period of 1905. In Brooklyn about $23,000,000, (or 25 per cent.) less has been loaned, as shown by the filings in the Register's office. This diminished flow of money corresponds to and represents very closely the extent of the falling off in both real estate transactions and building operations from what ought to be the normal business, and can be attributed in a very large degree to the mortgage enactment of the last Legislature, which in business practice operates to discourage the borrowing of money until after the first of July, when the existing Annual Mortgage Tax law will expire and a simple Recording Tax law will be in force. Not only is the effect of the temporary slackening in building operations visible in the record of mortgage filings—and in the reduced stream of money going into real estate and building—but it is also apparent in the material market. In a number of lines (including common brick, spruce and yellow pine) there has been an accumulation of material beyond what the market required, and in some instances a curtailment of product, or a withholding of shipments, has been advised for the trade. The most observed and, by the consumers, the most appreciated effect thus far has been a decided fall in the prices of common brick. It is as if a dam were holding back a great accumulation of business; but as this hindrance to free circulation is confidently expected to be removed in a short time, there has not been such a readjustment of things as such a loss of activity would compel if it were a permanent condition.

The Real Estate Outlook.

A GENERAL opinion now prevails among real estate brokers and operators in Manhattan that the great real estate movement which began in 1901 has culminated, and that the next few years will be a period of more moderate activity and of fewer increases in value. This opinion is not without its justification. The activity of the current year continues, indeed, to be phenomenal. Up to date, the total number of conveyances of real estate in Manhattan which have been recorded is somewhat larger than it was last year, and the total number of Brooklyn conveyances is considerably larger. On the other hand, there has been an equally substantial diminution of the real estate business transacted in the Bronx. But the significance of these figures is not contained in their totals; it is contained rather in the fact that the tendency towards a diminution in activity becomes more manifest as the season advances. Thus, during the early months the records indicated that the totals for 1906 would exceed the extraordinarily large totals for 1905, but as the spring passed into the summer the increases were not maintained. During the past five weeks there have been 2,386 conveyances of Manhattan property recorded, against 2,587 for the corresponding period in 1905; and the indication, consequently, is that the last six months of the current year will be marked by a continual diminution in the volume of real estate activity. There is no reason to suppose that the diminution will be large and that the reaction will be sharp, but there is every reason to believe that we have crossed the summit of the existing movement and that hereafter we shall for a while be traveling down hill rather than up hill.

Such being the outlook, the question naturally arises whether the diminishing activity will disclose any weak places in the fortress of real estate values, and we believe that it can be answered emphatically that so far as Manhattan is concerned prices will be held without embarrassment very much at their existing level. This is certainly true, so far as concerns the whole section of Manhattan Island south of Fifty-ninth street. The great advance in prices which has been taking place in the business districts and in the tenement districts downtown has been fully justified by increased value of the property for good business purposes. Prices, indeed, have not, on the whole, been increasing any more than has the actual yield of the property in rents, and profitable improvements have followed hard upon speculative advances. Every economic change that has been brought about during the past five years has contributed to the substantial value of all centrally situated property in Manhattan. The only parts of the borough in which any weakness may develop would be in one of the newer sections. On the upper East Side and on Washington Heights the building of new tenement houses has for the time being outrun the demand for such habitations, and it may well be that some weakness will be developed in these districts. It is wholly improbable, however, that the condition will become anything like as bad as it was in 1900 in certain parts of the Harlem and the West Side. The upper East Side is the only section of Manhattan in which the cheapest class of tenements can still be erected, and it does not contain at the present time a very large amount of unoccupied space. The pressure of population on this space is so constant and heavy that a diminution of building for one year would be sufficient to remedy the effects of past over-construction. As for Washington Heights, the same saving conditions can be asserted of that section. Of course every new part of the city must pass through a period in which landlords have to tempt tenants to leave their accustomed habitations; but just as the upper East Side is practically the only area in Manhattan available for the cheaper class of tenements, so Washington Heights is the only area in which a large amount of vacant land is available for a better class of apartments. Some money may be lost in carrying unimproved property at present prices over the next few years, but these prices are justified by the character of the buildings now being erected on Washington Heights and the character of the inhabitants which are occupying them. The Heights will be built over and occupied much more quickly than the West Side was, because there will be no other competing district in Manhattan.

The Record and Guide does not believe, consequently, that a diminution in real estate business will disclose any more than a temporary weakness on any part of Manhattan Island. In the outlying boroughs the case is different, because the speculation has been concerned so largely with vacant land, and because it has not been controlled to the same extent by cautious professional knowledge. In Brooklyn, Queens, and to a certain extent in the Bronx, the recent advances in values have been brought about by the purchases of small investors and speculators, and this class of buyer lacks both the patience and the resources of the professional speculator. When the outlook becomes less bright he is more likely to get scared and throw over his purchases at a sacrifice. It remains to be seen whether such will be the effect of a diminishing activity on real estate in the outlying boroughs, and it is entirely possible that even in these sections the decline in speculation will not be followed by any severe or disastrous consequences. The whole movement has been based upon the substantial fact of a very much improved transit service, and if the speculative buyers can hold on until some of the new bridges and tunnels are in actual operation they may well make money instead of losing it.

The Builder's Complaint.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

When I look back to the good old days when men worked, and compare the conditions as at present existing, I feel that notwithstanding what some say about the benefits of unionism, the detrimental effect of organization upon labor is very great.

Thirty years ago a bricklayer was ambitious to become a lineman; it was the builder's custom to pick out his best men and put them on each end of the wall: they were in charge of the line; as soon as they had laid up the ends, they called "line" and raised the line for the next course. The men in between were compelled to work at a speed set by the line men, and failing to keep up with them, were considered less worthy and were retained only as long as was absolutely necessary. The men who were able to keep up with the line men were most steadily employed.

A builder watching his men at work was enabled in a few minutes to figure how many brick could or would be laid in an hour, and by using the same line men on his work he had a good idea of the result in advance, as far as his labor was concerned. These line men did not work at their top speed, but assumed a steady gait and expected the others to keep up with them. The men in between were ambitious to become line men, and the net result was a steady, conscientious amount of work, which to-day is absolutely unknown.

A man who laid 3,000 brick a day was not an unusual man, and there are some men in the building business still who tell of 4,000 to 4,500 brick for ten hours. To-day 800 brick in eight hours is considered an average day's work.

What has caused this condition? Men are just as strong as they were; men are just as intelligent as formerly, but a rule of the bricklayers' union has come between the ambitious man and his employer. If the line man calls "line up" before the other members of his union on the wall are ready he is reported to the union and fined $25 for the first offense and $100 for further violation of this union regulation. In other words, the slowest man sets the pace for all the others because he is a member of the union and must be protected in his laziness and indolence.

What incentive is there for a man to be better or more competent than another, when he is threatened with losing a week's pay if he does not keep down his speed?

A builder can employ only members of the union, and in busy times there are not enough men of any kind to do the work, to say nothing of their competency. Apprenticeship is limited and the supply of mechanics in every line is decreasing in direct proportion to the increase of the amount of work to be done. Something is certainly wrong; wages are increasing, hours are decreasing, the amount of work to be done is multiplying many fold, and, to cap the climax, the union limits the amount of work a man may do.

Formerly a good man was paid more than an inferior man; the good man saved some of his surplus earnings and eventually started in business for himself. To-day the statement is heard on every side that the mechanic cannot advance the way he did in the olden days; that once a mechanic always a mechanic; simply because a good mechanic is as poor a mechanic as the poorest; they are brothers in the union, and the union comes first, ahead of ambition, ahead of conscience, and almost invariably ahead of the family.

A BUILDER OF '76.

The Outlook for Rapid Transit.

"The Lexington av and the 7th av subways, with their extensions in the Bronx, would supply the additional means of communication most immediately necessary at the present time."

Editor Record and Guide:

Dear Sir: As I understand it, the plan referred to in your issue of 16th, under the head of "The Outlook for Rapid Transit," an extract from which is given above, is to build down Seventh avenue and up Lexington from Forty-second street; just how this plan will help the Bronx is by no means clear; that portion of the Bronx that lies in the vicinity of what would be an extension of Lexington avenue, is, it seems, quite well provided with facilities for rapid transit now; whereas the district west of what is known as the old Harlem Steam R. R. has no facilities at all, except the Huckelberry on Jerome avenue, with a car "now and then."

Respectfully,

AN OLD GUIDE READER OF 25 YEARS.

New York, June 20, 1906.

As will be perceived clearly by a reference to the Record and Guide of May 26 (page 993) in which is given a description of each one of the approved nineteen subway systems, both the Lexington avenue line and the Seventh avenue will run under the Harlem to a connection with a subway to be built up Jerome avenue to Woodlawn road.

And, we take it, this is precisely what our long-time friend wishes. It is, indeed, unfortunate that such an inviting residential section should have had to wait this long for suitable transportation facilities. But we can assure our esteemed correspondent that the time is not very far distant when there will be a railroad up the beautiful valley to which he refers along which the "huckelberries" will not thrive, nor would there be time for passengers to get off and pick any.

Passengers of a morning on their way to business, from Mount Hope, University Heights, Fordham, Van Courtlandt Park and the delightful lands beyond, will be swiftly carried by this new underground track, that is to be constructed almost concurrently with the other two, to 164th street, whence trains, will alternately turn into two branches, one of which will come to a junction with an arm of the Lexington road at 156th street, and the other to a connection with the Seventh (and Eighth) avenue line.

With the available connections to the existing subways, these new lines of approach will make the Jerome avenue section one of the most accessible from any part of Manhattan; and all for a five-cent fare. The plans are eminently satisfactory, but their execution has been discouragingly slow.

Bad Mortar Caused San Francisco Fire.

THEODORE STARRETT, HOME FROM THE COAST, SUPPORTS THE VIEW OF THE JAPANESE PROFESSOR OF ARCHITECTURE.

Mr. Theodore Starrett, president of the Thompson-Starrett Company (building construction), has returned from a business visit of several weeks to San Francisco. Yesterday at his office, 51 Wall st, he was interrogated by the Record and Guide as to conditions in the stricken city, his attention being particularly called to some remarks of Dr. T. Nakamura, professor of architecture in the Imperial University of Tokio, in regard to the character of the building construction.

Dr. Nakamura was a member of a committee despatched by the Japanese government to investigate the effects of the earthquake and fire, and he is reported to have remarked that "dishonest mortar" and faulty construction were responsible for much of the demolition at San Francisco.

"Bad mortar was probably the cause of the San Francisco fire," was Mr. Starrett's comment. He added:

"That little, simple thing called mortar in the brick work of the chimneys of San Francisco is what probably caused the conflagration. Dr. Nakamura said aright. He called it 'dishonest mortar,' and maybe it was. Maybe it was simply ignorant mortar, but from accounts of intelligent observers who passed through the experience, the fire was started in a hundred places throughout the city through defective flues.

"San Francisco has, in its newer buildings, some examples of fine mortar, too. There is quite a fad out there of building cheap frame buildings with a brick veneer for the lower stories and plaster work above. Some of these houses are really pretty and were designed by good architects. They have brick area and garden walls with brick copings all laid in Portland cement mortar. Such buildings came through uninjured, even as to the chimneys.

"Everybody knows that in the important buildings in New York, Portland cement mortar is used in brick work, which so firmly attaches the bricks to each other that when it comes to tearing them down the brick wall is a homogeneous mass, the mortar being stronger than the brick. Such mortar is the only kind that should ever be allowed in a building."

Tax Rates for 1906.

A preliminary statement from the Mayor, based on information from the Board of Tax Commissioners, gives the tax rates in the various boroughs for the year 1906, compared to the rates in 1905.

	1905.	1906.	Reduction.

Queens County .....	1.55523	1.54829	.00694
Richmond County .....	1.55821	1.55324	.00497

The Tax Commissioners have charged off the books about one hundred and twenty-three million in uncollectible personal taxes, thus putting the city's finances on a sounder basis than they have been for many years. The following table shows by boroughs the assessed valuation of real and personal property for purposes of taxation in the city of New York for 1905 and 1906, and the increase or decrease:

Total personal estate, 1906.....				567,662,990
Total assessed valuation of real and personal estates, 1906.....				$6,306,150,235
Total assessed valuation of real and personal estates, 1905....				5,912,144,227
Increase.....				$394,006,003

The total increase in the assessed valuations of real estate for purposes of taxation in the year 1906 over 1905 amounts to $516,904,944. This increase will add $51,690,494.40 to the borrowing capacity of the city. The Mayor further says:

The total reduction in the assessed valuation of personal property for 1906, as compared with 1905, amounts to $122,898,936. This reduction is due to the following causes:

(a) Owing to a decision of the courts that unearned premiums of insurance companies, although invested in non-taxable bonds and stock, are not taxable, notwithstanding the contention of the tax commissioners that such exemption results in a double exemption of the same element and decisions of the courts affecting the liability of gas companies with regard to personal taxes, the city loses in valuations in personal property this year about $65,000,000.

(b) Owing to the Mortgage Tax law there has been a further loss this year of about $25,000,000 in the assessed valuations of personal property of estates and individuals.

(c) In furtherance of my policy to place the finances of the city of New York upon an absolutely sound basis, I have directed the Commissioners of Taxes and Assessments to eliminate from the tax rolls for the year 1906 the names of certain resident and non-resident individuals appearing upon the tax rolls for several years past, and against whom personal tax valuations have been assessed amounting in the aggregate to $72,903,916. Official notices of the assessments mailed to these persons in 1903, 1904, 1905 and 1906 were returned undelivered by the post office authorities.

An examination of the records of the Receiver of Taxes shows that these individuals have made no payments of the personal taxes imposed against them in said years, and that the collection of the taxes so imposed is not enforceable. To continue to carry these names upon the tax rolls of the city would be adding annually more than $1,000,000 to the large amount of uncollectible personal taxes now carried on the books of the city.

These items of losses in assessed valuation of personal property, and allowing for gains in other directions, result in a net loss, as shown above, of $122,898,936.

The Legislature just adjourned passed a law which enables the city to retire from its list of assets, so called, an item of $33,000,000 which appears to the city's credit as taxes due on assessments for personal property. The commission appointed by the Mayor, of which Edgar A. Levy, former Deputy Controller, is chairman, suggested the law as one way to make the city's books show an honest balance.

Industrial Development of Staten Island

The Kill von Kull to be the "American Clyde"—Heavy Purchases of Real Estate in All Parts of the Island

THE harbor of New York, as the Atlantic gateway for American commerce, is attracting the attention of the commercial world of two continents, resulting in gigantic improvements calculated to care for the constantly growing trade. One of the most important sections of the harbor of New York is the Kill von Kull—extending from the upper bay of New York near the Narrows, to Newark Bay and the Staten Island Sound or Arthur Kill. The commercial statistics for 1905 show that the freight carried over this important water way during the year was valued at to exceed three hundred million dollars.

Its many advantages as a navigable stream of great importance, and its close proximity to the centre of shipping in New York harbor, have resulted in the establishment of numerous industries, both on the New Jersey and the Staten Island shores, until the shipping and industrial interests of the port of New York recognize the Kill von Kull as a section of prime importance. On the New Jersey side of the Kill von Kull the extensive establishments of the Standard Oil Company, the Orford Copper Company, the Pacific Borax Company and numerous other industries have given this section an established reputation. On the Staten Island shore, special mention should be made of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad terminals at St. George, the Consolidation Coal Company's coal docks, at which over 3,000 tons of coal are daily transhipped into barges and vessels, the J. B. King & Company Plaster Mills at New Brighton, employing over 300 hands, the Old Staten Island Dyeing Establishment at West New Brighton, the C. W. Hunt Coal Handling Machinery Works at West New Brighton, the National Lead Company's Works at Port Richmond, the American Linseed Oil Company Works at Port Richmond, the Standard Varnish Works at Port Richmond, the Hecker-Jones-Jewell Flour Mill at Mariners' Harbor and Milliken Brothers Structural Iron Works and Rolling Mills.

It is as a shipbuilding centre, however, that the Kill von Kull commands more special attention. With a wide channel, varying in depth from 25 to 40 feet, protected against the severe storms of winter, free from ice, and available for ocean-going vessels at all seasons of the year and under all conditions of tide, the Kill von Kull is particularly adapted for shipbuilding, dry-docks, marine railways and other enterprises and industries necessary for the construction and repair of ocean, river and canal crafts of every kind. In recognition of these advantages, a large number of shipbuilding and ship-repairing works, machine shops, dry-docks, etc., have been established.

Mr. Wm. J. Burlee, the well-known shipbuilder of Port Richmond, on the occasion of a dinner given in honor of the shipbuilders of Staten Island by the undersigned a few years ago very appropriately christened the Kill von Kull "the American Clyde," and those familiar with commercial and industrial conditions in New York harbor agree that the past development and the present growth of these industries justify the prophetic saying of this pioneer of shipbuilding on the Kill von Kull, who, in 1888, started with 15 men, and to-day employs over 1,000.

Aside from the natural and commercial advantages enumerated, it should be borne in mind that the Staten Island Rapid Transit Railroad, now controlled and managed by the Pennsylvania Railroad, runs along the whole water front of the Kill von Kull, connecting via the great Arthur Kill Bridge with all the trunk lines centering on New York harbor, thus offering excellent railroad shipping facilities, and so making possible the commercial desideratum, a place where goods can be received by water, stored, and shipped by rail, or vice versa, a condition which can be found nowhere else in New York City.

As will readily be understood, the shipping, commercial and industrial development of the Staten Island water front has been the distinguishing feature of the real estate market.

A large number of water fronts have been sold during the last two years at advancing prices, and the remaining properties are being absorbed rapidly by investors and for actual and immediate improvement.

The effect of this industrial development has, of course, been felt to the great advantage of the real estate market of the whole island, and of course more particularly in the neighborhood of the north shore. In addition to this very pronounced feature of the real estate development on Staten Island, the establishment of the new municipal ferry between the Battery and St. George with the contemplated additional ferry service between the battery and Port Richmond on the north shore, and the Battery and Stapleton on the east shore, has resulted in drawing the attention of the advantages of the Borough of Richmond to investors in Manhattan, Brooklyn and the Bronx, and heavy purchases have recently been made in all parts of the island by both speculators and those actually engaged in the business of developing property.

Further reference to this feature of the market may be made in future issues of this paper, as the present development of the Borough of Richmond has assumed an importance great enough not only to invite but to command the attention of those interested in an active real estate market in all boroughs of the great city.

CORNELIUS G. KOLFF.

"South New York."

Wood, Harmon & Co. have taken hold of the Staten Island proposition, and the move is attracting much attention because of the uniform success of the firm's ventures. Speaking of the matter this week, Mr. Harmon said:

"During a campaign that lasted seven years we have sold some fifteen thousand lots in Brooklyn. We predicted that prices would advance, and they did. The rise in prices became so marked, and was proceeding so fast that we withdrew all our Brooklyn holdings from the market, believing that within a comparatively short time we can get two or three times the prices prevailing to-day. While we have been operating in Brooklyn we have been keeping a close watch marketwise on all portions of the surrounding territory.

"The Bronx movement represents mainly the traditional tendency of New York to grow north, a tendency created in its incipency entirely by geographical conditions and an entire lack of rapid transit, supplemented later by the fact that the only rapid transit led northward.

"In Queens land values grew enormously over night.

"There was one location in New York City where values had not increased to any appreciable degree in thirty years, and that was Staten Island. We have watched this location with the greatest interests for several years. While land values were far lower than in Brooklyn when we purchased, yet there were two things which deterred us from buying—one was the question of transportation, the other the area of lands in Queens County and Brooklyn which until recently could have been sold in competition.

"Within the last year the finest system of municipal ferries in the world has been introduced between Staten Island and Manhattan, and within almost that time alone values in Brooklyn and Queens have doubled and quadrupled, placing every lot accessible to the wage earner from the point of view of transportation out of his reach. Still Staten Island remained dormant. Last fall we concluded that the time was ripe. Since then we have purchased thirty-one tracts of land, aggregating 1,500 acres, and now we are about to begin the same campaign of development which we began in Brooklyn and which has been followed throughout Brooklyn and throughout Queens.

Loop Plan is Popular.

Many believe with Commissioner Stevenson that in order to avoid the crowding at the Brooklyn bridge the rapid transit lines from Brooklyn should return by some other route, and so form a loop in Manhattan with several stations, and distribute passengers at points beyond the existing bridge terminals to relieve the congestion at those places. This idea is carried out in the proposition of the Rapid Transit Commission to construct subways between the Williamsburgh and Manhattan bridges through Centre st, returning by the Brooklyn bridge or by a tunnel from Old Slip in Manhattan to Montague st in Brooklyn. By such a loop the rapid transit cars in the Eastern District of Brooklyn could reach downtown sections in Manhattan and return to Brooklyn over the Brooklyn bridge or through the Old Slip tunnel. This subway loop when completed would form a good line for the distribution of Brooklyn passengers on the east side of Manhattan, but a number of years will be required to carry out such a plan, and the cry of the city is for immediate relief.

Unfortunately for the recommendation to form an elevated loop between the two existing bridges the traffic to be provided for originates mostly in Manhattan south of the old bridge. The loop could not serve this section. But for all north of that it would be of inestimable benefit. The Third Avenue line of the Manhattan Elevated Road readily suggests itself for a connection between the two bridges as far as Delancey street on the Bowery, and Delancey street has recently been widened for the express purpose of giving improved access to the bridge. Park row and the lower Bowery were long ago converted into elevated railway streets, on which the people have become accustomed to the operation of the railways, and three important stations, at Chatham sq, Canal and Grand sts, now exist on this route. Why, then, as Commissioner Stevenson asked, should not this route be utilized for bridge connecting purposes; why should not the Manhattan Railway Co. be allowed to construct a second story for this portion of its structure, over which the Brooklyn trains could be run continuously from the Brooklyn bridge to Delancey st and in Delancey st over a new structure, which the city could build to the Williamsburgh bridge? The answers to this question were fully presented at the meeting of the Board of Estimate last week, and they seemed to be overwhelmed by the reasons and appeals of the other side. The general policy of not extending elevated structures is esthetically and prospectively sound, but it is maintained that the city cannot wait for subways and must have temporary relief, and that quickly.

Commissioner of Bridges Stevenson says that on such a circulating loop system, extending far into Brooklyn and a limited distance into Manhattan, people could be carried over the river with greater comfort and convenience than is now attainable. A loop in Manhattan would bring into immediate and efficient service two long loops into Brooklyn, and the trains on these loops would be able to carry many more passengers with greater comfort; and this result can be secured by the construction of about half a mile of new elevated railway in Delancey st and the double decking of about a mile of the 3d av line in Manhattan. The Commissioner adds:

"Just as soon as the subway loops into or through this district are constructed the necessity for a connection of the elevated railways in Manhattan will cease, and the connection now proposed can be removed, especially if the subway routes provide adequately for the same or a better service than that now suggested for the elevated railways, and they ought easily to do this within a reasonable period.

"Although undoubtedly far more desirable in many respects, subways cannot be built rapidly through the busy sections of the city, as on Fulton st in Brooklyn, and the Bowery in Manhattan, and they are unquestionably far more costly to construct. There is no good reason why both systems should not be used for this connection between the Williamsburgh and Brooklyn bridges in Manhattan; the elevated for immediate, economical and temporary relief of the serious situation now confronting us, and the subway for the future permanent development of the service.

"Briefly, an elevated railway connection between the Williamsburgh and Brooklyn bridges can be constructed in half the time and at less than half the cost of a subway connection. It will at once put in operation a complete loop system through a portion of lower Manhattan and extending far into Brooklyn, and in doing this it will aid the development of the subway and facilitate its construction.

"In proposing this elevated loop connection, as I stated recently in Brooklyn, I do not want to be considered an advocate of further elevated railroad extension. Every man who has studied present conditions must realize that New York will not tolerate any further disfigurement of its streets, except in an emergency, and then only until the emergency can be otherwise overcome.

"The situation we have to meet now is such an emergency. We all know that the Brooklyn bridge, however its terminal facilities may be improved to make travel more comfortable, cannot be expected to carry many more passengers than it does now. On the other hand, the Williamsburgh bridge is a giant doing the work of a dwarf. It is carrying 125,000 passengers daily, whereas it ought to carry 600,000. The Brooklyn bridge is carrying 325,000 passengers daily.

"I have not the fear of some—that a temporary elevated structure would never be removed. Every day we see big buildings being torn down to make way for bigger ones. The Plaza Hotel is a recent example. New York is no more afraid to destroy than it is to build on a gigantic scale. This road, being owned by the city, would come down when the need for it no longer existed—a result which can safely be left to the temper of the taxpayers when that time is reached. And do not forget, too, that the betterment of transportation facilities across the East River will be a boon to the East Side, as well as to those living on the other side of the river. It means the opening of a quick route to the seaside at all hours of the day, and would insure the creation of an ocean park."

Brooklyn property interests are as one in asking for the improvement, or any that will modify conditions at the Manhattan terminal, now almost intolerable.

The Jersey Shore.

Appreciation for the Jersey suburbs is exceptionally marked this season, and the stir in building and real estate interests there is of a degree corresponding to what is going on in the outskirts of Brooklyn. It is very remarkable in some localities, as at Ridgefield Park, on the Hackensack River. Here is a village which had last year about three thousand population, and this year so far is erecting one hundred dwellings, which is a great number for such a small community. Nearly all are detached, and represent in a very large degree the taste and efforts of the owners rather than of speculative builders.

For the most part the houses are being erected on new streets, as yet uncurbed and unshaded, and those parts have not the inviting aspect which time alone can give, and which the neighboring village of Bogota possess already. Here is an ideal home site sometimes referred to as "East Hackensack," built close to the edge of the river and on the sloping high ground, between two steam railways, on which the commutation fare to New York is only $5.25 monthly.

Bogota has beautiful trees and wide lawns, and an air of quiet refinement. For one small cottage on the shore front, with stable and grounds, a rental of $50 a month is asked, and for a cottage on Larch av, having a plot 47x185, the sum of $5,500 is expected. For the vacant plot of the same size adjoining, $1,200 is quoted as the price the owner will sell for. Half a dozen cottages of good quality were erected in the village last year, but none are rising at the present time.

Some years ago a double-tracked trolley line was constructed through Bogota eastward over the Palisades to Edgewater, a trolley on which the cars run with the speed of steam trains, and by which one may make a very quick journey to upper Manhattan, crossing on the ferry to 130th st. New boats were put on this line two years ago, and it is one of the most interesting lines of travel across the Hudson. From Edgewater cars run diagonally up the mountain side, pass on the summit though the new Palisade Park, which is kept by the State, and also through the new settlements known as "Grantwood" and "Palisade." Farther westward, on the western slope of the mountain, where the country is very lovely and the views far extending, is the tract of the Leonia Land Company. The fare is 15 cents from Manhattan, with no commutation by this route, but the commutation rate on the steam cars is lower.

All this country along the West Shore Railroad, the New York and New Jersey Railroad, and the Susquehanna is certain to have a most agreeable population resulting from the construction of the Hudson River tunnels. It is decidedly a handsomer region than the Jersey City Heights, and the mosquito is only a little troublesome. The fear of this pest, together with the inconvenience of traveling, has operated against the territory in the past, but even with the existing means of travel it is very inviting, and is said to respond very cordially to the desire for a pleasant home.

A closing fact: More than 2,000 houses are in course of erection at the present time in the prospective rapid transit zone of Northern New Jersey.

$1,000,000 Sale at Garden City.

Six hundred acres at Garden City has been purchased by a syndicate headed by Timothy L. Woodruff, Ernestus Gullick and others from the corporation that succeeded to the holdings of the late A. T. Stewart. The sale involves about $1,000,000 and the property taken over has always been regarded as ranking with the finest in the vicinity of Manhattan.

Representatives of A. T. Stewart and later of the Garden City Improvement Company, which succeeded to the Stewart holdings, did much in the past to beautify the property that has just passed into new hands. The land will be managed by a corporation recently formed under the name of the Garden City Security Company, in which former Lieutenant Governor Woodruff is understood to be the largest shareholder. There are more than 10,000 ordinary lots involved in the sale.

BUILDING NOTES

Big talk does not convince or even interest men accustomed to verifying statements.

Architect Henry A. Koelble, formerly of 103 East 125th st, has moved his offices to 71-73 Nassau st.

McDougall Hawkes, lawyer, 32 Nassau st, is chairman of the committee appointed by the governors of New York and New Jersey to consider the building of a bridge across the Hudson River, in the vicinity of 130th st. Public hearings are to be held.

The plot of 150 ft. on the south side of 116th st, between Riverside Drive and Broadway, facing the proposed park, recently sold by Samuel McMillan, formerly president of the Park Board, is to be improved by a 12-sty apartment building. The price paid for the property is a little over $150,000.

Two new Westinghouse turbine engines are to be installed at the Williamsburgh Bridge power station of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Co., making a total of four engines of that type, as two are already in operation there. These engines generate 7,500 kilowatts apiece, a total of nearly 45,000 horse power for the four engines.

The mason work on the new Astor Theatre at 45th st and Broadway has just been completed, and the contractor, Thomas D. Connors, is satisfied that it is a good specimen of his work, as also is the 6-sty factory building at 79 Barrow st, erected for W. W. Conley. Mr. Connors is well known in his line, and many architects seek his estimates where substantial work is called for.

The new Knickerbocker Hotel is now progressing steadily. J. Wall Finn has the contract for all interior painting, decoration and mural work. The rubbed enamel effect they are producing with Rippon Semi-Gloss Enamel probably surpasses any hotel woodwork seen in this country. Twelve hundred gallons of Rippon were also used in the Hotel Gotham on composition trim and fireproof wood. J. A. & W. Bird & Co., 31 Union sq, New York City, are the sole agents.

Statistics just issued in a bulletin by the Government at Washington show that the total number of building permits issued in the United States during the past year was 184,416, and the amount invested was $640,555,641. This is a considerable gain in building operations over the previous year, as the number of permits given in 1904 was 139,373, and the cost of the buildings erected was $466,699,710. In the year 1905 more than ten and a half per cent. of all building permits issued in the United States went to Brooklyn builders.

Jacob & Youngs, builders, of 1133 Broadway, Manhattan, have the contract for the erection of a large casino on the estate of Clarence H. Mackay at Harbor Hill, L. I. Plans for the casino were prepared more than a year ago, but owing to the death of William A. Duer, father of Mrs. Mackay, late last fall, the matter was dropped. The plans call for a T-shaped building, with a frontage of 140 ft and a depth of 40 ft. The stem of the T will be 240 ft in depth, thereby making a building of very ample proportions. The building will be erected in what is known as the orchard, at Harbor Hill, and will overlook Long Island Sound. It will be equipped with a large gymnasium, a swimming pool, billiard rooms, shooting galleries and a large hall for entertaining, in addition to smoking rooms, baths, sleeping rooms, lockers and all the other accessories of a well-appointed building of like character. The grounds surrounding the building will be handsomely laid out. Estimated cost, $100,000.

Trade in lumber is unmistakably lighter than last year at this time; and the same is true of brick and of some other building materials. But, judging from the plans filed for new buildings, the moderation can be only a temporary matter, caused in no small part by the conditions of the money market in anticipation of the change in the mortgage law. While few changes more favorable to builders are observable in the official price list of lumber, it is noteworthy that both the spruce manufacturers in Maine and the yellow pine flooring mills in the South are curtailing their product, presumably because of a surfeit of consignments. Under the new yellow pine inspection and classification rules, the production of flooring boards is being still further reduced, so that under ordinary circum-

Personal.

Frank R. Millard, in charge of the loss department of the Continental Fire Insurance Co., in Chicago, is to succeed the late R. J. Taylor as manager of the company's loss department in New York.

Mr. Julius Scott, real estate broker, of 219 West 116th st, will sail with his wife for Europe on June 28 on the Deutschland, and will return about the middle of September. The office will be under the management of Leonard Adler during his absence.

Mr. Gardiner C. Sims, having recently been elected to the presidency of the William A. Harris Steam Engine Company of Providence, R. I., builders of Corliss engines, has resigned his position as general manager of the Marine Engine and Machine Company of Harrison, N. J., and will return to Providence to assume his duties there. The William A. Harris Steam Engine Company has purchased a large tract of land at Central Falls, R. I., and plans are now being prepared for the building of new works.

Herman Atkins MacNiel, the sculptor, is in Columbus, Ohio, to see the statue of McKinley that he designed put in place at the new McKinley memorial gate at the west entrance to the Ohio State House yard. The total cost of the work will be $50,000, half of which is to be borne by the city, the other half by the State. The statue was designed and the models executed in Mr. MacNiel's studio at College Point. Before the models left the studio they were viewed and admired by a host of Sculptor MacNiel's friends.

The Law Journal of the 18th inst. contains a notice over the signature of ex-Judge A. B. Parker, chairman, inviting lay suggestions for the selection of the ten candidates for the Supreme Judgeships in the First (Manhattan) District, on behalf of the Bar Committee of Thirty-five. This is a procedure which must commend itself; and the Record and Guide has no doubt that these thirty-five gentlemen, who acknowledgedly stand at the head of their profession, fully intend to select only such of their colleagues as in experience, character and fitness have established a reputation which cannot be questioned. We note among the men said to be under advisement one that we have seen in important condemnation proceedings of real estate, in which he has shown marked qualifications of a judicial character—Benno Lewinson, Esq., and also Henry F. Miller, Esq., who delivered the series of law lectures before the West Side Y. M. C. A. last winter. In the Second District it is understood that Mr. Mills and Edgar Logan of Westchester, Clarence Lexow of Rockland, and L. S. Sterrit and Walter C. Anthony of Orange, are popularly favored.

The increase in assessed valuation in Manhattan will be $284,598,100, a very large part of which is represented by improvements to real estate. The estimated cost of new buildings for which plans were filed in 1905 exceeded $123,000,000.

Concrete and Hollow Terra Cotta Tile Building Construction.

The numerous fires and other disasters which have visited some of our large cities within the past few years, destroying alike the apparently fireproof skyscraper and the more destructible residence, have been the means of creating a desire for buildings of a more durable nature. To meet this demand, concrete, in all its various forms and combinations, has taken a prominent place among the building materials of the present day. Although its use hitherto has been confined more particularly to the erection of large structures, such as office buildings, factories, warehouses, etc., concrete, as applied to house construction, is becoming more and more popular in proportion to the growing realization of its advantages.

The comparatively small number of fireproof houses in existence is largely due to the prevalent idea that a house built of concrete or other materials possessing fire-resisting qualities necessarily calls for a greater outlay of money than does the ordinary combustible structure. This objection, however, is gradually being overcome by the fact that in many parts of the country residences embodying the use of concrete are being erected at a cost not only competing with, but in some cases actually lower than, that of the ordinary frame building.

The method of building in which the two principles of fireproof construction, reinforced concrete and hollow terra cotta tile are employed, has proven particularly successful, not only because of its absolute fireproof qualities, but because of its economy as well. This method, which was recently described in these columns by the writer, under the title of "A New System of Fireproof Residence Construction," is being followed by the New Century Contracting Co., of 1 Madison av, New York City.

tem, which will be not only absolutely fireproof, but possessing the additional advantages of being proof against dampness, cold, heat, vermin and draft, and all this at a considerable saving over the ordinary method of construction. Besides, the costs due to cracking of plaster, rotting of woodwork, painting, shingling, etc., necessary to the frame or brick house, are all avoided.

Fig. 1 shows the ordinary method of frame house construction with an exterior of clapboards or shingles, laid in the usual manner.

Fig. 2 illustrates the New Century system of building, with the same exterior.

To outward appearances, a house built on this system is exactly similar to one built by the ordinary method, but it will be noticed that the number of operations, and amount of material required are considerably reduced. Owing to the sound and draught-proof qualities of this method, sheathing paper and underflooring are unnecessary.

The following table shows the comparison in costs between houses built on the New Century system and on other systems: (1) 10 per cent greater than a frame house finished with clapboards or shingles. (2) Equals the cost of a frame house with stucco exterior. (3) 10 per cent less than a frame and brick house. (4) 10 per cent less than a house of solid concrete.

Competition for State Building.

Albany will have a State educational building which will cost in the neighborhood of $3,500,000, Governor Higgins having approved the bill of Senator Raines providing for the erection and appropriating $400,000 for plans and purchase of a site. The building is to contain the State department of edu-

That hollow terra cotta tiles are thoroughly fireproof was well demonstrated in one notable instance during the recent conflagration at San Francisco. The Crocker Building, which is a steel and hollow tile structure, survived both earthquake and fire so well that it is already in use by tenants.

The lesson given Atlantic City, N. J., some years ago, when a conflagration scourged that famous watering place, and but for a favorable change in the wind, almost destroyed it, has been heeded in one instance at least, namely, in the construction of the Marlborough-Blenheim Hotel, which was erected in accordance with the principles of the New Century system, and stands as a notable exponent of the manner in which the artistic and utilitarian features of concrete and terra cotta find expression.

Another such fire as the previous one would not only mean immunity for the Marlborough-Blenheim, but, at the same time, that structure would tend to act as a bulwark against the further progress of the fiery element.

An illustration of this was given by the conflagrations at Baltimore, Toronto, Rochester and San Francisco, in which the modern fireproof structures were the only ones that in any way helped to check the flames.

Though standing on the treacherous sands of the Jersey coast, a considerable area of the building—in the opinion of Mr. William F. Price, the architect—could have the foundations washed away without damage to the structure, nor does the heaviest wind so far encountered cause a perceptible vibration of the highest part of the building.

Residences may be erected according to the New Century syscation, including the library, museum of natural history and the scientific bureaus of that department. The State architect is directed to prepare ground plans. Plans for the building are to be selected after competition, open to all architects. The author of the plan accepted is to receive a prize of $10,000, and there are to be second and third prizes, $7,000 and $3,000.

—A great deal of money has gone into unproductive property within a year in the suburbs. It is also axiomatic that the transit companies are bringing the residential districts of Manhattan and old Brooklyn into serious competition with the suburbs. It follows that there will be either a long wait for profits or a remarkable extension of the suburban building movement. From remarks made by buyers in the auction rooms and elsewhere it is judged that the majority expect and are satisfied to wait. Many of them have invested in raw lots wholly unimproved and as yet not very accessible. They have invested with an abiding confidence that their holding will never be worth less than they paid, that they have a perfectly safe investment, and that some day, if they do not sell it at a good profit, they will utilize the site for a home. This is more particularly the case of the retail buyer, and as for the wholesale manipulators it would seem that in many cases a long period must elapse before they will be able to complete their operations. Much depends upon the energy and spirit of the Rapid Transit Commissioners.

PRIVATE SALES MARKET

A decided lull in real estate and building operations is generally noticed. Many bricklayers are idle, stocks are accumulating in the material markets, and real estate brokers are thinking of vacation arrangements. It is one of the most unique visitations that New York has ever had, for the reason that while the buildings planned far exceed in value the records of all previous seasons, though property was never before in such demand and never commanded such high values, the market for building materials never so good apparently, and mechanics never in the aggregate in greater demand, yet for the time being there is a hold-up of the train of progress. Or like a deep depression on the mountain peak of prosperity is this suspension of business. What has caused it?

Two principal influences have operated together, the stronger of which is the conduct of the mortgage market preceding the change in the tax law. One effect is thirty-five per cent. less mortgage money put out this year in Manhattan and the Bronx, and twenty-five per cent. less in Brooklyn. Bankers, builders and the public generally, with great unanimity, are waiting the first of the month. The other reason bearing on the situation was the very high price of brick. Mason contractors finished up their work and quit for awhile. Consequently brick prices began to fall, and for a few days they could not find bottom. Bricks are now selling for about two dollars per M. lower than a month ago. However, there is this to be said, that June is naturally a changing period. Old contracts at brick building are being closed out and new ones are taken on. The new brick begins to come in, to make lower prices for this material. In most years it marks the beginning of the busiest season, but last June also a distinct lull was noticed, besides a fall in brick prices from $9 to $7, preceding the first of July. Doubt as to whether the market was oversupplied with apartment houses was said to have caused the builders to hesitate; but after they had digested the census returns, and observed the lower quotation for material, they went back to work.

This June the Mortgage Tax legislation happens to culminate, and along with some little difficulty in getting building loans, if they desired them, and the high prices of material, and, it must be confessed, a little weariness from long-continued hard work, brokers, builders, bankers and investors, have seemingly concluded that they will rest for awhile. City real estate has shown few features not monotonous. Mostly inexpensive property has been the subject of negotiations, with slight inquiry for business premises. Dealers in the city have long seemed intent on reducing their holdings with a supposed view of awaiting the developments of the summer in the mortgage market, in rapid transit matters and suburban speculations. Moreover, prices have reached a point in many neighborhoods where something must be left to the mellowing influence of time. Besides, it is perceived by the city interests that a very large measure of public attention is being given to the suburbs, which is customary at this season, but is particularly noticeable this year; and many city capitalists are themselves looking that way, as witness the Barney deal at Pelham Bay and the Woodruff-Gulick transaction at Garden City.

Mr. Gardiner already owns 581, and this purchase gives him 40 ft. frontage on the avenue by 100 ft. in depth. Mr. Sherman said yesterday: "Mr. Gardiner's purchase from Mr. Roosevelt gives him the largest single 5th av frontage north of 23d st now on the market for business uses. To secure this continuous frontage, it was necessary to acquire six separate outstanding interests besides Mr. Roosevelt's, between the north line of Mr. Gardiner's house and the north line of Mr. Roosevelt's. There is no restriction on any of it for business, and he intends to offer the whole for sale, or to lease it for business for 21 years. It is situated between 47th and 48th sts, one of the best known residential blocks on the avenue. Miss Helen Gould owns the corner of 47th st, the old Jay Gould homestead. Mr. Gardiner's residence comes next, then the properties now purchased, then Mr. Haggin's residence, then Mrs. Goelet's on the corner. ## REAL ESTATE NOTES

John M. Thompson & Co., of 212 Broadway, have been appointed agents for No. 1 Wall st.

The firm of Manheim, Weinstein & Hoffberg, real estate operators, at 299 Broadway, has been changed to Manheim & Weinstein.

With the new bridge over the ship canal nearly finished, it is up to the subway contractors to get through with the extension to Van Courtlandt Park.

Slawson & Hobbs, the well-known real estate and brokerage firm, have formed a corporation, with a capital of $50,000. The members are Frederick H. Birch, Charles D. Hobbs and Geo. L. Slawson.

Jenks & Hathaway, mortgage loan brokers, of 156 Broadway, have recently opened a separate sales department in connection with their business, and have successfully closed several important deals.

S. H. Lockett, former secretary of the committee of twenty of the National Board, has tabulated the average cost of fireproof buildings and finds that the cost of foundations is almost exactly 5 per cent. of the total cost, irrespective of height.

Halprin, Diamondston & Levin have removed their office from 101 Bowery to 132 Nassau st, where all business will be transacted. Mr. A. Halprin has removed his uptown office to 18 West 114th st, where all business for the firm will be transacted after 6 o'clock P. M.

John F. Frees, of 608 East 156th st, has incorporated the Frees & Lackman Co., real estate and insurance brokers, and opened new offices at 3029 3d av, near 156th st. Mr. Frees is a son of the well-known builder, John Frees, who has been a resident of this section for many years.

Arnold & Byrne sold for the estate of Philip A. Smyth to George Kuhn 55 lots on Av A, 3d and 4th sts, and Westchester Creek, Unionport. The purchaser intends to bulkhead the entire property and build docks for the accommodation of the rapidly increasing mercantile interests in that section.

Albert Sanders has been made receiver of the rents of 17 and 19 East 27th st, a 12-sty apartment building, on a plot 50x98.8 ft., pending a suit brought by the Cedar Street Realty Co. against the Wells Realty and Construction Co. to foreclose two mortgages of $170,000. There is a prior mortgage on the property of $160,000.

Messrs. H. J. Sachs & Co., 28 West 22d st, offer for improvement the following plots: 17th st, near 6th av, 19th st and 21st st, between 5th and 6th avs, and 28th st, between 4th and Lexington avs. Easy terms can be arranged and possession on 60 days' notice. As there is great demand for space in this district, these plots will doubtless attract the attention of investors.

President F. B. Thurber, of the Civic Association of Manhattan, favors the proposal for an elevated loop between the Brooklyn and Williamsburgh bridges. He says: "The Civic Association of New York is one New York association that is on record as favoring an elevated loop, and the reason that there are not more is because public opinion has not been organized and worked up on that side as the reformers have done on theirs."

At the auction conducted by James L. Wells in the University Heights and Kingsbridge sections, four lots on the west side of Sedgwick av, north of Kingsbridge road, brought $12,200. Two lots 300 ft north of these sold for $3,000 each, and ten others for $28,400. The section is a very desirable one, and is being greatly favored by the construction of a new bridge across the Harlem, as well as by the electrification of the New York Central lines, on which lower rates of fare will probably be announced in due time.

The committee appointed by Mayor McClellan to look into the rental prices to be charged for the piers along the Chelsea improvement on the North River, will submit a report recommending the leasing of the five northerly docks to the International Mercantile Marine Company, the three southerly piers to the Cunard Steamship Company, and the one remaining pier to the Compagnie Generale Transatlantique. The rental for the first term of the lease is to be $70,000 per year for each of the piers, with two sides available for wharfage, of which there are seven in all, and $37,500 each per year for the two piers which have but one side available for wharfage.

When the Sinking Fund Commissioners this week adopted the map prepared by Mr. Bensel, the initial step was taken for the ownership by the city of all the water front between 28th st and 60th st, Brooklyn. Between these points it is intended to build piers, docks and bulkheads, to be leased by the city to shipping interests, according to the policy in vogue in Manhattan. Subsidiary to this great improvement, although anticipating it in point of time, is the plan of municipalizing the South Brooklyn ferry service. Commissioner Bensel made the statement to the Sinking Fund Commission that the new boats to be built by the city to take care of the traffic between Whitehall st and 39th st will be ready in eight months. It is hoped to be able to acquire the existing ferry property without resorting to condemnation proceedings.

It is said that when the deeds begin to come in for the thousands of lot sales at big auctions now being held in Queens Borough every month, and the numerous lot sales being made by the Brooklyn and Manhattan syndicates through their city offices, the Queens County Clerk's office will be swamped and the work will be far behind unless much more clerical help is provided than is available at present. The daily total of 700 deeds and mortgages recorded in Kings and Queens Counties this month, it is said, represents somewhat the enormous growth of population of the City of New York, which must now expand along the lines of least resistance on Long Island, where far greater areas may be found within ten miles of the City Hall than in any other section of the city, and where land is still relatively cheap in comparison with the high-priced lots of the Bronx. As a large proportion of the million and a quarter emigrants landing at the port of New York this year will remain, it stands to reason that a large portion of them must be housed in the two boroughs of Brooklyn and Queens, which are practically one in contiguity of boundary line and in their street systems and public works undertaken and transportation systems.

The Garbage Disposal Question.

At this time of the year, when owners of apartments, hotels and private residences are having troubles with their garbage removal and the unsanitary condition of their cellars, it is profitable to call attention to a machine now on the market that will not only destroy this garbage by cremation as fast as it is created, but while doing so will utilize the material as a fuel to heat water.

This machine has passed the experimental stage, and is now rapidly coming into use throughout the country as a combined garbage crematory and water heater. A number of successful installations have been made in New York, while hundreds of them have been made in Chicago, the home of the company manufacturing the machine.

The plan upon which this machine works is a simple one, but the operation of it, which has baffled many experts in the past, has been recently perfected. By means of a metal coil which circulates above the fire, the garbage and refuse which is thrown in upon it through another door is kept off the fire, and this prevents it from being smothered. The heat dries out the garbage, thus preparing it for combustion. This process of carbonizing and burning causes a heat which is given to the water circulating through the tubes above the flames, and in many cases causes an actual saving of from twenty-five to forty per cent. in the consumption of coal used to run a water heater in an ordinary apartment house.

No odor arises from the burning of the garbage, and the method is endorsed by boards of health of all cities where this has been installed. In fact, the use of the machine as a water-heater and garbage-destroyer is urged by the board of health as a prime factor in keeping apartment houses in a sanitary condition through hot weather. The owners of the buildings where it has been installed cannot speak too highly of it, and it has been rapidly adopted in the apartment house district of the city, as well as in private homes and public institutions.

It is installed by the Cragin Garbage Crematory Co., 1135 Broadway, on trial without charge, and the owner is given an opportunity to see whether or not it does the work guaranteed in a satisfactory manner. If it does not come up to the representations, the machine is withdrawn, and the old conditions restored, without cost. This is a liberal offer that the company is making for a short time in New York, and is worth investigation by anybody that has hot water and garbage troubles.

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows; The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as headlines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list

June 15, 16, 18, 19, 20 and 21.

SELL EVERY KIND OF OFFICE FURNITURE but one—the cheap kind—and that does not mean that my prices are high. Cheap office furniture is the most expensive in the long run—my policy is a superior article at a reasonable price, and a visit to my showrooms, 275 Canal St., will convince you of this, I'm sure.

The most desirable class of tenants are those who can afford to pay a good rent. They usually wont unless the store has all the modern improvements. If it hasn't Luxfer Prisms it is not up-to-date. Make your property more valuable by increasing the amount of real daylight into it. Let us explain matters to you either by mail or personally.

PESSIMISM in Wall Street this week may be said to reign supreme, in spite of generally favorable conditions. The market is lower, and there have been feeble rallies, only to be succeeded by sharper and more serious breaks. As has been previously stated in these columns, the market acts in a way that is not consistent, for, logically, prices should advance instead of declining. If the promise of excellent crops, increasing business, large railway earnings and nothing disquieting about the money situation should not form the basis for a bull market, it is difficult to say what is demanded by Wall Street with that end in view. The break in St. Paul on Wednesday was little short of startling under the circumstances. It had sold as high as 176½ during the day and lost about five points. It looked like real liquidation. Interborough, Amalgamated, Reading, Union Pacific and the Steel stocks all suffered severely, Anaconda declining eleven points. The causes given for the break were far from satisfactory. Everybody has a different reason. Corporation baiting, the regulation by Congress of trusts, the exposures in the investigations of railroads and the political unrest were all assigned as factors contributing to the decline. Yet putting an end to the system of secret rebates has increased railroad earnings, and there will certainly be more money for distribution among the stockholders in the way of dividends. It is not a bear argument that because the Federal Government will enforce the law and that there is to be honest management in corporations that stocks are really less valuable. But what is to be said or done in the face of the actual sentiment as it at present exists? Veterans of the Street are puzzled. The most tangible evidences of prosperity go for naught.

SOME bankers are of opinion, however, that the new low level which prices have struck cannot but be attractive to investors, and that money will be forthcoming from the public at the right moment. But if dividend announcements are to be followed by weakness and by selling movements, it has been suggested by some that they be withheld. They seem to depress rather than stimulate the market. The increased declaration on Baltimore and Ohio last week, the higher rate on Anaconda, the regular dividend in Norfolk and Western and the increase in the Ontario and Western Wednesday have apparently had this effect. As to the dividend on the latter, some of the lowest prices in stocks of the session were recorded after its announcement, although the stock itself showed a net advance of the day of ¾ per cent. The authority on Iron and Steel tells us that the flow of orders in the finished trade continues very large and that during the first twenty-two days of the current month the United States Steel Corporation booked orders at the rate of 37,000 tons per day. This is more than double the quantity during the corresponding period of 1905. Money rates are practically unchanged, but in the present situation money conditions seem absolutely a negligible quantity, just as may be said of the smouldering volcano in Russia. That there is public distrust of the market cannot be denied, and the refusal of the public to buy stocks is looked upon by the pessimists previously referred to as absolute and conclusive. Little or nothing more is to be said on the subject of the market. It "passes experience," showing that no rules can be laid down and that "all signs fall in speculation." No one can prophesy or indicate the outcome of the paradoxical situation. Probably the market may become steady when what is known as the public is satisfied that prices are low enough to enable stocks and securities to be purchased at a figure with a prospect of a fair margin of profit from a speculative point of view or for investment purposes, but the attempt to predict under present circumstances as to the course of the market is impossible.

THE property owners on Madison avenue, between Thirty-fourth and Forty-second streets, are beginning to make a concerted effort to keep that part of Madison avenue residential in character, and there is no reason why they should not succeed. They have the money, and it is worth their while. There can be little doubt that Madison avenue, from Twenty-sixth to Thirty-fourth street, will eventually be devoted to business purposes, and a similar fate is likely to befall that part of the same avenue between Forty-second and Fifty-ninth streets. Business will also creep in for a block south of Forty-second street and for another block north of Thirty-fourth street, but the summit of Murray Hill can very well be protected, because those two blocks are really more desirable for residential than for business purposes. They are occupied by rich people who can afford to pay as much as it is necessary to pay in order to prevent the intrusion of business. Prices in that part of Madison avenue have already become so high that very few business houses could afford to keep such good society, and this fact in itself simplifies the whole problem. Moreover, it is a good thing that the residents of the vicinity have been willing to spend their money for the purpose of protecting the surroundings of their houses. They certainly live in the most convenient and attractive neighborhood in New York City. That part of Madison avenue has no electric cars; it is much nearer the most important centers of business and amusement than is the upper East Side, and it wears an air of quiet distinction which upper Fifth avenue entirely lacks. Eventually, no doubt, it will be swallowed up by the imperative demand for more space by important business interests, but there is no reason why this demand should become too insistent during the next twenty-five years. Farther than that no man can look in seeking to pierce the outline of Manhattan real estate. By that time the population of New York City should be double what it is to-day and its business should be three times as large. The attempt to transact three times as much business on Manhattan Island as is transacted there at present would cause a demand for available space which might be too much for any obstacle which Mr. Morgan and his associates could raise.

MANY fine private houses are now being built on the upper East Side. The district bounded by Madison and Third avenues, Sixtieth and Seventy-third street is now fast merging into what may be called an aristocratic residential section. That Third avenue should be embraced or even mentioned in connection with this favored section only goes to show the tremendous strides the city is making and how limited and valuable the whole area of Manhattan Island is. The growth and development of the district in question was undoubtedly aided by Secretary of State Root's purchase a few years ago of the old flats at the southeast corner of Park avenue and Seventy-first street. On the site of these flats he built a handsome house, and the result has been to improve the character and tone of the neighborhood. Others have now followed Secretary Root's example, and doubtless in a few years the transformation that has taken place will be little short of startling to those who were familiar with the surroundings a decade ago. There will be tearing down, improvements, building and rebuilding all over this section during the summer and autumn. The feature of all this construction is that there is nothing speculative in it. It is being done exclusively by private individuals who wish to make their homes here and join the colony of prominent persons who live in the immediate vicinity. These include some of New York's wealthiest and most eminent citizens, which fact alone will make the section a fashionable and restricted quarter for many years to come.

WHEN the five boroughs were consolidated, forming Greater New York, it was said that many other cities would speedily follow the example. Now we have Pittsburg and Allegheny, in Pennsylvania, falling into line, a majority of more than 25,000 in a popular vote having decided to make the two municipalities a Greater Pittsburg. There has always been opposition to this consolidation in Allegheny, the fight having been going on for more than half a century. The new greater city will boast of a population of upward of 500,000. It is a logical and natural step, the merging of the two cities with one another, because Allegheny, lying across the Allegheny River from Pittsburg, is connected with the latter by several bridges. The consolidation will make Pittsburg one of the wealthiest cities in the Union, and in connection with this matter it may be mentioned that a large amount of Pittsburg capital has been invested in Long Island, N. Y., realty. The Wheatly Hills Land Company, of which M. W. Byrne, United States District Attorney of New York, is one of the directors, has paid $600,000 for the Albemarle Stock Farm and the M. C. Meagher tract of three hundred acres—properties which are situated in a fast developing part of Long Island and have a frontage of five thousand feet on the Long Island Railroad and adjoins the holdings of W. K. Vanderbilt, Clarence Mackay and John S. Phipps. In the autumn the whole property is to be plotted and otherwise improved. When capitalists of other cities invest in what may be called undeveloped territory in the vicinity of New York, it certainly is strong evidence of their belief in its appreciation of value in the near future.

Mr. Stanford White.

THE death of Mr. Stanford White calls attention in the most painful and disagreeable way to the work which has been accomplished during the last twenty-five years by him and the other members of his firm. Few people who are not architects, or who are not specially interested in architecture, realize how much Mr. White and his associates have contributed to the existing appearance of New York City, and still fewer realize how far-reaching and beneficial the effect of their work has been. It is to be hoped and expected that the remaining members of the firm, aided by the able assistants whom they have recently associated with themselves, will continue to carry on the work for many years to come; but, in any event, the death of Mr. White cannot be passed by without some attempt to describe what the firm of McKim, Mead & White have accomplished for the architecture of New York, as well as in general for American architecture. It is the intelligent and appreciative New Yorker who should be particularly grateful to them, because it is in New York that most of their work has been achieved, and because the buildings erected from their designs in this city have helped amazingly to give New York an architecture expressive of its metropolitan position among other American cities. It has been an architecture which possessed distinction, style and effectiveness, and no other American architectural firm, either in New York or elsewhere, has succeeded in reaching a similar result to anything like so complete an extent.

One has only to repeat the list of the conspicuous buildings which have been erected from their designs in New York City in order to appreciate how much they have contributed in mere bulk to the attractive appearance of the city. Let us take, for instance, Fifth avenue alone, which is becoming more and more the typical and most conspicuous New York thoroughfare. A pedestrian starting at Washington Square would have behind him the Judson Memorial Church and the Washington Memorial Arch—two of their earliest New York edifices. In the neighborhood of Sixteenth street he would pass the "Judge" Building, to which four stories have recently been added without entirely obscuring the merit of the original design. As he reaches Madison Square he would see in the tower of Madison Square Garden, one of their earliest buildings; and in the Parkhurst church one of their latest. A few blocks farther north he would come upon the bank building of the Knickerbocker Trust Company, which has already provoked so much imitation; the Gorham Building, and the Tiffany Building—an edifice which has aroused more popular interest than any similar building ever erected in New York City. Just north of Forty-second street he would come upon a nest of McKim, Mead & White's work. In the first place, there is the Sherry Building, and on the side streets, immediately adjoining, the Century Club house and that of the Harvard Club, with its splendid dining hall. Still farther north he would reach the residences recently erected for Delancey Kane and W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., and at Fifty-fifth street his eyes would be gratified by the University Club house, which ranks very high in the scale of their work; and a little beyond the buildings of the Metropolitan and Harmonic Clubs. This in itself is a tolerably long list of important buildings, but many more would have to be added before the catalogue of the firm's work, even in New York, would be anything like complete. The building erected by the Golet estate at Twentieth street and Broadway, which has suffered from the same sort of alterations as the old "Judge" Building, is among their very best business structures. The "Herald" Building had its day of popularity; the new Morgan Library, in Thirty-sixth street, is among their most carefully studied designs; the Woman's Athletic Club, on Madison avenue, has certain novel characteristics; and many good judges consider the Library of Columbia College, on Morning-side Heights, to be the most monumental and effective of all their buildings. This list does not pretend to be exhausted. There are in particular many private dwellings, such as those of the late W. C. Whitney, Henry W. Poor, Charles T. Barney, H. B. Hollins, which are worthy of special comment, particularly for their interiors. But what a loss it would be to New York City in case the buildings mentioned above had been designed by inferior hands.

The work of McKim, Mead & White has always possessed the peculiarity of being both popular and meritorious. Architecture is an art which is so little understood in this country that many really successful buildings go unnoticed except by a few persons who possess some technical knowledge; but the work of McKim, Mead & White has suffered less from this cause than the work of any other architectural firm. And there were excellent reasons why they were able to combine an unusually high standard of achievement with an unusually large amount of popular appreciation. Their success in this respect was not owing to the fact that they courted popularity, because McKim, Mead & White have been unique in the extent to which they insisted upon having their own way. It was rather due to their facility of representing while at the same time improving the prevalent architectural taste of the last twenty-five years. Architecture does not mean to Americans buildings which are perfect in mass, proportion and detail; it means the sort of buildings to which they have been accustomed in their European travels—buildings which possess an historical atmosphere and associations. This was the one prevailing American architectural tradition—the desire to have certain familiar historical memories and associations aroused by our important buildings. And just as McKim, Mead & White were the first American architects to turn it to good account, so they remain the architectural firm which has continued to use it persistently and effectively.

Many of their designs are deliberate adaptations from specific European buildings, but their borrowing has been done with good sense and with right feeling. They have not borrowed indiscriminately or unintelligently. The architecture of the Renaissance has been the source of most of their designs, and they showed the excellent judgment in limiting to this extent the area within which they looked for suggestions. For many reasons the Renaissance is both the most available and the most promising period from which modern American architecture can take its start; and McKim, Mead & White were the first architects to stand consistently for this idea. It has determined the general tendency of their work and has had much to do with its great success, but it must be immediately added that if their imitation of the Renaissance had been lifeless it would also have been far less influential. What they have sought to borrow was not certain forms, but certain effects. They have exhibited a genuine sympathy with the spirit of the architecture of the Renaissance and a genuine understanding of its characteristic merits and opportunities. They have brought what is both freshness of feeling and intellectual insight into the revival of old forms, just as did the architects of the Renaissance themselves; and that is the chief reason why their work has been so meritorious as well as so influential. They have given an original and an effective rendering of the most available architectural tradition which we Americans could borrow, and they have consequently deserved their success. At the present time they have reached the position of being the representative American firm of architects, and the work which they have begun will be carried on not only by the remaining members of the firm, but by the many excellent designers who have either accepted their lead or have graduated from their office.

Shall Brooklyn be Held Back for Jersey?

(Letter from Calvin Tomkins to the Bridge Commissioner, accompanying a report on passenger transportation between lower Manhattan, Brooklyn and the Bronx.)

Dear Sir—The conclusions of this report are based on the following assumptions:

That it is unwise to connect the two bridges either by an elevated or by a subway loop.

That the correct principle of passenger transportation between Brooklyn and Manhattan is to conduct the traffic of each bridge transversely across Manhattan, thus affording convenient access to every north and south line of transit in that borough.

That before authorizing a double deck structure in Park Row and the Bowery, the Bridge Commissioner and the Board of Estimate ascertain and publish the terms and duration of the agreement which must necessarily be made with the Interborough Company for the reconstruction and use of its present structure in these streets.

That the extension of the elevated system, as now proposed will tend to disadvantageously impose upon the city a further general extension of elevated railroads, especially as related to transit connections between Long Island and Manhattan over the Blackwell's Island and Manhattan bridges; consequently the best opportunity to substitute subways for elevated railroads is right now.

That the Brooklyn Bridge structure is being availed of to the fullest extent consistent with its safety, and that consequently intervals between trains and trolleys cannot safely be decreased, or the train service improved as regards the number of passengers carried.

That the only prompt remedies are, either diversion of part of the Brooklyn Bridge traffic to and over the Williamsburgh Bridge, or a transition from train service on the former bridge to a continuous moving platform service with its greatly increased capacity.

That diversion of traffic can be better accomplished by an independent wide subway loop from the Williamsburgh Bridge across Manhattan than by connecting the bridges with an elevated loop.

That the quickest and cheapest relief is to be found in the use of the moving platform, provided that method of transmission is deemed to be practicable, and in order that prompt information may be had in regard to this last point, we would especially request that you expedite and publish the engineers' report on the practicability of such a moving platform installation for the Brooklyn Bridge, which report, we understand, you have wisely arranged for and which is now being prepared.

That permanent relief can only be provided by tunnels under the East River, which should be started now. Respectfully yours,

CALVIN TOMKINS,

(Chairman of Com. on City Plan of Municipal Art Society.)

New Jersey Suburbs Fast Growing

Spreading Population Transforming Country and Towns Between New York and Philadelphia Into One Continuous Metropolitan Section.

THE STATISTICIAN in charge of the researches of the New York Federation of Churches has predicted that within the next fifteen years "Greatest New York" will have the enormous population of eight million. "Greatest New York" as here used embraces the territory lying within a distance of nineteen miles of New York City Hall, and includes many of the New Jersey suburbs; he calls all this New York because, as he points out, the inhabitants of these suburbs depend for their living on the activity of the metropolis, and thousands journey from New Jersey to Manhattan every day. Throughout all these suburbs there is a constant increase of population, and if it is legally possible to incorporate the New Jersey suburbs into Greater New York it is estimated that Greater New York in 1920 will outstrip London. The interest of the church organization lies in its earnest plea for increased transit facilities so that the greatly over-crowded city surplus will go to live in the suburban towns, where they can have greater comfort, and escape the evils of congestion.

Manhattan Island has become so densely settled of late years that home life as it was known in the older days is rapidly changing. Old-fashioned homes are no longer to be found in central Manhattan. The price of land has risen too high for families of ordinary circumstances to own their own homes here. The old-time dwellings have become so enhanced in value that owners, in order to make them yield an income for the large investment of money which they represent, are renting them out for boarding houses, or remodeling them for business purposes, for hotels or apartments. The massing of the population in flat houses has become dense to the point of positive discomfort. Rents are rising and all the costs of living are increasing. The result is a turning to the suburban towns. In the course of this migration there has been a distinct evolution in the municipal growth. The opening of the subways northward through the city at first tempted the population in that direction until values became so high as to be considered prohibitive by many families of moderate means. Next came the announcement of tunnels under the East River to connect with Long Island, and a vast tide of the population made toward that quarter, but these tunnels are still unfinished, and when completed will be inadequate to furnish the transportation facilities needed. So absorbed has been the attention of the people generally in these northward and eastward exits, that the ordinary New Yorker has entirely overlooked the fine residential sections in New Jersey that lie within easy access of the metropolis.

One railroad only, the New York Central, and its allied branches reach the Bronx and Westchester; on Long Island there is but one railroad. Through New Jersey, and directly opposite Manhattan, run all the trans-continental trunk lines—the Pennsylvania, the Erie, the Lackawanna, the Lehigh, the Ontario and Western, the West Shore, the Jersey Central and the Baltimore and Ohio railways—all competing lines, furnishing frequent and cheap commutation rates. Moreover, all this suburban territory in New Jersey is supplied with abundant electric car service; and besides there is in process of construction the so-called MacAdoo tunnels, almost completed—these tunnels to be in operation within eighteen months, carrying passengers from Church and Cortlandt sts, New York, to Newark in fifteen minutes.

It was Alexander Hamilton who once said, speaking of that section of New Jersey contiguous to Hudson River, that it was all destined to be the home of a new city whose population and industrial and commercial importance would equal if not eclipse New York,

It may not be generally appreciated that New Jersey is growing as fast if not faster than any other State in the Union. In the last thirty years its population has doubled, and during the past five years has increased a quarter of a million. During the next five years the improvements and the extension of the trolley lines already existing and in progress of building, will bring to that section of Jersey lying contiguous to New York as great a boom as ever occurred. The official census shows that two-thirds of all the capital invested in manufacturing in the State of New Jersey is in enterprises situated within the towns of Jersey City, Bayonne, Newark and Elizabeth.

To the southwest of Newark and between the lines of the Lackawanna railway on the north and the Pennsylvania, Lehigh and Jersey Central railroads on the south, lies a most beautiful rolling country extending to the foothills of the Orange Mountains. This comprises Union County, wherein are to be found the up-to-date progressive towns of Elizabeth, Cranford, Westfield, Roselle, Roselle Park, Kenilworth, Shorthills and Summit. Elizabeth is the county seat of Union County, and has in its limits the Singer Sewing Machine factory, the Stevenson car works, Brown's power machinery works and many other factories employing a large number of workmen. The taxable values in Elizabeth have increased $2,417,000 since 1904; its population in the last five years increased from 52,000 in 1900 to 60,509 in 1905. In 1890 there was only 37,000 population.

Union County within the last five years has sustained an increase in population of 20 per cent., and its taxable values increased over $5,600,000 in two years. Union County is the home of United States Senator Kean; his property at Salem is known as "Ursilo"; at Cranford is the palatial residence of Thomas A. Sperry, originator of the trading-stamp system. That Union County, New Jersey, there is no fairer spot for the home seekers; when the MacAdoo tunnels are completed and the high-speed traction line is in operation, carrying people from New York to Newark in fifteen minutes, and to all parts of Union County within fifteen minutes more running time, this county will have equal facilities of transportation with Harlem, where lots now sell for thousands upon thousands of dollars. The statement recently made by an official of the State of New Jersey is soon to be fulfilled. "I believe that in five years from now land values in Union County will double the values of Long Island property and equal the values in the Bronx."

Real estate in this county has been unusually active within the last six months. Sales of acreage are numerous, and prices asked and paid are fully 25 per cent. higher than they were a year ago. Large tracts are being purchased by real estate companies for the purpose of sub-division. The increasing prices for lots and building plots have not deterred the home-seeker and lot-buyer, because the future of the section is promising and land is still to be had at prices within the means of the middle class, at figures far below what similar property within equal distance from the City Hall, New York, can be bought for elsewhere. Into this section there is a steady stream of home-seekers who buy lots, build thereon and make a permanent home.

It will be recognized that this section lies directly within the path of all high-speed traction lines that will ultimately connect New York and Philadelphia. The late William Baldwin, president of the Long Island Railway, stated that when the Pennsylvania tunnel under the Hudson River should be completed it would be but a question of time when Philadelphia would be as convenient as any suburb of New York, and that passengers would be carried from Manhattan to Quaker City in as many minutes as there are miles intervening. As a matter of fact all the country and towns, including Union County, between the two large cities are growing enormously and rapidly, and the inevitable result is now apparent that it will not be long before the spreading growths will make them touch each other and make one continuous metropolitan section.

Running through the heart of Kenilworth is the Rahway Valley Railway connecting with the Jersey Central and Lehigh Valley railways and forming a junction at Summit with the Lackawanna. All trolley lines in Jersey are like the roads about Rome—they lead to one point—that is Newark; there are five branches of the Public Service Corporation lines extending out toward Union County. One is now being built up into Kenilworth from Elizabethport. All these trolley lines will connect in Newark with the high-speed traction line that will run from Newark to Jersey City, and thence through the MacAdoo tunnel to Church and Courtlandt sts and to Morton st and Herald sq, Manhattan. The whole section southwest of Newark is undergoing rapid transformation at the present time, and is pregnant with a great future. It will be a most inviting field to the home-seeker and speculator. W.

Hackensack's Growth Phenomenal.

HACKENSACK, June 26.—In the Fairmount (northerly) section, there has been a decided boom, which has back of it some promise. In the other sections there has been for the past six months great changes. Properties have changed hands, as many tenants have sought permanent homes. There have been more real estate exchanges here in the past six months than in years. Our growth is phenomenal, and yet of the kind that might be termed "healthy."

An unprecedented development in the erection of new and high class houses has marked the progress of Hackensack for years, and there appears no halting. Our people, who have recently opened new and desirable tracts for residential purposes, started with auction sales and then set their prices and maintained them, waiting for buyers who have an object in view other than speculation.

We have many more desirable lots awaiting conservative home seekers at prices that are set, but reasonable. We have homes for sale, on 50-ft lots, the depth ranging from 150 to 200 ft, and the prices ranging from $5,000 up; among them are many homes that are bargains.

With a record unbroken for preexcellence for healthfulness and a "clean bill of health" from the State authorities in the yearly statistical report, a record for years in capturing appointments to West Point and Annapolis, through the merits of our schools, and the most up-to-date water filtering plant in the world, we believe that Hackensack has something to fall back upon, without the need of the "boom," which so often falls flat after its day of excitement. #### Values in Asbury Park.

Asbury Park.—The real estate market in and around Asbury Park, Allenhurst and Deal has been especially active for the last year. Prices have materially increased, there has been a steady demand for desirable property, and there is a great deal of building going on. As to values per front foot, the average is $60 to $75. Business property in Asbury Park is worth from $300 to $400 per foot. The average house, containing from ten to twelve rooms, rents for from $600 to $800 a season and sells for about $8,000 to $9,000.

The train service on the N. Y. & L. B. R. R. is the best ever scheduled. We have over seventy-five trains each way a day, and the running time to New York has been cut down, and the town is feeling the effects of the good conditions which exist throughout the country generally, and in and around New York in particular. T. FRANK APPLEBY.

"Ridgewood (N. J.), and Why."

Ridgewood has no boom, nor has had one and wants none, as it is and has been extremely difficult to supply the demand for unfurnished renting houses, also furnished houses, and buildings cannot be erected fast enough. This is an old story, only the case is getting desperate.

Lots anywhere, 50x150, sell from $4 to $40 a front foot; larger, to $80. Houses rent without improvements for $20 to $50 per month; with all improvements, from $50 to $500 per month. Farms rent from $20 to $100 per month. Six and seven room houses with no improvements sell for from $2,500 to $3,000; the same, with improvements, from $3,500 to $4,000; eight to ten room houses, no improvements, $4,000 to $6,000 and up; same, with improvements, $6,000 to $15,000 and up. Farms from $3,000 to $75,000. Estates from $10,000 to $80,000. I enclose herewith matter that may be of interest to you.

A. W. BARNARD.

"According to the census taken last summer (1905) Ridgewood had a population of 3,980, being an increase in five years of 1,295, or 48 per cent. over the census of 1900. This is the largest increase shown by any town in Bergen County, and, in the absence of any special effort to bring Ridgewood to the front, speaks for itself.

"For it should be borne in mind that Ridgewood is wholly residential. We have no factories or other industrial enterprises employing large numbers of operatives; and, with all due respect, none are desired. Hundreds of other places invite and encourage such industries, and to those places we are perfectly willing they should go. Ridgewood is content with being a 'home' and not a 'workshop.' All our traditions are to that effect—all our efforts in that direction."

A Large Amount of Building in Plainfield.

Plainfield, N. J.—This city has not as yet experienced a boom. There has been a constant and steady growth during the last eight or ten years, and there has been a constant improvement in valuation, especially in the business section, where in some cases during that time values have doubled. There has also been an increase in valuation in residential property, but not to that extent.

During the eight or ten years mentioned above there has been a large amount of building in Plainfield. No mechanic need to remain idle, unless he so desired, and that holds goods especially at the present time.

We would say right here that were it not for the fact that the building material people are throttling the situation, as far as prices on lumber and other materials are concerned, building would, we think, more than double.

A fair value of a plot 50 ft front by 150 ft deep, on a good street, with house containing eight to ten rooms, with all improvements not over ten years old would easily bring from $5,000 to $8,000. DOANE & DOANE.

The Mortgage Law Change.

If anything undesirable is to follow from the retirement of the Annual Mortgage Tax Law and the enforcement of the new Recording Tax Law, the evidence of it has not crystalized at this writing. Lending institutions are advising against any act or statement that would precipitate anything like a general readjustment, and the present disposition is to let matters rest as they are. A considerable suspension of monetary arrangements in respect to building loans and permanent mortgages has been obvious for some weeks, and what readjustment there may be, in the opinion of the mortgage companies, will follow mainly from that fact. Under advice, the filing of new mortgages has been largely postponed until the new law goes into effect. Ninety per cent. of the mortgages filed prior to July 1, 1905, have never in practice been obliged to pay a tax under the old personal tax law, and until the assessors succeed in discovering and assessing them they are likely to be permitted to lie or take their natural course. At any rate, there is nothing calling for immediate action so far as concerns them, as the revival of the old law revives the old exemptions. If there were any indications of a stampede to call in overdue mortgages and make them over, the Record and Guide would strongly advise against such a course, but such counsel is quite unnecessary. Action may very prudently be reserved until there is some change in the status of such securities.

In some mortgages made after July 1, 1905, by the large lending institutions, there is a clause giving the lender the right to call in the loan on thirty days' notice, in the event of the enactment of legislation affecting the mortgage. For example, the following is the clause which formed a part of the contract made by one title guarantee company:

"In the event of the passage after the date of this mortgage of any law of the State of New York, deducting from the value of land for the purposes of taxation any lien thereon, or changing in any way the laws now in force for the taxation of mortgages or debts secured by mortgage for State or local purposes, or the manner of the collection of any such taxes, so as to affect this mortgage, the holder of this mortgage, and of the debt which it secures, shall have the right to give thirty days' written notice to the owner of said land requiring the payment of the mortgage debt, and it is hereby agreed that if such notice be given, the said debt shall become due, payable and collectible at the expiration of said thirty days."

But as the mortgages held under assignment from such corporations are tax-exempt—the companies being taxed on their capital stock—no reason has arisen why payment should now be demanded. Mortgages filed within the past year not containing this or a similar clause have a certain term of years to run, and it depends upon various circumstances whether it would be advisable for either party to propose a change. The apparent reason for making a change is implied in an interpretation of the new law as given by the State Board of Assessors:

"All mortgages of real property recorded prior to July 1, 1906, are by the provisions of this act relegated to the jurisdiction of the local assessing officers for the purpose of assessment. They are accessible as personal property in the same manner as mortgages were prior to the passage of the Mortgage Tax law of 1905, and this whether the mortgage had been taxed under that law or not, except that under the provisions of section 301, of the Laws of 1906, mortgages recorded prior to July 1, 1906, where any part of the principal secured by the mortgage is advanced after July 1, 1906, are subject to taxation by recording officers only and therefore exempted from the jurisdiction of the local assessors. In our opinion you will have complied with the spirit and true intent of this latter provision by omitting all such mortgages from your assessment. The recording after July 1, 1906, of mortgages which were originally recorded prior to that date will not bring such mortgages under the provisions of this act, nor will it relieve local assessing officers from including such mortgages as a part of the assessment of personal property as above stated."

Some have hastily formed the conclusion that, in order to escape the provisions of the old law, all overdue loans that have been carried along without renewal, and which comprise fully 50 per cent. of all outstanding mortgages, will be called in, but as has been hereinbefore intimated, the status of these securities will be no different under the new law than under the old, the assessors presumably no more vigilant, and the exemptions the same. In the case of mortgages filed last year bearing interest at 5½ per cent., unless there is a clause to the contrary, that rate will be chargeable to the end of the term. But if by agreement between the parties the making of a new mortgage is contemplated, the expense of a search and other fees will then arise, and it is evident that the borrower will have to pay a sum equal if not greater (in the case of a small mortgage) than the extra interest charge involves. On the other hand, should the assessor not trouble the holder of the mortgage, he, too, will probably be satisfied to let it lie. But as circumstances differ in individual cases, it is difficult to do more than state general conclusions. It is understood that one of the title companies will, in most instances, where mortgages are called in, propose a plan to the mortgagors by which some expense will be saved to the borrower. A sum approximating $60 will be exacted, that amount to cover the cost of a continuation search and incidental fees and expenses.

Skyscraper Builders in Gigantic Race.

WORK BEING RUSHED BY RIVAL OWNERS OF HUGE STRUCTURES IN THE DOWNTOWN DISTRICT.

SOMETHING in the nature of a race in building construction has begun on the lower West Side. Real estate experts have predicted a great movement for the section south of Vesey st and west of Broadway, which in the course of time will make it the architectural superior of the corresponding East Side. Extended articles on the subject in the Record and Guide will be recalled.

The starting bell has been rung. Nine new structures, all within a stone's throw of each other, are to be finished within the course of the next year, and there is great rivalry among the builders. The new buildings range from 18 to 40 stories.

The United States Express Building, a 23-sty structure at Rector st and Trinity pl, has a good start and will reach the finish line ahead of the others. Its steel frame is up, twenty-one of the hollow tile floors have been laid and work has begun on the tile partitions. The Thompson-Starrett Co. is the general contractor.

The "West Street" Building, at the corner of Cedar and West sts, is a close second. Eleven stories of the steel frame are already up. This will have more office floors than any other building in the city. It is to be 24 stories high, 23 of which will be given over to offices. The John Peirce Company is the contracting builder.

Foundation work is rapidly going forward on the site of the Trinity addition and the new Boreel Building, at the corner of Cedar st and Broadway. Each of these structures will be 21 stories high and when finished will be a gigantic example of Gothic. Although covering a much larger area they are to be ready at the same time as the West Street Building, May 1, 1907. The race between these big skyscrapers has already begun to attract attention. The George A. Fuller Company is the contractor.

In Church st the Geo. A. Fuller Company has attacked the great contract of erecting the twin buildings which are to rise at the terminal of the Hudson Tunnel Company's lines, in Liberty st the work of clearing the site for the new 40-sty Singer Building has been started, in Cortlandt st the site is being cleared for the City Investing Company's building, and in Vesey st the foundations are being put in for the Evening Post Building.

Another "race," or a second division of the same one, has been started to the east of Broadway. The nine starters already mentioned are all on the west side. At the southeast corner of Wall st and Broadway work has commenced on what will be the most unique if not the largest skyscraper in New York—an 18-sty structure on a base only 30x39 ft, every square foot of which cost $600. January 1 is the date set for completion. At 37 and 39 Wall st the George A. Fuller Company has begun work on a 24-sty limestone building for the Trust Company of America. At 84-88 William st and 67-71 Maiden Lane, Charles T. Willis has started on a 16-sty edifice for the Royal Insurance Company. Directly opposite the south side of the Cotton Exchange the Fuller Company has begun a modern banking house for the Seligman's, to be 12-stys in height.

In all, there are fifteen great structures, nine on the west side and six on the east side, all to be going up at the same time, and all close together. Forty million dollars will go into them. Rapidity is essential, owing to the large amount of capital tied up during the time of construction. Every month's delay deprives the investor of a large sum in rentals or interest. Moreover, the constantly growing pressure of business calls urgently for additional office space.

The construction of these buildings goes on almost like clock-work. No sooner are the foundations laid than the steel skeleton is begun, and right behind the steel workers come the masons creeping swiftly up, floor after floor, placing the tile that forms the floors and protects the steel frame. At the same time a swarm of masons are at work on all parts of the building, so that when the last beam is swung into place, and the last rivet driven home, the fireproofing material is immediately set, and the structural work is complete.

AS INVESTMENTS.

In the judgment of authorities they will all rent well and prove successful investments. Mr. W. H. Chesebrough, speaking on this question recently, said:

"The financial and commercial centre of Manhattan Island has been fixed by the enormous vested interests in the great buildings already built or now building, between Fulton st and the Battery. Well-selected real estate on this narrow tongue of Manhattan Island is the safest purchase in the world. There appears to be no chance of a recession of values, and every reason why they should advance beyond their present status.

"New York City has in the last few years become the one great permanent centre of the Western Hemisphere from almost every point of view. It is not exaggeration to say that as a city it contains most of the features of both Paris and London, in addition to many others not found in those great capitals, and affords opportunities in commerce and finance and offers surroundings and luxuries not obtainable anywhere else in the world. No other city and no foreign country contains such office buildings, hotels, retail shops and theatres, and New York is the magnet that draws the busy and the idle peoples of the Western Hemisphere, and many of the Old World, in the same sense that these classes have been drawn in the past to London and Paris."

The City Club and the East Side Elevated.

The City Club is fighting against third tracking the East Side elevated lines, or any enlargement of the structures. The position on the question of providing temporarily better means of transit until relief can be had by means of completed subways is stated by Secretary Veiller in these terms:

"The East Side is again threatened with the construction of a third track throughout the entire length of both the Third Avenue and the Second Avenue elevated roads, as far south as Chatham Square, and also with the construction of a two-story or double-decked four-track elevated road from City Hall to Chatham Square and on the Third Avenue line from Chatham Square to Canal st.

"Although the construction of elevated roads is a thing of the past, a determined effort is again made to extend and perpetuate this ancient system. Notwithstanding the conditions under which the people live on the East Side, it is proposed to add to their burdens by darkening the streets which are already too dark; increasing the danger from tuberculosis, lowering the moral character of the neighborhood, seriously endangering the lives of the dwellers in case of fire, and in general making life unbearable for the people in that part of the city.

"It is, moreover, proposed to grant a perpetual franchise to the Interborough Company for these additional third tracks. If this application is granted, who will bid for any East Side subway?

"The circumstances connected with this application should not be lost sight of. Over a year ago the Interborough Company made application for additional tracks, viz.: third and fourth tracks on the 2d av road and, later, for third tracks on both the 2d and 3d av lines. The former application was unanimously rejected by the Rapid Transit Commission. Action on the second application was deferred until after the completion and operation of the subway under the Harlem River. Without waiting, however, for further action by the Rapid Transit Commission and without their permission or that of any other local authority, the Interborough Company has actually constructed a third track on the 3d av line and is now running trains on it as far south as 42d st.

"The Corporation Counsel, Mr. Delany, has recently rendered an opinion to the Mayor, in which he states that the Interborough Company has no right whatever to operate a third track on the 3d av elevated structure."

The difficulties between the Government and the Pennsylvania Railroad, in regard to the site for the new uptown post office in New York, have been settled, and it is hoped that the present Congress may make an appropriation for plans for the new building. The property which the railroad company will convey to the Government fronts on the west side of 8th av, from 31st to 33d st, and the consideration will be $1,660,085. It is not yet known whether the Government will make any attempt at architectural display in the structure to be erected, or will consider only the matter of utility and the largest possible amount of working space for the enormous and constantly growing mail service in New York. Plans will be prepared by the supervising architect of the U. S. Treasury Department.

BUILDING NOTES

The Raymond Concrete Pile Co., of Chicago, Ill., announces the opening of a New York office at 71 Nassau st., room 1007.

Although June and July are generally considered the soft months of the year in the cement trade, business is in very satisfactory form this summer. The prevailing quotations are firmly held, and all the indications are for an increasing volume of business.

Ground was broken at Harrison, N. Y., on June 23, for the construction of the New York & Port Chester Railway, which is to connect the metropolis with the latter named place. The breaking of ground was made the occasion of a celebration, and it was then announced that the construction operations would be proceeded with as rapidly as possible. C. O. Mailloux 76 William st., New York, is electrical engineer for the company. The size of the power house and sub-stations has not been entirely determined upon as yet, nor is the company prepared to announce just where they will be located. No contracts for mechanical equipment have been let.

Beginning next week, the Master Carpenters' Association of Manhattan will increase wages to a maximum rate of $4.80 a day, which will be paid to outside journeymen. The agreement to do this was made last December and reaffirmed last week, when every dispute between the Masters and the Brotherhood was settled, and friendly relations were reestablished, both in Manhattan and Brooklyn. In Brooklyn after July 1 the maximum rate will be $4.50, and after August 15 it will be $4.80, the same as in Manhattan. Independent bosses are also signing an agreement to this effect, and it is expected that every important employer will do the same, as members of the Brotherhood have been officially instructed not to work in any shop where the rate is refused.

The evening plumbing class which is conducted by Pratt Institute, Ryerson st., Brooklyn, N. Y., under the direction of the Department of Science and Technology, will open September 26, and meet from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings until March 22. The new catalogue of the institute gives John Todd and Stewart F. Barr as instructors in plumbing and states that the Journeymen Plumbers' Association of Brooklyn co-operates in the direction of the class. The manual work includes soldering and wiping joints and making bends and traps, and the lectures deal with the proper arrangement of drain, soil and waste pipes, trapping, ventilation, supply pipes, boilers, tanks, fixtures and the like. A certificate is granted on the successful completion of the course. The tuition is $15 for the six months. Applicants must be between 16 and 25 years of age.

Mortgage Taxation.

Editor Record and Guide:

(1) Is a mortgage recorded in October, 1905, and the tax paid to July 1, 1906, subject to any tax after that date, either as personal property or as a mortgage? (2) If taxable, under what head does it come? Mortgage has five years to run.

Ans.—Yes. It then comes within the jurisdiction of the local assessing officers, for the purpose of assessment, under the provisions of the personal property tax law.

—Under the new amendment of the tax law, passed by the Legislature of 1906 (Chapter 474, Laws of 1906), every business corporation, unless exempt, will be obliged to pay a tax of at least three-quarters of a mill ($.00075) upon each dollar of the amount of capital stock issued and employed in the State at its par value. Corporations paying dividends of 6 per cent. or more will pay taxes in proportion to dividends. In case of a corporation whose share capital is $100,000, it means a tax of not less than $75, and a corporation whose share capital is $500,000 will pay an annual tax of not less than $375, and so on proportionately. This remains true whether the corporation owns personal property or real property, whether its property consists of patent rights or good will, or whether it has any property at all. Corporations which have heretofore not been subject to a State tax by reason of their liabilities exceeding their assets are now liable to pay a tax based on the par value of the shares of stock issued and outstanding. Corporations organized under the laws of other State and doing business in this State, as well as corporations organized under the laws of the State of New York, are equally affected. This law is now in effect and will operate upon the State tax assessed October 31 next.

Cost of Building in Massachusetts.

The question of the cost of building in various sections of the country is one of unusual interest just at this time, when prices of materials entering into building construction, together with the labor required to do the work, are showing an advancing tendency. A short time ago we published in these columns some figures showing the increased cost of materials and labor in and about New York City as compared with 1896, and which in many respects would apply to other sections. Now comes the Commercial Bulletin, of Boston, with figures showing the advances which have occurred in the cost of building materials and labor in Massachusetts for the five years ending with 1906. It points out that a considerable portion of the increased cost of many of the items is due to the higher wages paid to labor in the industries producing those materials. In virtually all branches the output of which is necessary to builders there has been an advance in the wages of both skilled and unskilled labor, and co-ordinate increases in wages are also being paid workmen concerned directly in the building industry itself.

The authority in question refers to the fact that the Massachusetts Bureau of Statistics of Labor in recent special bulletins gives, after a careful canvass, some statistics touching wages per hour in the State named, from which we quote as follows:

	1901.	1904.	1906.
Bricklayers .....	$0.47	$0.50	$0.55
Carpenters .....	.25	.28	.30

Roofers (gravel) .....	.30	.33	.34
Roofers (slate) .....	.36	.36	.40
Sheet metal workers .....	.33	.37	.37

From these figures and from statistics on the value of materials taken from the files of the Commercial Bulletin, it appears that, reduced to a percentage basis, the entire advances have been as follows:

PERCENTAGE OF ADVANCE FROM 1901 TO 1906.

Materials.	Per cent.
Spruce, ordinary frames.....	47

It will be seen by the above that an average advance of 27½ per cent. has taken place on building materials in the past five years, as compared with an advance of 13¾ per cent. in the wages of the laborers utilizing them. The advances in materials include the increases in wages for the operatives producing these materials, and assuming that the laborers producing these materials averaged to secure the same percentage of increase in wages the table shows that the building laborers secured, that is, 13¾ per cent., and deducting this from the 27½ per cent. advance in the value of these materials, there remains a balance of 13¾ per cent., representing the assumed advance in material itself. The assumption, hence, appears to be a fair one that the capital and labor have in these instances shared equally in the prosperous conditions affecting the building trade during the past five years.

The San Francisco Situation.

The first all-steel building to be erected in the world is slowly rearing its unhandsome bulk from the ash-heaps of one of San Francisco's main arteries of traffic. It is the "George Whittell Building," and the architect, Mr. Frank Shea, had planned that it should be the most up-to-date "fire-resister" that iron and stone could produce. After the earthquake had passed and the fire had devoured the business section, Mr. Shea found that the gaunt begrimed girders and framework of the partly built Whittell Building had defied shock and flame. The thought struck him, "Why not sheath it in metal like a battleship?" He suggested to the owner that such a structure would answer every requirement as to comfort and convenience; would be more commodious and at the same time both fire and earthquake proof. Mr. Whittell assented, and the framework is being rapidly walled in with steel plates riveted on steel ribs. It is to be ready for completion within six months, and will cost, when finished, $750,000. There are to be fifteen stories, a mezzanine floor, and a deep basement. The different floors are not to be partitioned until prospective tenants have selected the areas requisite to their needs. American architects are watching the progress of the building with much interest, as it is predicted that this type of structure will create a revolution in methods now being employed in the building world. Mr. Shea is confident that the projectors of hundreds of buildings on the Pacific Coast will copy his idea. After a careful inspection by experts, the "Call," "Crocker," "St. Francis Hotel," "Shreve," "Flood," "Mutual Savings Bank" and "Merchants' Exchange" buildings have been passed as sound, and will be ready for occupancy within a few days. The above named are all structural steel and sandstone, and comprise most of the highest buildings in the West. Up to the 15th inst. it had not transpired that any large orders for steel had been placed in the hands of American steel mills. The Steel Trust has given absolute instruction to the mills under their control that orders from the devastated city are to be given precedence over all others. This will militate seriously against the chances of foreign mills securing an appreciable fraction of the business. The San Francisco Reconstruction Committee, including among its membership representative men of financial, engineering and business reputation, has subdivided into twenty-four committees, one of these being the "Committee on Securing Structural Materials for the use of the City and its People."

Gathering Daylight.

The scientific effect in the divergence of the rays of light when falling upon prisms has long been known and often demonstrated, like many other technical facts, as matters only interesting to the cultivated mind. Years ago the manufacturers who sought to make prisms known as a great factor in the lighting of dark rooms, found that the world needed educating on the subject. This has been going on gradually on both sides of the Atlantic during the past twenty years. To-day it seems that there is a greater realization of the prisms value than ever. Property is more desirable where they are installed, because they render artificial light as unnecessary as it is undesirable in the day time.

One of the most notable examples of prism lighting in New York is in the building of Butler Bros., at 495, 497 and 499 Broadway. This is a large building of 7 stys, every one of which is lighted by prisms. Where tall structures are on every side it would be impossible for the direct rays of the sun to reach more than a few feet into the store through ordinary windows, but when this light strikes the prisms it branches off at a direct angle and floods the interior with a natural, delightful radiance. Butler Bros., like many other firms, are not slow to acknowledge the benefits they derive from the use of prisms. Anyone may note the prisms along the windows of the great clothing store of Browning, King & Co., opposite Cooper Institute, and see the natural light of day within diffused by the prisms.

Interior in Saks & Co.'s Store, Showing Effect of Prism Lights.

One of the famous 5 and 10 cent store corporations, the S. H. Kress Co., whose New York offices are at 379 Broadway, have fitted up over forty stores in different cities of the United States with prism lights. Mr. C. H. Kress, who is at the head of the construction department of this corporation, said the other day that prisms made their property more valuable everywhere because they brought daylight where it could not otherwise be. "They light the interior with natural light," said Mr. Kress, "and our employes are in good health and happier than could be possible if we were compelled to use gas or electricity."

Mr. Geo. E. Androvette, the president of the New York Prism Company, of 473 West Broadway, has been striving to convince property owners and tenants, as well as architects and the world generally, that prisms solve a problem which nothing else can, for many years. "The day dawns at last," said Mr. Androvette, "and prisms are no longer an experiment with the public, but tenants and owners are demanding their installation."

The illustration is a direct reproduction of a photograph of an interior of one of the departments of Saks & Co., New York, which gives a fair idea of how prisms radiate the light. Prisms can now be made in large sheets so that it is not necessary to always use the window frames of steel in which the small prisms were electrolytically fixed. Many, however, prefer the small square on account of their great strength and fire retardant qualities. The large prism sheets are being installed in factories and many buildings where there are great surfaces. Forty thousand ft. have been installed in the American Woolen Company's mills at Lawrence, Mass., recently. The prism sheets can also be made with a wire mesh embedded within in the manner of wire glass. A great future looms ahead for the prism business.

The Old Spinning Wheel in a New Home.

James McCutcheon & Co., of 14 West 23d st, established over a half a century ago, have leased from Henry Corn the store and basement of the new 16-sty building to be erected at 341, 343, 345 and 347 5th av, 79 ft front by 100 ft. deep, between 33d and 34th sts, and a new 6-sty building to be erected for their sole occupancy at 2, 4 and 6 East 34th st, 54 ft front by 100 ft, adjoining in the rear of the 5th av property and connecting with it, forming an "L" on 34th st. The lease is for a long period of years and was made by Albert B. Ashforth, who was also the broker in the lease of 2, 4 and 6 East 34th st, from William Waldorf Astor to Henry Corn.

End of the Authorization Act.

Chapter 516, Laws of 1906, in effect May 21, 1906, repeals Chapter 128, Laws of 1901, and reads as follows:

"Section 1. Section 640-d of the Penal Code, being Chapter 128 of the Laws of 1901, entitled 'An act to amend the Penal Code, in relation to unauthorized offers for sale of and unauthorized applications for loans upon real property,' is hereby repealed.

"Sec. 2. This act shall not affect any judicial action or proceeding now pending in any court in this State."

The Legislature probably intended to repeal Section 640-e also, as Chapter 128, Laws of 1901, was made up of Sections 640-d and 640-e.

Section 640-d made it a misdemeanor to offer real estate for sale without written authority, the other applied the same principle to loans, and the two together considered Chapter 128. Through clouded phraseology there is a doubt as to loans, but none as to sales. The effect of the enactment is no longer to require brokers to obtain written authority from owners before they offer property for sale. In the Second Judicial Department the law has been declared unconstitutional and void, while in the First Department (Manhattan) it has been upheld. This conflict of opinion made the law little more than a dead letter, and more or less of an annoyance. The bill was introduced by Senator Jacob Marks, of this city.

Bronx Views on Third Track.

Leave it to the people in the Bronx, and the third track question would be settled quickly. They say, in effect, that the general policy of not enlarging the structures of the elevated roads is right enough, but it sometimes happens that what is perfectly right is entirely wrong. Says the North Side News:

"Undesirable as further extensions of the elevated system are, such extension are the only way to give the Bronx and the upper parts of Manhattan those transit facilities which must be had at once.

"Residents, property owners and business men of this borough must have adequate transit facilities now, and cannot wait half a decade for the means of getting to and from their homes and places of business.

"Because another subway cannot be completed and opened to traffic in much less than five years, the existing elevated lines must be made to do duty in its stead, during this interval.

"Extending the carrying capacity of the elevated roads by a third track is a very poor substitute for a subway, but it is the best thing that can be had under the circumstances, and so the people must content themselves with it and make the best of a bad situation."

Precautions Against Sweeping Conflagrations.

At the annual meeting of the National Fire Protection Association last week, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, The National Fire Protection Association was formed ten years ago "to promote the science and improve the methods of fire protection; to obtain and circulate information on this subject and to secure the co-operation of its members in establishing proper safeguards against loss of life and property by fire," and,

Whereas, In spite of all efforts up to the present time the terrible fire waste of this country has continued uninterrupted involving a loss per capita several times greater than other countries, and,

Whereas, Public protection has not kept pace with the growth of buildings and increase of valuation in congested centres, and as the business conditions and prosperity of the country are liable to interruption if this increasing loss cannot be checked,

Be it Resolved, By the National Fire Protection Association in convention assembled that an urgent appeal be and is hereby made to all interested to co-operate in bringing about better conditions by adopting improved methods of construction, by safeguarding hazards of occupancy and by introducing automatic sprinklers and other private protection with private water supplies quite in addition to the public fire service, and,

Be it further Resolved, That we recommend that municipalities pass ordinances involving the adoption of an approved building code along the lines of the building code recommended by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, and requiring the introduction of automatic sprinklers with private water supplies in buildings of special occupancy and in so-called congested districts, to the end that the danger of sweeping conflagrations may be largely eliminated.

—In the summer the young man's fancy turns to thoughts of—for instance:

"A Brook is preferable to a Gutter;

"The Song of Birds to the Roar of the Elevated Railroad;

"The Fragrance of a Flower to the Smell of a Sewer;

"The Sunshine of the Meadow to the Gloom of the Subway;

"A Walk in your own Garden to Climbing your Landlord's Stairs."

But in the winter the Old Town is entirely agreeable.

Protest Against Connecting R. R. Franchise.

UNITED CIVIC ASSOCIATIONS OF QUEENS SOUND WARNING AGAINST THE FORM NOW ASKED BY THE ROAD.

The Committee on New York Connecting Railroad of the United Civic Associations held a meeting in Flushing in conference with delegates from civic organizations of different parts of the borough to formulate a campaign against the present form of franchise asked by the Connecting Railroad. The nature of the franchise now being worked for by this corporation was gone carefully into and its new proposed route shown forth. It proved quite different from that shown on the public maps. The Chairman of the Committee of the United Civic Associations, who had a copy of the proposed franchise, stated that he had obtained a view of the company's map and profile, and that the proposed manner of crossing the borough would be of immense damage to it, instead of benefit, as the people are being led to believe.

It was shown that the railroad proposes to cross the borough from Astoria through Woodside and Winfield to the Maspeth Hill by an enormous embankment or fill from 20 to 50 ft high, and broad enough for four tracks, leaving openings only for the present principal established highways, which are not many, as the topographical map of this section has not yet been made and formally adopted. The railroad also proposes to go through Maspeth Hill by deep cut, causing many radical changes in the sewers, and breaking up the newly proposed great sewer system for the Second Ward into two separate parts, flowing different ways; all of which would cause long delays, it was stated, as well as large extra expense to the taxpayers.

Near the line of Brooklyn Borough it was shown that the proposed height of the rails above grade would be but 12 to 15 ft, and as the trestle or embankment must come below that, and the tracks are proposed to run along the line of the Manhattan Beach Division of the Long Island Railroad, which is on the surface, nearly the whole street system would be blocked. It was related that the Chief Engineer of the Topographical Bureau of Queens had written a long and clear memorandum to ex-Borough President Cassidy during the incumbency of the latter, showing forth these dangers to Queens; and he, with Harry P. Nichols, Chief of the Bureau of Franchises of the Finance Department, were warmly commended for the stand they have taken for the public interests. The unanimous sentiment was that this railroad would be of very little benefit to Queens in any event, but would cause vast harm were it allowed to build this immense embankment and cut across the neck of the borough right across the main trend of traffic from Manhattan Borough through Queens.

City officials and real estate men were quoted as stating that such a construction would split the borough in two parts in the worst way, would depreciate square miles of property and hamper the development of the larger part of the borough for many years. It was shown that the United Civic Associations has already memorialized the Board of Rapid Transit Commissioners and every member of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment protesting against the granting of the franchise in its present form, and requesting that the Connecting Railroad be obliged to cross the borough by steel viaduct and tunnel only, thus allowing every highway, present or future, to cross the right of way without expense to the city.

Much feeling was vented over what was called the proposed outrage by the railroad, and the delegates from each organization agreed to make representations to the Borough President requesting him to vote and use his influence against the present proposals, and in favor of obliging the Connecting Railroad to cross the borough by steel viaduct and tunnel, or entirely by tunnel.

The alleged threat of the railroad corporation to give up the line and not to build the railroad unless its present demands be granted was pronounced a transparent bluff, it being assumed as certain that the railroad will accept the best terms it can get. It has already bought hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of real estate in the borough. Petitions are being circulated over the borough in the interest of the railroad, requesting the Board of Estimate and Apportionment to grant the franchise, and it was stated by a newspaper man at the meeting that the persons circulating the petitions received 3 cents apiece for all the names they could get.

The chairman stated that the unsuspecting people in signing these petitions thinking that the railroad would benefit their property were placing their necks in a noose for higher taxes in the future, when the city would be called upon to expend vast sums in getting highways across the right of way and in providing expensive sewer systems called for by the disturbance of levels by the long deep cut. Another meeting will be held to determine future action after the interviews with the Borough President and other officials.

Isaac P. Hubbard, a lawyer of Richmond Hill, and President of the United Civic Associations, is chairman of the committee; W. R. Griffiths, of Douglaston, also a lawyer, is the secretary, and one who was delegated to go around the borough and make explanatory addresses to the local associations who have in every case joined the United Civic Associations in the movement. The other members are John Adikes, produce merchant, of Jamaica and Flushing; ex-Alderman Patrick J. White, of Long Island City; H. B. Christensen, real estate, of Woodside Protective League; Geo. W. Sweeney, of the Flushing Association; Edward L. Speir, president of the Bowne Park Association; J. L. E. Schueler, real estate, of Long Island City; Nicholas W. tant farming sections restored prospects of bountiful harvests. Some evidences of conservatism regarding production beyond assured demands are noted, but steel mills are booked well into 1907. Winter wheat harvesting has begun, the usual complaint regarding the scarcity of labor being frequently heard. Railway earnings thus far available for June show a gain of 10.5 per cent. over last year's figures, and foreign commerce at this port for the last week exceeds the volume in 1905 by $5,791,920 as to imports, and $2,515,542 as to exports. Bank exchanges in New York were 32.3 per cent. larger than a year ago.

PRIVATE SALES MARKET

Real estate dealing in Manhattan had far more color and significance this week than were observable in the transactions of last week, though the market continues relatively moderate in its activity. Dwellings and also business buildings had a fair proportionate representation in the trading. The largest deal was a sale by the Agricultural Fire Insurance Company of some four thousand lots in the vicinity of Mount Vernon and New Rochelle to a syndicate headed by a resident of Syracuse. Very noteworthy is the part in metropolitan real estate transactions that for eighteen months particularly has been taken by outsiders. Capitalists residing in Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, St. Louis, in the Hudson River counties and in the cities of the central part of New York State, constitute the majority in a number of syndicates that have made large purchases of Manhattan, Brooklyn, Queens and Westchester property. They have exhibited a special preference for suburban ventures, as with such they are better acquainted, and some have even intimated that they have ideas to carry out that will be an improvement on methods hitherto practiced here. Building operations continue in about the same degree of lessened activity as last week. The brick market is somewhat weaker and quotations are a shade lower. Structural steel and cement are in very strong demand, as also are hardwoods, but spruce and yellow pine flooring have over-supplied the market.

The thing which claims most interest in real estate is the mortgage tax and the new law that will go into effect on Monday. Such dulness as there has been in fundamental building and in real estate transactions is wholly ascribed to anticipations of the law and a desire to take advantage of its beneficent terms. No fears are entertained of anything disadvantageous in connection with compliance with the law, and the policy in the large money institutions is to counsel against haste in any respect as very unnecessary if not unwise. Everywhere it is believed that the permanent effect of the law when its virtues are widely perceived will be to invite a great transfer of capital from other investments into mortgage securities, and coming at a time of unprecedented expansion of transit facilities and real estate interests this must and will have the effect of prolonging and probably intensifying the present wonderful public favor for metropolitan property.

LINDENHURST, L. I.—Lindenhurst, near the Bay, already a well developed and progressive town, with stores, schools, churches, etc., is just now attracting homeseekers in great numbers. This suburb for years has been one of Long Island's popular summer resorts. Its population is steadily increasing. ## REAL ESTATE NOTES Five million dollars loaned on the new Plaza Hotel. Manhattan does business in large figures.

There is no question of the financial success of a Hudson River Bridge if put in the right place.

H. D. Baker will sail on the "Kronprinz Wilhelm" next Tuesday for a two months' trip through Europe.

Robert A. White, real estate broker, formerly of Kehoe & White, has opened an office at 22 West 33d st. His telephone number is 2775 Madison.

The renting situation in the Bronx has been distinctly improved by the running of all day express trains in the subway to the Bronx Park terminus.

A new company, called the Manor Park Realty Company, has been incorporated at Albany, with a capital of $400,000. R. M. Montgomery, P. S. Jones and E. O. Arnold, all of Manhattan, are the directors.

Mr. William Prager, of the real estate firm of Lowenfeld & Prager, will sail for Europe next Tuesday on the "Kronprinz Wilhelm," to remain abroad until early in September. He will be accompanied by his son Raphael.

E. Nelson Ehrhart sold the plot, 80x175, on Ridgeview av, south of Midland av, White Plains, adjoining the residence of Franklin H. Warner. This was the last plot available on Ridgeview av, the other plots having been bought by people who are expecting to build shortly.

The Board of Estimate and Apportionment of the City of New York has fixed the 6th day of July, at 10:30 o'clock in the forenoon, in Room 16, City Hall, as the time and place for a public hearing upon the report of the Board of Water Supply of its findings in regard to an additional supply of water for the City of New York from Schoharie Creek.

Bronx has now begun kicking against 3-cent transfers, the Morris Heights Taxpayers' Association leading off. On Dec. 23, 1904, the Appellate Division handed down a decision upon the question of 5-cent fares, holding that the Interborough Trolley Co. had no right under the terms of its franchise to charge an extra three cents for transfers to the subway.

Semi-official predictions to-day placed New York City's budget for next year at, in round figures, $120,000,000. This is, also in round figures, $4,000,000 more than the budget figures for this year. More than $10,000,000 are wanted for school buildings alone. Then the fire department has been extended this year. The police commissioner wants to build thirty new station houses, and Dr. Darlington, the health commissioner, has important plans for hospital improvement, etc.

For generations it has been the custom of lawyers in most counties, when selling property at auction, to offer it at noon, and at the front door of their court house, because that is the time when men are going home to dinner, and it is the best hour of the day to get a hearing. Otherwise there is no reason why auctions should be held exactly at noon, and certainly there is no statute requiring titles to be closed at that hour. It is noticed that oftentimes the offices of title companies are congested at that hour, when any other business hour would do just as well.

The syndicate headed by James E. Blatchford, of Syracuse, has an elaborate plan for the 4,000 lots purchased from the Agricultural Insurance Company in Westchester County. The tract is already partly improved with macadamized streets, and is in a fine section. It comprises four separate purchases made by the insurance company, to which the names Fairview Park, Waverly Heights, Allerton Park and Pauline Manor had been given. The consideration received by the insurance company is said to have been close to $2,000,000. Parts of the property are in Tuckahoe and Mount Vernon and extend eastward almost to the New Rochelle line.

CONVEYANCES

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street or avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows; The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as headlines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

June 22, 23, 25, 26, 27 and 28.

ONE PER CENT. GAINED — A three or four-story building may be built which will net you about seven per cent. on your investment. If you put in the Luxfer System of Sidewalk Lights you can make the basement as well lit with daylight as are the upper floors, and can in consequence get one per cent. more, perhaps, out of the investment. Anyway it will pay you to send for our man who will explain it to you. 'Phone 3276 Gramercy.
